BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—It has not only been a slow but an exceedingly stupid market all the week, and operators seemed to have very little of interest to communicate. Demand for all kinds and from all sources narrowed itself down to unusually moderate proportions, and there was nothing to induce buyers to broaden or quicken their orders. Receivers, therefore, had nothing to do but wait for custom with as much patience as possible, and it was noticeable on 'Change that most of them kept close to the entrance door, and in some cases stood out in the lobby or on the sidewalk as though watching for any stray buyer who might come along. Naturally, under the circumstances, the tone on values has been tame, and wile there is probably no change necessary on the general range of quotations in one way or another terms have been made easy to desirable customers. Pales are just as bad as Hards, and have only a nominal sort of value. It is fortunate that arrivals have shrunk about in proportion to the defection in demand, as it served to keep the market bare of an unwieldy surplus. From the points of production there is still report of contemplated shutting down here and there, but that is in part neutralized by statements to the effect that some manufacturers have renewed work with reduced gangs in consequence of many of their men begging for re-employment at 20 and 25 per cent reduction in wages.

LATH.—It has been a sort of blank week. So far as known no fresh arrivals came to hand, and had cargoes put in an appearance it is extremely doubtful if buyers could have been found to handle them; so that in a general way matters shaped up very well. Values, however, are at a nominal point entirely, and while somewhere about $2 was the last authenticated business, the only receiver who seemed to be expecting anything, stated an intention of asking $2 25 on the next lot offered. Local buyers do not seem to be counted on to afford much custom for a while.

LIME.—Nothing of special interest comes into notice. Some cargoes have arrived since our last, and while they probably were not needed, they have been taken care of under existing regulations, and offerings made from them only as custom became ready. As no instructions for a change have been received from the "committee," old figures are quoted, and it is presumed that no buyers are getting any special favors.

LUMBER.—It is getting to be an onerous and almost useless task to attempt writing up the local lumber market from week to week, simply because of the positive absence of change. Since our last there does not seem to be a really new development so far as the immediate conditions of the lumber market is concerned. There is plenty of talk about the return of financial confidence and easier condition of money, all of which is correct enough so far as it goes, but there is a chance that it comes a little too late to prove of any material benefit to the lumber trade this season. A great many of the yards show greatly exhausted stocks, and all are more or less run down in assortment which will, of course, have to be made good to some extent, but dealers assert that, beyond the amounts they have coming due on contract, they will purchase very lightly and merely sufficient to fortify them against natural ordinary trade wants. They have no idea there will be any important consumption during the winter, and the idea is to leave the carrying of stock as near first hands as possible. It is, however, quite likely that even with all that caution there will be a little more animation between current date and the time when snow flies, and sellers are on the watch for the opening up of demand.

We still consider it practically useless to go into detailed statements regarding the several descriptions of standard lumber. They are all about alike. If a buyer comes voluntarily upon the market in search of stock he is treated with much consideration, yet at the same time knowing that his wants must be a little urgent the effort is to make him pay a pretty full figure, and it generally proves successful. On the other hand, a seller starting out to hunt up custom is in a pretty bad plight, and in nine cases out of ten finds it necessary to make a very big allowance before actual sales can be perfected. Under the circumstances quotations really have little value, and all figures at present named are simply nominal, awaiting the test of normal conditions of trading.

In a general way offerings may still be considered moderate and carefully made because of the evident necessity for such course, and every time it has been departed from there was a prompt dropping of the value line. Some of the lumber that would under ordinary circumstances now be seeking an outlet is held at the mills, and some at intermediate localities, with a probability that if the market looks more propitious the stuff will be coming along, and possibly some of it may have to be sold under any circumstances. The export outlet takes some coarse lumber, and also makes a place for desirable parcels of hardwoods.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES

STATE.

The Albany Argus as follows:

There has been no change in the condition of the local lumber market and the prospect is that prices will not change for some weeks yet. It is expected, however, that trade will sharpen up as soon as the out-of-town dealers feel the need of putting in the fall and winter supplies.

It is probable that the incoming shipments will increase within the next two weeks, as there is a desire to get the fall stock in before a raise in freight rates

offers a complete protection against
DRY ROT, FUNGI MILDEW,
MOLD AND CRYPTOGAMS,
and is available for both Wood-work and Masonry.

This new substance is a product of the FARBEN-FABRIKEN vorm. FRIEDR. BAYER & CO., Elberfeld, Germany. It has been thoroughly examined and tested by Professors V. MILLER and HARZ, who have stated that

"ANTINONNIN IS A PEERLESS PREVENTATIVE OF MILDEW."

The Chief Inspector of Buildings at Munich, Herr STETTNER, and many architects and builders, have indorsed this view.

Antinonnin is odorless, non-volatile, soluble in water, and makes eligible mixtures with Lime and other dis emper applications.

Antinonnin penetrates wood and remains in it, forming a perfect protection against fungi, mildew, and continuous dampness.

Antinonnin is far superior to Tar Oils, Carbolineum and similar preparations on account of its freedom from odor, its ease of application, its lasting properties, and its EXTRAORDINARY POWER AS A DESTROYER of all fungoid growths and all organisms which favor dampness and mildew.

is the best application now known for the MASONRY and WOOD-WORK of CELLARS, STORE-HOUSES, WINE-CLOSETS, LAUNDRIES, STABLES, WATER-CLOSETS, all OUT-HOUSES, and all structures exposed to the influences of damp.

Antinonnin may be mixed with pure water, lime water or whiteash, and applied with a brush or sponge

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has continued dull, the demand resting satisfied with small and unimportant parcels of stock for some special and immediate necessity. Foreign wants, at the moment, are very limited and all home sources of consumption have narrowed down to unusually small compass. Offerings ample and prices easy. Within two or three weeks, about 5,000,000 lbs. have been taken by exporters, and that accounts for present indifference of foreign demand. On the average range of valuation we quote at 9½@9¾c. for Lake and 9@9¼c for casting brands. Manufactured copper has been quiet on all outlets and for all kinds, with a nominal sort of market prevailing. Former valuations are made openly, but in one way or another buyers gain advantages and the pitch of prices is toward a lower level. We quote as follows: Sheet, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 28c.; do, under 8 oz., 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 33c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz.; 1c. 14 to 16 oz.; 1c. 12 to 14 oz. 1c. for 10 to 12 oz., and 12c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 24c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 26c. do, 12 to 14 oz, 28c.; do, 10 to 12 oz. 32c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz.; 25@27c. for 16 to 32 oz, 27@29c. for 14 to 16 oz. and 29@34c. for 12 to 14 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz. 24c.; 14 oz, 26c.; 12 oz 27c.; and 10 oz, 29c. Bolt copper, ⅝ inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, segments and pattern sheets, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 4c. do: circles, 96 do and over, 5c. do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottoms, 26@32c. per lb. IRON—American Pig has found moderate and unsatisfactory demand, and there has been evidences of somewhat increased desires to realize even on the best Northern brands Prices naturally are weak and the general market unsatisfactory, the one good feature being found in continued moderation of production. We quote at $14.00@15.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $13.00@14.00 for No. 2 X do. and $11.75@12.50 for Gray Forge. Old material finds no spirit in the demand, and business seems to be confined solely to small quantities useful for immediate and special purposes and against which there has been an ample offering at easy rates of production. We quote at $1.00@16.00 for old iron rails; $14.50@15.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $11.50@12.00 for cast scrap, 13.5 @14 for old car wheels, and $7 50@11.00 for borings, stove plate, etc. Manufactured iron gets some special orders but generally the trade is dull and narrow and the tone of the market weak for all deliveries. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary size, at 1.80@1.90c. from store, and refined at 1.90@2.00c; Rods round and square, 2.10@2.20c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 3¾@4c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@—c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1.10c. less on large lots from car. Steel rails remain under neglect and more or less nominal, as it is believed that the long maintained rate would be shaded in order to place large contracts. We quote standard sections $.9 per ton at mill, with usual advances for delivery at tide water. Pig lead has been somewhat irregular, but on the advance in cost Buyers were noticeably inclined to reduce orders or pull out altogether. The position is slightly nominal. We quote at 3.70@3¾c. per lb. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 6¼c. for Pipe, 7c. for Sheet, 15c. for Tin-lined Pipe, and 37½c. for Block Tin Pipe. Pig tin continues in the usual unsettled condition, but in matter of consumption the movement is very light and buyers refusing to anticipate their wants. We quote at about 19.00@19.10c. for round lots, and 19.20@19¾c for jobbing parcels. Tin plate gets slow

MOST of the arguments for lower prices on the Stock Exchange have the fault of depending too much on conditions which are only to be found in ordinary times, and of overlooking some very important points which cannot fail to make themselves felt. If the cause of silver-purchase repeal should be defeated in the Senate the result would be very disastrous, no doubt, but it is hardly probable that that body will assume the consequences of creating a commercial disaster far worse than any we have yet passed through, as they would have to do if they maintain the silver-purchasing clause of the Sherman Act. Outside of such a menace to values the outlook does not contain anything that can act on them very severely because of the fact that prices are now low for a normal monetary condition. For instance, St. Paul is as low as it sold in recent years as a non-dividend stock, with the exception of the time of the Baring failure. With other stocks it is much the same, so that the market may not yet be said to have wholly discounted the return from the unsatisfactory abnormal to the normal state of the money market, chiefly because that state though coming has not arrived. The returns of railroad earnings offer matter for serious consideration, but it must be remembered that these represent the business of the country at its very worst and will improve as trade itself improves; the declines in incomes are offset, too, to some considerable extent by the economies made in operation and which will still be effective for good after business has improved. The position of labor towards the railroad companies is not a very satisfactory one, but it can only have one outcome, the companies must win. According to current reports six thousand engineers and firemen are ready to strike if the 10 per cent reduction of pay is enforced. Now that is very formidable but looks more formidable than it really is, for supposing they do strike, these men, large as their number is, are not sufficient to man 10 per cent of the locomotives employed by the railroads of the United States. In the present condition of railroad business the managers would have no difficulty in finding men to take the places of the strikers. If they show their determination to fight a strike to the bitter end they will, under the circumstances of the times and the known fact that railroad labor is the best paid in the country, have the entire sympathy of the public. Finally the stock market itself affords the best proof that bear arguments are now out of place and unfounded. The way stocks are absorbed surprises the best judges, as do also the narrow limits and short duration of the declines. There are times when quotations do not represent values and the professional operator, unable to recognize the fact that ordinary conditions do not apply, finds the market taken away from him by the outsider untrammeled by tradition, and from all appearances this is one of those times.

THE cholera on the Continent and the coal strike in England have adversely affected trade conditions in Europe. The former has already had serious results in Austria, and in England the strike has produced a general falling off of the revenue of all the chief railroads, and has caused a decline of 2 in such prominent stocks as Great Northern and North Western, etc. The coal trade dispute has also checked the slight improvement that was noticeable in the iron and in the Clyde ship building industries. Indeed, the promise of a general trade revival which existed a few weeks back has been quite put aside for the present at least, although inquiry from China, India and Australia continues to show improvements which may by and by assume large proportions. Money continues somewhat tight in London, due to the demands for gold from this country and the Continent. The action of the House of Representatives in repealing the Sherman Law is viewed with much favor, and there can be no doubt that when the Senate has completed the good work American securities will be in strong demand again.

IT is hard to say whether the present time of year, or the apparent hopelessness of getting anything out of the matter except endless talk, is responsible for the apathetic frame of mind in which the public is now regarding the Rapid Transit question. Everything is again suspended in air, and it is impossible to say what direction affairs will take when they once more emerge for action. The city officials are said to be in favor of municipal construction, but their ideas on the point are at present rather vague and fluctuating. They have manifested a great deal of fierceness about the Manhattan Company, but the greater part of it is obviously not very real. The Manhattan Company are still masters of the situation and will remain such until the people of this city and the officials of this city definitely and unalterably decide to go ahead themselves with an enterprise in which they have greater interests than anybody else. The Rapid Transit Commissioners are said to be laying out elevated lines for the East Side and the West Side. These they intend to offer for sale. Few rational people have any idea that any purchasers can be found for the franchises outside of the Manhattan Company. Unless we give up Broadway, or 5th avenue, or Madison avenue, to the proposed elevated structure, what chances would purchasers of the new franchises have in competition with the Manhattan? If these streets were not surrendered and the new lines were laid out along a less eligible route, is the new company likely to pay the city a great deal for the new franchises, particularly when one of the conditions attached to the franchises would be, we suppose, that the road be built northward into the trans-Harlem district where traffic for a time at least would be relatively unprofitable? The new company also would have to run faster trains than the Manhattan, and carry passengers for the same fare a greater distance. It is our belief that no elevated road can be built in this city and profitably operated under the conditions so far imposed by the Rapid Transit Commissioners, unless it be permitted to traverse Broadway. Do the people want this? If they do not it is folly to plan for a new elevated system similar to the sort we have.

UNDOUBTEDLY a great many people are losing all faith in the ability of the present Rapid Transit Commissioners to solve the problem they have in hand. Certainly it does seem strange that after so many months of plan-making we are no nearer to Rapid Transit than we were on the day the Commission was appointed. What is the matter? Is it incompetence? Something must surely be wrong. The problem is not one that has no solution, and all business men must feel that if, for instance, a company like the Pennsylvania Railroad had the matter in hand they would not need eighteen months to discover some of the things that can't be done. The trouble with the Commissioners is that they have not taken the first step first, which is to set down clearly the conditions which their plans must meet and, then having settled that point, to act rationally and consistently with it. The Commissioners were perfectly correct at the outset in determining that the city needs a road of very high capacity extending from the Battery to the Yonkers line. They were equally correct in saying that the city needs express trains that shall travel over this road at the rate of forty miles an hour, and that there shall be for the whole journey only one fare not in excess of five cents. So far so good. These are the requirements, but having set these down correctly the Commissioners went deliberately astray. Instead of asking themselves whether a transit system of this kind would pay a private corporation they proceeded as though the matter of dividends had nothing to do with the question. They planned an underground road, put the franchises up for sale, and as every business man saw from the start, failed to discover a purchaser. The whole scheme from the point of view of private capital was chimerical and fantastic. Failure in this first attempt did not bring wisdom or clear sight. The Commissioners turned for aid to the Manhattan Company. Here again they failed to recognize conditions. They didn't see that, in the first place, the Manhattan Company has nothing to gain in the matter of dividends by running faster trains, or spending money in extending their lines several miles further north for the purpose of carrying passengers for so much longer distance for the same fare. The Manhattan Company to-day possesses a monopoly of rapid transit travel in this city, and has absolutely nothing to gain but giving patrons either more for their money, or better accommodations, or faster service, or longer rides. Nothing can possibly suit the Manhattan Company better than to maintain the present condition of affairs and expand only when it is able to carry present conditions along with the extension. The directors of the Manhattan Company acted as business men when they refused to accept the proposals of the Commissioners. The only danger they ran in doing so was that their refusal might result in admitting some competitor into the field. A little thought shows that so far as private capital is concerned the danger is only slight. The Manhattan Company already occupies four of the most available thoroughfares of the city, really the most available, unless the city is willing to give up to iron structures Broadway or some other yet unoccupied central thoroughfare. The directors were ready to take their chances of this. Unless the new competitor obtain possession of a central route its line will be less advantageously situated than the lines of the Manhattan Company, and it will be further handicapped by the onerous conditions as to the speed, distance, fare, etc., which the Commissioners will probably attach to the new franchise. The Manhattan could view the advent of such a corporation, upon these terms, with equanimity. It could even welcome it with cordiality, because it would not be long before the assets of the new concern could be purchased for 10 cents on the dollar. As to the "through the block" schemes, for elevated roads, none of these could possibly pay for many years to come, if the fares are to be only 5 cents between the Battery and the Yonkers line, on trains running from thirty to forty miles an hour. Ultimately, such roads might pay, but what has the Company to do in the meantime? Operate its system with heavy deficiencies every year? Any road of this sort would soon be purchasable at a considerable discount below the cost. As to the roads along the river front, they have certain advantages. But they have this disadvantage—passengers, to reach them, have to cross under at least two elevated roads and, besides, they can no more carry people fifteen miles at forty miles an hour, for 5 cent fares, than any other road. As to the underground system, that will not offer anything to private capital unless the Commissioners are willing to greatly modify their requirements. Indeed, look at the whole question as one may, one is forced to the conclusion that there is no choice between Municipal construction and ownership of the new system and taking from the Manhattan Company what that company can give without reducing its dividends. If it has not been plain in the past it must be apparent now that the Manhattan Company are not going to build new lines upon the conditions which the Rapid Transit Commissioners have so far formulated. The Municipality and only the Municipality can give New York real Rapid Transit. We may dodge this conclusion as often as we like, but all the turning and twisting will ever bring us in face of the same stone wall.

ALTHOUGH the record of real estate sales this week is of very meagre proportions, the market in general is not without indications of improvement. Inquiry among the brokers in the residence sections of the city elicits the information that there are quite as many, if not more, persons inquiring for houses to buy than there were a year ago at this time. Some of these home-seekers have been apparently quite ready to close the trades, but have been dissuaded by some pessimistic adviser who professed to believe that the time is coming when the property can be purchased cheaper. An effect of this sort of interference has been that the would-be buyer has taken a lease of the house he wanted, with a privilege of purchase. Some owners, who have had sufficient confidence in the people they were dealing with, have allowed their houses to go on these terms. In other instances the owners have flatly refused to do so. Another and more encouraging feature of the market is that borrowers are finding it a little less difficult to obtain money on their property. Manifestly the loan market is easier, and if it should continue to improve, as in the last two weeks, there would be a better tendency toward investment. As it is now, all inquiry is from home-seekers. While there are plenty of buyers for bargains in first-class investment property, there is not any of this class of property in the market much less on the bargain counter. To all appearances property that is worth having is held quite as stiffly as it was early in the year. And there is no reason to look for any material change in this situation for another fortnight.

The Big Purchases in Westchester County.

We are informed on excellent authority that there is no doubt that Mr. John D. Rockfelder was the purchaser of the "Wentworth-Parsons" place for $60,000, and the "Wadsworth" property, known as "Kaaheout," for $45,000, at Tarrytown Heights. These properties have both been sold at the price named and payments on account have already been made. These purchases, in connection with two large sales at Hastings, one for $:65,000, and the palatial residence now under construction for J. J. McComb, at Dobbs Ferry, and the costly improvements, entailing an expenditure of about $400,000, contemplated by Dr. Warner, on Irvington-on-the-Hudson, furnish the strongest kind of evidence of the value and esteem in which Westchester County property is now held.

Personal.

John P. Windolph has returned from a fishing trip to the Thousand Islands resorts. He made some excellent catches.

Edward Dodd, of Blakely & Dodd, appeared before the Fish Commissioner at Washington, D. C, last week, relative to stocking a fine trout pond on his estate at Babylon, L. I. Mr. Dodd says all Washington was humming with talk about silver.

Broker John P. Kirwan was presented with a bouncing baby boy on Thursday of last week. The young son and heir weighs ten pounds and will be heard from some day in real estate circles.

Mr. John R. Foley is back in the city again attending to business after a protracted vacation spent at the sea-shore.

Rapid Transit Prospects.

NEW ELEVATED RAILROAD ROUTES TO BE LAID OUT—COMMISSIONER PORTER FAVORS CITY OWNERSHIP.

At the next meeting of the Rapid Transit Commission an effort will be made to secure the adoption of plans and routes for a new system of elevated railroads. A majority of the board, as THE RECORD AND GUIDE is informed on good authority, have resolved to put through, if possible, a plan for constructing two main lines paralleling as nearly as possible the existing elevated railroad system, with a view to having the city build the roads. They are to be of four-track construction, and are to connect at the Battery and at the northern end of the island, so that continuous trains may be run around the city, down on the East Side road and back on the West Side, and vice versa with a cross-town branch somewhere in the vicinity of 14th street. The plans were to have been ready for action by the Commission on Wednesday last, but the engineers were not quite ready, and the board accordingly adjourned until next Wednesday. Now it is said the plans are ready for final action. The route as to the West Side begins at the Battery and runs along West street to 11th, and thence to 7th avenue, to 42d street, thence via Broadway and the Boulevard to the city limits; this line to have a branch running from Warren street through Church street to Canal street, to Wooster street, to University place, to Clinton place, to 6th avenue, to Greenwich avenue to a junction with the main line at 7th avenue.

But while this scheme is being exploited by some one having influence with the Commission, the local authorities, it is said, are giving full countenance to the scheme of city construction of the Broadway-Boulevard Underground Road, as originally laid out by the Rapid Transit Commission. Men of influence in Democratic political circles, not only in this city, but in the State at large, and who were prominently connected with the construction of the new Croton Aqueduct, have recently been very active in pipe laying for this work. The plan has at least this much in its favor: that the engineering plans have been perfected, the preliminary legal work has been done, the consents of the municipal authorities and the property-owners have been obtained and everything is in readiness for work to begin as soon as the contracts can be let. Whereas, if any scheme for elevated railroads was to be taken up at this time it would require another year to perfect the plans and surveys and secure the consents of property-owners. Then too, the elevated railroad could not be built until the property-owners had been settled with for the damages they would demand—amounting into the millions, whereas, the damages for the construction of the underground road would be merely nominal.

VIEWS OF COMMISSIONER PORTER.

Commissioner David F. Porter, who, it will be remembered, was appointed by Mayor Gilroy as the successor of Samuel Spencer on the Rapid Transit Commission, besides being the President of the Hamilton Bank, and a Harlemite, is a real estate broker. It may well be inferred from these facts that Mr. Porter is naturally interested in the development of rapid transit facilities. Commissioner Porter entered the board with the conviction held in common with most Harlemites, that immediate relief to the northern section of the city could only come through the extensions and developments of the existing elevated roads. But since he has been invested with official responsibility in the matter and has been brought face to face with the problem in all its bearings his views have changed. To a RECORD AND GUIDE reporter he said: "I am emphatically opposed to the city's parting with any more of its street franchises for any sorts or kinds of railroads. In my judgment the rapid transit system now so urgently needed for the upbuilding of our city, ought to be built by the city, owned by the city and operated by the city. No private corporation should be allowed any rights in our streets superior to the rights of the public or the municipality. Yes, I will extend the application of this principle even to surface railroads. The city should own them all. It is useless to look to a private corporation to operate a railroad primarily for the benefit of the public. It will operate its road primarily for dividends and the public must be satisfied with such accommodations as are incidentally afforded. Just think how different would be the service on the present elevated railroads if they were run as a municipal work and for the public benefit. The trains would be more frequent, the passengers would be accommodated with seats and the time would be faster. If, then, the road did not pay 25 per cent profit on its actual cost, it would make no difference to the city—the city would not run the road to make dividends, but to afford sufficient and comfortable transit facilities to its inhabitants." Mr. Porter would not say what he thought would be the ultimate outcome of the work the Commission is now considering, but thought a plan would be adopted before many days.

CATALOGUE OF WEST SIDE DWELLINGS.

MAKES A SPECIALTY OF SUBURBAN PROPERTIES.

One of the obstacles to successful trading in suburban real estate is the difficulty of bringing people together. The suburbs of New York City are very extensive, the owners numerous and scattered, and buyers have little assistance in looking up the property they want. Usually it is the poorest and most undesirable suburban settlement that is the most assiduously foisted upon the public by sensational advertising. A good man to know in difficulties of this sort is E. G. Kastenhuber, of 58 Warren street. He is a general real estate broker, but he makes a specialty of suburban properties, and is a good man to consult, whether you want to buy or sell. If you have a plot to subdivide he will survey it and lay it out for you to the best advantage. His telephone number is 512 Cortlandt.

Selling Four Houses in Four Days.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Prospective buyers who are still waiting for "bargains" in real estate may possibly learn, too late, that they have been chasing shadows. Thousands have returned to town from sea and mountain, and there is not only a good inquiry for private houses, but sales are being effected. This condition is likely to continue now that the repeal of the silver purchase clause in the Sherman act is assured.

The sale by James B. Gillie, in four days, of four new houses, one not quite completed, shows not only that the season has started, but that buyers have regained confidence. It is also a tribute to a builder who knows how to build and how to please the public. Besides which, it may be added that the builder who dispenses with a loan and buys for cash in the cheapest market, can sell cheaply and effect speedy sales.

The last sale made by Mr. Gillie was that of one of his three story high stoop houses, now nearing completion, at Nos. 155-156 West 88th street, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues. The purchaser was Mrs. Mary D. Freeland, of Orange, N J. The house is 17 6x55, with a three-story extension x100.8½. It has a carved front, with large bay window, and in its interior contains several improvements that are entirely new to the three story house.

The plan of the interior shows a suite of three rooms on the first floor, all communicating together so as to be capable of being thrown into one large saloon for reception purposes. They consist of a parlor, music-room and dining-room the two former in mahogany and the latter in quartered oak. Besides this there is an unusually large butler's pantry, with rear stairs leading to the basement.

The second floor contains two large rooms, divided by two spacious saloons. The latter are surrounded by mirrors, and have wardrobes, closets, etc.

The bath-room is an important feature of the house. It is large, and contains two windows, as well as a handsome hazel mantel, with mirror and open fireplace. These are unusual features. The bath-tub is of porcelain, the floors and walls are tiled, and the plumbing is all nickel-plated. It should be added that the bath-room has a separate hallway entrance, through a door containing a mirror.

The top floor contains four bedrooms, a store-room, and a servants' bath room and toilet room. There is running water, etc., and the floor is trimmed in ash.

The basement contains a breakfast-room, with mantel and open fireplace, a pantry, a kitchen with large range and walls plastered in Keene's cement, as well as oak floors. The laundry has three porcelain tubs and other accessories. There is also a store-room, closets and servants' toilet-room.

The cellars of this and the three adjoining houses are unusually light and well ventilated. They are said to be the only ones on the West Side that have large iron cold-air boxes and fire-proof lath.

It is impossible in a short sketch to mention other features in these houses. They have, of course, all the improvements, including hardwood trim throughout, electrical wiring, burglar alarms, etc. There is an abundance of closet room on each floor, and the trim is attractive, the raised festoons on the parlor floor woodwork being quite effective. There are mantels in nearly every room, with mirrors and open fireplaces, the latter with gas-log connections. The fact that every vacant lot on this block is restricted will no doubt help the sale of all houses on this street, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues.

OBSERVER.

Real Estate Department.

AS TO THE PURCHASER OF THE ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL PROPERTY.

Upon the return of Mr. Charles A. Seymour from his two months' vacation in Europe rumor again became busy about the identity of the purchaser of the St Luke's Hospital property, which was sold by Mr. Seymour in June for $3,410,000. The Herald without reservation credited Lewis S. Samuel, a well known real estate speculator, whose office is in Liberty street, with the purchase. Inquiry from those who are in a position to know elicited no confirmation of the story, and Mr. Samuel said he would not give the story the importance of a denial. Mr. Seymour said the name of the buyer would not be made known until he was authorized to make it known and he was not yet so authorized. When, on June 10th, THE RECORD AND GUIDE announced that John D. Rockefeller was the real purchaser of the property it had ample authority for so doing. Whoever may ultimately figure in the transaction, it is certain that Mr. Rockefeller supplied the money to make the first payment for the property.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—On the market for Common Hards it is much the same old story. Some of the trade thought matters were a little worse than last week, none claimed any improvement, nor did there seem to be an idea that any immediate gain was among the probabilities. Most of the present call from consumers is to finish out work, with mighty few new jobs starting up, and as no one finds an inducement to pile out stock the chances for custom are slim in all quarters. Arrivals under ordinary circumstances would be considered quite moderate, but as matters now stand they look pretty big and it is said leave anywhere from fifteen to twenty barge loads on the market unsold day after day. On general range about old figures are in use, but $5 is the very tip top and almost too exceptional for a quotation, while on the other extreme some pretty low figures are mentioned. The average run of quality remains right up to the high standard of the season and few really inferior lots come to hand. Pales are dull and dragging with $2 apparently top. Conditions seem to be somewhat mixed along the Hudson. From some localities where shipments have been free there is a stoppage, at other points where nothing was being loaded there is a resumption of shipments, and the same features will apply to production, a number of manufacturers who claimed to have stopped for the season resuming and others shutting down with the usual claim that it is for good. On the whole it looks as though there would be bricks enough to go into winter with. North River Fronts are in fair demand and while a little scarce now will be more plentiful soon.

CEMENT.—Current business is slow, with prices about as before, and the only noticeable feature is the current small importation running below the average of any time this season. For the sake of record and as a matter of general interest to the trade we give the following argument before the Ways and Means Committee, presented by R. W. Leslie, representing the American cement industry, who appeared in advocacy of the retention of the present specific duty of 8 cents per hundred pounds on imported cement. He gave five separate reasons for this request. In substance they were:

1. That the present tariff tax is a revenue duty and has increased the amount realized by the Government while decreasing the cost to the consumer.

2 That cement is not raw material, but essentially a labor product, and labor to the extent of 90 to 95 per cent of the selling price of the article entered into that price.

3. That the industry was not controlled by a trust, but was closely competed, and the cement was sold, bulk for bulk, for less price than ordinary lump lime, unground and unbarrelled.

4 That the present duty is the same as that named in the Act of 1883, the Randall bill of 1887, the Mills bill of the same year and the Senate bill of the same year.

5. That imported cement comes in practically as ballast, the rate being as low as 10 to 15 cents per barrel, as against 30 to 40 cents to the same points from American works.

Mr. Leslie proceeded to amplify these points, taking them up in order. Touching the first point, that the present duty was a revenue duty, he showed that prior to the passage of the McKinley Act and under the ad valorem duty of 20 per cent the revenue to the Government has been decreased by undervaluation and other means until in 1889 one invoice came to the country at a valuation as low as 60 cents, the duty being 12 cents. Under the McKinley tariff, with a specific duty of 8 cents per 100 pounds, the Government received 32 cents per barrel, the amount now collected. At the time the McKinley Act took effect the four leading brands of English cement cost the importer at Philadelphia from $2.25 to $2 60, while since the passage of that Act the prices of the same brands had fallen to $1.97½ and $2 35. This decrease has also benefited the consumer of the American Portland cement, which had decreased in price from $2 11 in 1890 to $1.96 in 1893. The imports had also increased from 1,941,186 barrels prior to the McKinley bill to 3,988,313 since that act was passed, showing an actual gain to the Government in revenue of $8.6,330.

Touching the point that cement was not a raw material, nor its manufacture a local industry, Mr. Leslie asserted that it was manufactured in twenty three States, North and South, East and West. He also entered into a long description of the manufacture of cement, showing at each stage the labor cost, making a total of 87 per cent in this country. He also showed that a German factory, with a daily pay-roll of $33.72, employed seventy women and sixty-nine men, while an American work of the same number of hands, all male, had a daily pay-roll of $2.6 3—a difference in favor of the German manufacturer of $192.50.

On the third point Mr. Leslie asserted that there was a total of eighty-four cement works in the United States, among which there existed no combination or trust, with the exception of one Western district, where one company controlled several small corporations, but sold their product free of trusts. In conclusion he urged that a specific duty be imposed upon cement of 8 cents per 100 pounds in barrels and 7 cents per 100 pounds in bags, bulk or clinker, and in this way the undervaluation and other evasions of the customs laws may be arrested.

GLASS.—Business in window glass does not show animation in any way, but has improved a little of late, and operators speak as though they expected a further steady gain. Should such calculations be realized it could hardly fail to strengthen the market, as jobbers are not carrying an abundance of stock, and there is only a very small quantity in the hands of manufacturers to fall back upon. Furthermore workmen are contesting an effort to start the fires at a reduced scale of wages and that may delay the appearance of new stock upon the market. Prices are firm all along the line. Domestic plate appears to be somewhat unsettled in tone, but will probably come around into uniform condition as the fall and winter trade opens up. Foreign glass has been a somewhat disturbing factor for some time in consequence of irregular offerings of both cylinder and plate, but imports are now smaller and the effort to realize less frequent.

LATH.—Parties who were last week talking about an advance didn't get it, as the few arrivals coming to hand have been sold out of town at $2, and that remains the price down to date, with the market a trifle nominal. It is, however, claimed that some local dealers are in want of stock, and would be ready to negotiate for a fresh offering. There is nothing certain about quantity coming. Of course it is said to be small, but cargoes have an odd way of turning up just after predictions of small receipts are made.

LIME.—The monotony of the market has been broken since our last by orders from headquarters. The association of manufacturers now controlling the lines from Knox Co., Maine, including the Rockland, Thomaston and Rockport, has forwarded an official notification that rates here must be advanced 5c. on Common, bringing the figure up to 95c., and 10c. on Lump, making it $1.10 per bbl., and those are now the figures of all agents. Exactly what the advance was made for at this juncture it is pretty difficult to understand. The consumption of lime is, of course, at a low ebb, just the same as other building material, and not likely to increase right away, and dealers will not put in stock for carrying and it seems to be generally considered that the only way this advance can be secured is through greatly restricted shipments. Meanwhile lines from all other sources will find attraction in this market, and probably get good sale, while the Eastern combination holds the umbrella by asking the advance already noted.

LUMBER.—It is still useless to attempt giving statements in specific detail regarding the various grades of lumber because influences and conditions are just about the same all around. Statements from yard dealers vary materially in regard to business doing, but allowing for a natural disposition to present the best view possible the average situation is far from satisfactory. About all the stuff due on summer maturing contracts has been delivered, with possible exception of some grades to be used for trim; the current run of orders is mostly for jobbing parcels, and very few buyers are even asking for information in regard to winter deliveries, direct negotiation apparently not being thought of at the moment. Naturally under such state of affairs dealers feel in quite an indifferent mood toward bulk lots of stock, until they can take a little more time to calculate upon probable requirements during the winter period. As we have before advised, there is still a great deal of stock to come forward on early season contract upon which delivery has been postponed from time to time at the request of the buyers and this is likely to make a great deal of difference with the fall trade so far as certain large concerns provide custom, but there are a great many dealers who are working on unusually small accumulations and assortments of stock, and it seems very reasonable to calculate that they must make some sort of an investment before long.

It is useless to go into any prediction as to how such demand as may arise is likely to be met but the indications are that buyers will be well treated We do not mean that the slaughter cuts on price made during tight money times are likely to be repeated to any extent, if at all, but a little pruning down of the valuations current last spring is more than likely as a natural result of the narrow character of trade, and the competition to secure such custom as may be extant. Casually it looks as though white pine, poplar and the fancy descriptions of hardwoods were best fortified to maintain good prices, but it will require a fuller and more direct test to determine the status of any description of stock. Meanwhile, although retaining about old figures, all quotations are simply guess work, gauged by the latest important dealings of many weeks ago, and must be considered as wholly nominal for the time being.

The latest information from most primal points seems to show just a faint ripple of reviving trade, and is coming about as might be expected. Buyers want to know about what stock there is to offer, its probable cost and the chances for shipment, which, of course, encourages the hope that such natural preliminaries may soon lead to an increase of orders. The very general claim is that the quantity of lumber sawed and awaiting sale shows extremely small proportions, but there is yet time for the saws to do a great deal of work if there should arise any occasion for their production and hardly a doubt that many mill men would like to cut up a greater number of the logs in hand. One of the results of this season's prostrate trade will no doubt be found in material curtailment of work in the woods during the winter, partly because there is a natural indisposition to send in another big cut upon top of the last one, and partly because a great many operators would find it tight scratching to reach their usual average output even if so disposed. Only a few signs of preparation for going into the woods have thus far been given. The slow, unsatisfactory condition of trade seems to have made dealers apathetic on all issues and few have given any thought to the possibilities of changes in import duties through threatened tariff revision.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES

STATE.

This is all the Argus has to say about the Albany market this week:

Trade in the local lumber market remains without particular change. Prices remain the same, but it is expected that incoming shipments will bring about an advance.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The wholesale trade will this year have to mainly depend on the rural demand, for in the cities and towns the currency stringency has dried up all new enterprises and greatly restricted the operations of those that were established. The shutting down of factories and consuming works of all kinds has thrown thousands out of employment, reduced the demand for merchandise, and put a stop to a large amount of improvement that would have gone forward under more favorable conditions. While there is some building in the more thriving places, the amount being done and projected is so far below what was accomplished in each of several years past that the consequent loss of lumber demand is seriously felt. If there is to be any enlargement of demand on mill stocks this fall it must come from the rural districts as starting points. Not much can be expected from the city requirement as an energizing cause, though there will be enough to help in the general distribution.

All around the lakes mill operators are experiencing the most stagnant market conditions they have known for years. Mill piling room is full, and it is with difficulty that space is kept clear so that the mills can continue to run. On Lake Superior many mills are shut down. Sales are being made for cash, because credits are distrusted and operators need money to defray expenses.

At Chicago:

Evidently the yard dealers are beginning to want piece stuff, since they are feeling around to ascertain the real condition of the market and the prospect for prices. The manufacturers have manifestly determined to sell no more lumber at present prices than they are obliged to. Those who are well situated in money matters will hang on for $9 as the bottom price for long lengths. The tendency of the market now is toward that figure. It looks as if hereafter there would be a hardening of values at that point. There is some range in prices, determinable by the character of the stuff and the way it is shaped up. More than the ordinary percentages of long lengths are going in with the short at the same price. The lumber that has been sold at $8 50 a thousand and perhaps $8 in some instances, is that which is a little off color in some particulars. The nine dollar stuff is a good run of lumber and of desirable tally. Now, it is said, the pressure is toward $9 for the ordinary runs, and $9 50 for the more desirable. It looks as if the market has reached the bottom, and will tend to stiffen as the fall advances. The yard dealers have dropped their prices to $12 a thousand for short lengths, and have fixed their limit in that direction. Now it is to their interest to buy as cheaply as possible, and the quicker they put in their fall and winter stock the less it will cost them. This is what the commission men say, and the argument has some plausibility.

Such lumber as is passing through the hands of the commission men is mostly placed before it is ordered forward. Some is consigned to the open market, however, and sells for what it will bring. Terms are mostly cash, for those manufacturers who are selling need the money, and would sell under present market conditions for nothing else.

It can hardly be said that the demand for poplar lumber is any more active than it was a week ago, but mill men are receiving more inquiries, and there is a pretty general belief that the next thirty days will see a marked improvement in the market. The poplar mills are all either shut down or about the same as shut down, and at least some of them will not cut another foot of lumber this season. Stocks are ample now, but three months of only a fair trade would consume all there is in sight, and there is no prospect of a full supply of logs next year. There are a few logs hung up on the various streams, but up to this time nothing has been done toward cutting more, and until money is easier operators will find it impossible to go into the woods and accomplish anything.

The furniture factories and other wood-working establishments are getting ready to start up again this month, and when they do it means a substantial increase in the demand for poplar. It is likely that the trade will continue to be of a hand-to mouth character for some time, but no change in prices is looked for until conditions will justify an advance. Small lots continue to be sold occasionally at from $1 to $3 under the association price list, but as a general thing that list is firmly held to by members of the organization.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

There will be few if any logging camps started in the Wisconsin pineries in September this year, and as yet there are no indications of preparations being made for the work in the woods. There is too much lumber in pile to warrant much thought of logs just at present.

It is true that the revival in various industries has not penetrated the lumber industry to a great extent as yet. Still it is so that it can be observed. The reports from the various lumber receiving and distributing centres received at this office nearly all give evidence of an improvement in trade. It is not shown so much by statistics of actual receipts and shipments as by the fact that inquiries are coming in more plentiful and there are other evidences of better times for the lumber trade. It was the last industry to be affected by the business depression, and it is but natural that it should be the last to recover.

FOREIGN.

The London Timber Trades' Journal says:

Much surprise is expressed by shippers at the stagnation of prices in the London market. In spite of a stock at the dock [illegible] ly low in quantity, and in face of deliver[illegible], on the average, cannot be classed as disappointing, especially when the scanty supply from which they are drawn is borne in mind, values do not recover, but continue to show a weakness for which it is difficult to account. We hear of no large consignments expected, such as in past years were wont to upset all calculations; and, in fact, with the exception of an outside market cargo or two, we may say that all goods arriving represent stuff actually sold. But in spite of all there are still importers who do not believe in the probability of an immediate rise, and who are reselling their goods as soon as they arrive at a moderate profit, and sometimes even without any gain whatever.

The following is note of sales in Glasgow:

28 logs walnut, ex Aborace, from Norfolk, U. S., about 16 in. to 17 in. square, 2s. 11d. to 4s. 7d per cubic foot.

16 logs walnut, ex Nerito, from Baltimore, U. S., chiefly 15 in. square, 3s. 3d. to 4s. 6d. per cubic foot.

10 logs oak, ex Amarynthia, from Baltimore, U. S., 23 in. to 27 in. square, 1s. 10d. and 1s. 11d. per cubic foot.

About 120 logs U. S. canary whitewood, 1s. 7½d. to 2s. per cubic foot.

40 logs Pictou (N. S.) birch, 17½ in. average, 1s. 6d. per cubic foot.

NAILS.—Actual consumption has not increased to any extent, but in view of the small production, there is business enough to keep a comparatively scantily supplied market. Manufacturers, too, are abstaining from much direct pressure to realize and endeavoring to gradually lift the line of value. We quote Cut at $1.05@1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.35@1.40 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.35@1.40 for car lots, and $1.75@1.80 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Business in a general way is still a little slow, yet not without somewhat greater promise than at the close of last month. Locally the demand is simply of a routine character for the purpose of maintaining a working assortment, but country custom commences to look about and in some cases is leaving orders of fairish proportions. The selections show that stocks have been allowed to run pretty low, even of the most thoroughly staple goods but it can hardly be said that present takings indicate a laying in of full winter supplies. Production is conducted with caution and manufacturers will not overload the market. Prices are nominally unchanged, though there is the usual run of stories about cut rates with probably a measure of truth in them. Corroders' rates stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 7½c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6¾c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 6⅝c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 6½c.; kegs. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c.; and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots on 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent. discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corroding point. Linseed Oil finds moderately active demand, and considerable irregularity on value, especially for the product of Western seed, upon which a desire to realize has thrown advantage in buyers' favor. Foreign seed product remains about steady. We quote on general range at 40@42c. for Western, 43@45c. for City from domestic seed, and 61@62c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine continues very scarce, and while the demand is not unusual it keeps supply well sold up and prices quite firm, with further advance during the week. We quote at 30@31c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Business has been somewhat more active, both on local and out of town trade, and in some cases buyers are said to be accumulating a little stock against winter wants. Supplies have been offered less freely and the tone of the market was stronger, without, however, leading to any great advance in cost. We quote Tar at $1 90@1.95 in pine or Wilmington bbls., $2.00@2 05 in pork bbls., and $3.70 @3.75 in oil bbls., Pitch $1.50@1.70.

BUILDING MATERIAL PRICES.

LUMBER.
Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors and, altogether, it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable n character.

VOL. LII. SEPTEMBER 16 1893. No. 1,331

THE stock market is beginning to reflect the impatience of the general public at the Senate's delay in dealing with the silver question and is a hint of what will occur unless our currency is relieved of the embarrassing condition that now afflicts it. If this delay is much more protracted its influence will extend into general business and halt its recovery if it does not throw it back into the stagnation from which it is now beginning a rapid emergence. The declaration of several dividends on railroad stocks this week can be taken as an evidence that, in the opinion of good judgment, the worst has been seen in railroad traffic. The indications in passenger business are positive of this ; the rise in freight traffic is likely to be slower, but just as sure. The returns of earnings for July and August, which made such sensational decreases, represented the time when the severity of the money pinch made every man not only stay at home to attend to his own particular business, but also so fearful of the future that he wanted to limit that business to the smallest possible dimensions; hence merchants everywhere countermanded orders wholesale, and thus cut off freight from the railroads. With the change in business, goods are moving forward again from the manufacturer to the merchant, so that if confidence is not again destroyed by the action of the Senate we may look for improvement in the returns of railroad earnings for this or next month, though, of course, they cannot be expected to reach the proportions of the same months last year. The good news of the week has not quite offset the bad in momentary effect and this may have had something to do with the decline in prices, as has also the wish in certain professional quarters to put them on a lower level. In the main and for the future it cannot be doubted that all that is implied in the reduction in the Bank of England rate of discount, the declaration of some doubtful dividends, the resumption in trade and the cancellation of Clearing House certificates are more potent than the crop condition, shown in the Government report, the delay in the Senate, and such business troubles as are now from time to time reported, provided ultimate repeal of the purchasing clause of the act of 1890 is not endangered.

THE public have hitherto hesitated to question either the competency or the straightforward intention of the Rapid Transit Commissioners. The reputation of these gentlemen and recognition of the extreme difficulty of the task before them have so far warded off adverse criticism, but as month after month goes by ineffectively amid talk and plan-making people are really forced to question whether the Commission are acting either competently or with that positive straightforwardness which the immense trust confided to them demands. Even at this late day, the Commissioners give no evidence that they possess a thorough businesslike appreciation of the conditions which any step in any direction must bring them face to face with. Their planning appears to be at random. They formulate a scheme, launch it this way or that, and then begin to discover the difficulties that lie in the way of its adoption. Would any large railroad company work as the Commissioners are working? Would they allow a body of so-called experts to dilly-dally and shilly-shally amid a chorus of cranks and self-seeking schemers, planning for underground roads which capital will have nothing to do with, and elevated roads? If New York can't get an underground road or an extensive enlargement of the present elevated system what can it get? Is there any possible scheme which private capital will take up, and if such a scheme were formulated is it of the kind that really meets the needs of the metropolis? The Municipal authorities say that they are now in favor of city construction. What do they mean by that? What sort of an enterprise are they ready to support? Instead of working in vacuo why does not the Commission proceed like business men and make up their minds as to the "possible." There is not a particle of evidence that we can find that the Commission know exactly where they stand. If they do, would it not be better for them to impart a little of that knowledge to the public, and not hold secret sessions in one room, and then afterwards gravely listen to the vaporing of irresponsible nobodies in another room. The people are getting tired of this Commission. has already fully demonstrated "How not to obtain Rapid Trans for New York."

IF the last eighteen months have demonstrated anything, surely it is that the City is the only source from which New York can obtain adequate Rapid Transit? We respectfully call upon the Real Estate Exchange to recommence their labors in behalf of Municipal construction. No single body of men have so great an interest in this matter as real estate owners, brokers and builders, and we believe that the Public is in a very different frame of mind now as to Municipal action from what it was last Spring. The Exchange should call a meeting at once.

CERTAINLY, from an artistic point of view Mr. Purroy is right in protesting against the retention of the Tweed Court House as part of the scheme to provide this city with a new City Hall. As no architect with any reputation to lose would care to design in harmony with that weird example of municipal incompetency, the retention of that building in the midst of the new structure can result only in a sort of fighting combination which would detract from the new edifice and isolate the old in more conspicuous hideousness than hitherto. The city has a great opportunity now to provide itself with a splendid architectural monument, but this chance will be in very large measure thrown to the winds if the city officials stick to their present plans. It will render effective treatment of the Chambers street front of the new City Hall valueless if not impossible, and will split up what otherwise would be a superb sight into unsymmetrical proportions. Those who planned for the retention of the Tweed Building were evidently conscious of the incongruity of their scheme, for they say that possibly in the future it will be advisable to remove the Court House—the idea being, we suppose, that in this event the Chambers street side can receive proper treatment. This course would entail not only the loss of much money which could go to offset whatever extra cost would result from the immediate removal of the Court House, but would necessitate a patch-work method of design and construction which is always inimical to the highest results. If the city is to spend several millions on this new enterprise, by all means let it do the thing properly. The architects of this city should certainly make themselves heard on this matter.

THE New York and New Jersey Bridge project was revived again this week by certain reports of dubious value from Washington. It is said that the Secretary of War has indorsed the scheme and, of course, the frequently repeated announcement follows; that as soon as Congress authorizes the work the rapid construction of the bridge will begin. The real estate interests of the metropolis have already been heard in Washington in opposition to this project and it is, of course, not impossible that they may have to address themselves to the same subject again. Legislative bodies act nowadays with such calm unconcern as to private rights, in disposing of public franchises, that it is impossible to count that Congress will properly safeguard any privileges it may be induced to grant to the gentlemen who have been constructing such magnificent structures across the Hudson on paper, during Heaven knows how many years. Congress, of course, should be given to understand that in this case there are tangible interests at stake, which are very much greater than those of the promoters of the enterprise. Everybody concedes that private interests must ultimately give way to the larger interests of the public, but it is quite another thing to permit projectors to play with the property and income of others in an endeavor to work out problematical schemes for their own benefit. This bridge enterprise is, under existing conditions, problematic almost to the point of being impossible. Nearly as much money is needed for it as for the underground road and the chances of profit for private capital in the one case are five times what they are in the other, yet we have seen it has been impossible to obtain capital for the more profitable enterprise. The bridge company has not given yet the first undoubted indication that it is anything more than a paper project. We are told that it has capital enough at its command to complete the work, but the exact sources of it are not even approximately stated. We are told its income will be more than sufficient to make the bridge a profitable undertaking, but we are not shown, and no business man can discover the probable sources of the income. But, all these matters are, in a sense, beside the question. Projectors have a right to project no matter how foolishly they may figure their condition. If they are satisfied with it, nobody should complain. The only objection that we have is to the granting of franchises that seriously affect the property of a great number of individuals to projectors whose schemes are still in the air, Before Legislatures grant these franchises they should equire bonds to indemnify private individuals for losses arising rom abandonment or unnecessary postponement of the contemlated enterprise.

IT is sincerely to be hoped that for the good name of this coun. try no effort will be made to put the absurd Geary Law into ction. It was in the first place a demagogic piece of legislation, most unAmerican in its spirit and most irrational in its provisions. It can be put into operation only at a very great expense and by producing a race crusade in which China would surely take part. The Celestials would surely retaliate, and the lives and property of Americans would be endangered. It is nonsense to talk as Mr. Geary did recently, that for every American injured a hundred Chinamen would be strung up in San Francisco. Barbaric peoples may conduct their dealings with one another on this principle, but not civilized nations. What with deporting the Chinese, locking up helpless passengers in infected ships, and squabbling as to whether Clergymen are contract laborers, the good reputation of this country for broad hospitality and strong common sense will soon be a thing of the past.

Architectural Results of the World's Fair.—I.

THERE is now on view in Jackson Park the most stupendous and successful exhibition of monumental architecture ever seen in this country, and a collection of buildings that in splendor of arrangement and beauty of effect has seldom been surpassed in the history of architecture. Not that all the buildings are fine, or even worthy of admiration—many of them are distinctly inferior in design, and in one at least, the Mines and Mining Building, the architect has injured his interior by the introduction of a novel method of construction—but the general effect is so good, the ensemble so much ahead of any similar effort, and the result so generally creditable to American ingenuity and construction, that one can have nothing but praise for the buildings as a whole. Indeed they are the main exhibit of the exposition, and it is not too much to say that were they empty the World's Columbian Exposition would have an interest and value unapproached by any previous international exhibition.

And herein lies, perhaps, the chief value of the exposition to the country. It has shown, and in the most unmistakable manner, that American architects are capable of producing the finest grades of monumental structures and arranging them in a way that gives them their greatest value if they are not restricted by the limitations and conditions which hem in our general architecture and have made it so misunderstood and unappreciated by the architects of other lands. It is especially striking that this result should have been achieved in Chicago, the one city of America in which architects have been most bound by unarchitectural conditions, and in which the most important and imposing structures are commercial buildings which have no part in the free artistic work of Jackson Park. It is true much of this beauty has been accomplished by architects not practising in Chicago, but this does not mitigate the fact that the Fair is distinctly a Chicago product, has been brought to success through Chicago energy, and, very largely, by Chicago men and money. Whether the Fair would have been so great an architectural success in another city is an idle question. Chicago may well be satisfied with the part she has taken in it, and other cities may be equally pleased that the lion's share of the credit must be given to our great western metropolis.

But the influence of the Fair will not be local. It is distinctly national in scope, interest and value, and its influence will be felt throughout the whole country. How far it may effect other countries may be questioned, but at least it has set a standard of architectural excellence for any subsequent international exhibition that cannot be ignored. But the people of America need not concern themselves with the opinions of foreigners or the influence their exhibition may have upon them; it is quite sufficient to have within our borders, and within easy reach of the great mass of population, this splendid example of monumental architecture, and its lessons may well be taken home to ourselves.

The most important architectural influence of the Fair unquestionably lies in the fact that people who have never thought of architecture, never appreciated what it was, never realized what it meant, never saw what it can accomplish, will now have all these things brought before them in the most striking and convincing manner. In a country that a hundred years ago could boast nothing more pretentious than a log cabin or a small Colonial dwelling this fact is of supreme importance. And it is not the less so because the Fair buildings, or rather the general effect of the Fair—which is quite its strongest point—cannot be reproduced. The conditions which brought them into existence may indeed be repeated in another international exhibition; but apart from this the buildings only show what can be accomplished on a gigantic scale in a gigantic manner. As a recent writer has pointed out, half the beauty would be lost were the buildings to be reproduced separately or on a smaller scale. And so we no sooner realize that we have something at Chicago worthy of the greatest admiration than we are brought up before the fact that we must not rebuild it elsewhere in part or on a lesser model. All we can do is to drink in the lessons of architectural beauty the buildings teach, and profit by the ideas they suggest, rather than by the actual forms.

This lesson learned, the results may quickly follow. There can be no doubt but that the exposition will be followed by an immediate improvement in the quality of the design of structures which, in any way, may be classed as monumental. Many such opportunities will not offer themselves in this country, and hence it is of the utmost importance that the limitations of the lessons of the Fair and their results be rightly comprehended. Without this the exposition loses half its value. But at least this much may be safely counted upon: that there will be an extended revival of classic architecture in America, more extended, further reaching and more important in its results than any previous architectural revival we have had. Whether this will be wholly for the best remains to be seen, but certainly it means a good deal for any public building that may be erected in the near future. The effect of the exhibition buildings upon house and commercial architecture is likely to be very different and certainly not so pronounced. Neither of these forms lend themselves to proper treatment in the classic. But even in these particulars the results should not be discounted in advance. Though classic forms may not gain a hold on commercial and domestic design the fine effect of the Fair buildings will teach people what architecture may be in the hands of competent architects. Their importance and abilities will now be appreciated and understood by a much wider class and in a much more thorough manner than before, and if no other result than this should be accomplished the World's Columbian Exposition will have scored a great success.

Discounts and Deposits.

A QUESTION OF BANKING LAW.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

SIR—Will you kindly answer the following question, in your next issue, regarding the law governing New York State Banks when in hands of receivers. Can the receivers of a suspended New York State Bank sue a depositor having a balance in said bank more than enough to cover all paper discounted at time of suspension, should any or all of the discounted paper be protested for non-payment—and the bank holding funds of depositor for more than enough to protect the defunct bank from loss? What is the statutory law on the subject? Your reply will greatly oblige a subscriber.

Answer.—You ought to go to your lawyer with such a question, and pay him for his advice. Very likely you need to be cross-examined about your own statement of your case and protected against yourself. It is not a question of real estate law. However, the courts have decided that the notes must be paid in full to the Receiver and the unfortunate depositor come in afterwards for his pro rata dividends, as they may be declared. You can't offset them. Law is not common sense. Law is war. War is destruction of something. Never go to law if you can help it.—LAW EDITOR.

As to Fees of Architects.

BOSTON, Aug. 31, 1893.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

SIR—A matter of interest regarding professional fees has arisen with me on which I should like to ask your opinion:

Under peculiar circumstances and conditions, which I suppose need not be entered into here, I made a contract to furnish plans and specifications with details for a large building costing approximately $350,000 for the very moderate sum of $2,000. In the course of the work I found, as frequently happens, the owner desired to make modifications. Much had to be redrawn, etc., for which I was obliged to ask an addition of $500, which was granted.

The work was completed and the contract virtually ended with the delivery of my plans, etc. After the building was far progressed the owner desired to make a radical change in an important feature of the building—calling for considerable study—a number of experimental drawings made and set aside, and finally the working drawings, details, etc., of an elaborate tower.

The extra cost of this tower, over and above what was at first designed, I have been told, was not far from $20,000, and the omitted work for which it was substituted would perhaps be $10,000, which of course would bring the newly-designed part of the building between $25,000 and $30,000 actual value.

For designing this I wrote the owner I thought I ought to receive the ordinary compensation of 3½ per cent.

He replies to me, citing the original contract, with its supplementary concession, which I have mentioned (that had barely afforded modern draughtsman's compensation), and he mentions a figure that he is willing to pay, which he thinks the service is worth—a figure that seems to be even less in pro rata percentage than the original contract.

It is not the purpose of this letter to ask you to judge between me whether that figure, or more or less, is a fair compensation. What puzzles me is the question: In strictest equity am I right to charge in this case as is the uniform custom of my office, from which I rarely ever vary, 3½ per cent, the standard American Institute rate. Had I been paid the ordinary rate for the entire work my compensation would have been over eight thousand dollars, and there would not have been the slightest question about this final bill.

The contracts as they were which gave me only $2,500 contained no provisions to prejudice or fix the compensation of any supplementary work.

How far ought I in full fairness to consider it binding upon me to admit its low pro rata of percentage a precedent to fix my compensation for the new tower. SUBSCRIBER

Answer.—Upon the whole we should think that an additional fee at the same rate, viz.: 1 per cent on the $30,000 alteration ($20,000 additional cost plus $10,000 cost from omitted work) would be the equitable pay for this extra work under this particular contract and circumstances.—LAW EDITOR.

Senator Hill and the Silver Question.

SEPT. 12, 1893.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

The letters of Mr. Cheesbrough have commanded widespread interest and approval, and I hope you will encourage him to continue them from time to time.

The speech of Senator Hill on the same subject (the Silver question) seems to be statesmanlike and ought to satisfy honest bimetallists, who recognize that free coinage of silver by this country, without International agreement and co-operation, means simply monometallism upon a silver basis, and consequent practical demonetization of gold.

It will be remembered that when Senator Hill made his celebrated call upon the President last spring, the Mugwump Press, with one accord asserted that the sole subject and object of the Senator's visit was "patronage." Nothing could be wider of the mark. Senator Hill recommended a March session of Congress for the repeal of the "Sherman Law and then an adjournment, and, as an eye-witness remarked, "plenty financial legislation, very little tariff legislation."

If, as I believe, the Senator is correctly quoted, is not his position—advice to the President—as true to-day as last spring, and likely to quiet alarm of manufacturers and restore confidence, if generally known?

Sketch Club of New York.

Saturday evening, Sept. 2d, the club held its first monthly dinner of season in Delisle Roof Garden, on the top of the Central Hotel, Liberty street. There were about thirty present. Mr. Edward L. Tilton, of the firm of Boring & Tilton, was the guest of the evening, and addressed the club on traveling in France and students' life at the Ecole des Beaux Arts. Mr. Louis Mullgardt, President of the St. Louis Architectural Club, was present, and said a few words. A song by Mr. Klingenfeldt and a story by Mr. Clarence Luce contributed to the entertainment of the evening.

The club has recently hired rooms at 1473 Broadway, near 42d street, where the next dinner will be held. There will then be an exhibition of summer sketches, and the occasion will be made a house warming for the new quarters.

The "American Basement House."

A NEW AND ATTRACTIVE STYLE IN TOWN HOUSE ARCHITECTURE.—ADVANTAGES OVER THE HIGH-STOOP STYLE.—SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS IN REAR ELEVATIONS AND IN THE TREATMENT AND USE OF REAR YARDS.—A HINT TO THE SPECULATIVE BUILDER.

Within the last three years there have been built in this city a number of dwelling houses in arrangement so distinctive and original as to merit a new classification or designation. Although, in some instances, the detail is suggestive of the French and again of the Italian Renaissance and, in many others, of the Colonial style, they are most conspicuous for features that are so entirely novel that they may properly be grouped under a new descriptive title. They may also be described as a natural evolution from conditions that have first presented themselves in this city and are destined to become quite general, as the country becomes more densely populated. This would give them claim to an appellation that should identify them with the country, and when it can be added that they are far and away the handsomest and most organic and logical designs that have yet appeared in town house construction, all objection to calling them "American" will be removed.

and was plenty and cheap on Manhattan Island there was no occasion for economizing in ground space, and therefore it is that e "old-fashioned" houses of twenty-five years ago and more shallower than those of later date. Wh cost the builder ould better afford a full-sized a $25,000 house than he can now afford a 16.8-foot lot with a $30,000 house, so great has been the increase in the prices of eligible building lots. With the rapid increase in the population of the city there has been a corresponding increase in the values and prices of vacant lots for building purposes. Lots on the great West Side that were sold for $4,000 early in the 70's have recently brought $18,000 and over and are still increasing in value. And in all the West Side, west of Central Park, there are no more lots to be had at any such price as $4,000. These facts have imposed upon the architects and builders who are operating in that select region a new problem. It is, how to give a man as much house room for his money as could be done twenty or twenty five years ago.

This problem has been solved in the "American Basement House." It has been solved in a very agreeable way; in a way which promises to not only remove in large measure the stigma of dull monotony from the dwelling house architecture of this city, but also to inaugurate a new and creditable and sensible style in town house construction. In suburban house construction, where land is plentiful and wood is the material most in use, the achievements of American architecture have been beyond expectation. In fact it is in this direction that American architectural skill has attained some of its highest achievements. But the problem presented to the architect in this field of construction and a far simpler one than that which confronted him when he was called upon to design a town house of substantial construction, artistic appearance and the most convenient and economical interior division—on 16x100 lot. The suburban house is generally a detached house, having openings for light and air on all sides, and in its design there has been opportunity for a full and free expression of architectural design popular taste. The owner and architect have in most cases together in evolving the houses that pretend to architectural expression. The vast number of tawdry, characterless frame structures that have been built from the "Skupples' Guide" and "Every Man His Own Architect" class of published plans, is of course not included in this description; they rank in comparison with these artistic creations along with the weeds that flourish in the same garden with the rarest flowers.

While in the country or suburban house the architect has had free range for his fancy, and consequently has advanced the standard of American architecture into new and valued territory, his progress in town house construction has been beset with obstacles and difficulties and has consequently been slower. In the first place he found an inherited prejudice in favor of the Dutch style of high-stoop house firmly intrenched in this city; then he found that residence construction was almost monopolized by the speculative builder, and the instances were rare when a home-seeker passed by the open market, with its supply of ready-built houses, and retained an architect to design him something out of the stereotyped order. Then, too, and this was perhaps the heaviest handicap imposed upon the pioneer architect, the National spirit had not yet extended beyond the domain of politics, and any creation of the industrial or fine arts that was not confessedly modeled after European examples was too outre to find acceptance.

In those early days, when the monotonous high stoop style of town house was all the style, the builders were their own architects and designers, adapting their ideas from the styles prevalent in Holland and England, where they had learned their trades, and changing the details only when some clever artisan in a collateral branch, as in wrought-iron work, carved woodwork or sculpture, came along with some inexpensive novelty that did no violence to the general plan. Hence, upon the speculative builder must rest the responsibility for the monotonous rows of dismal, plain-faced brownstone and red brick high stoop houses that have always been the reproach of New York City residence architecture. And it is the speculative builder who is now the chief obstacle to the progress of new ideas in town-house architecture. It may be said in his favor that he has done all that could be done to make the high stoop dwelling of the present day so far superior to the old-fashioned high stoop house that they are hardly to be considered in the same class. His light, bright interiors, ornamental fronts, Eastlake, box and carved stoops, sanitary plumbing and improved heating and ventilating appliances, clearly distinguish the modern high stoop town house as the best possible improvement upon its ancient prototype, and as lacking perfection only in the plan, the design, the architecture. The speculative builder, too, has been justified in his fidelity to the high stoop house by the final criterion in all such undertakings—the popular approval. There is no gainsaying the fact that the New York public have, as between all the styles of houses hitherto offered them, given their approval to the high stoop house. But almost the only other form of house known until quite recently was the English basement house, and the experience of the mercantile builder with that class of houses was not encouraging. Financial trouble has followed most efforts with that style, and it is now sufficient to condemn a house in the popular mind to call it an English basement house.

Happily, no such stigma attaches to the American Basement House. Of the first twenty-seven of these houses completed and placed upon the market in 1891 and 1892 all save two were sold as soon as completed, and of the two still unsold one is a $60,000 house, built 80 feet deep. No such record of sales as this can be shown of any other style of town houses. It is the kind of proof of their superiority which will satisfy our New York builders and will undoubtedly lead them to a closer inquiry into their merits than they have hitherto given them. The first experiment in this style of construction was made by Builder Richard G. Platt, acting upon the advice of Architect Clarence True. It was made with three houses on the west side of West End avenue, between 88th and 89th streets, that were finished and sold in 1891. So satisfactory were the results in every way with these houses that Mr. Platt has been an active operator with this style of houses in the same neighborhood ever since, building more of them in 1892, all but one of which (the big house mentioned above) have been sold, and more again this year that are rapidly approaching completion. This year, too, he has found several imitators. Other architects have entered the field with other builders, the architects impressing their individualities upon the new style, giving variety of architectural treatment in unity of style, and the builders supporting them with a high order of mechanical and structural skill.

The scene of operations of these architects and builders has been confined to the West End section of the great West Side, and has done much to impress this section as one of the handsomest residence sections in the city. The accompanying illustrations are of houses actually built, from designs by Architects Clarence True and C. H. P. Gilbert. Besides the houses of this style already built and sold, there are in the same vicinity a large number in process of completion or already finished for the fall market. Among them may be mentioned seven on 93d street, south side, near West End avenue, by the City Real Estate Co.; seven on the southeast corner of West End avenue and 94th street, by C. G. Judson; six on the southeast corner of West End avenue and 93d street, by F. A. Squier; and four on West End avenue, east side, between 83d and 84th streets, by C. F. Rogers, besides others in the near vicinity.

The floor plans which we also illustrate herewith, show the difference of the interior division between the American Basement House and the high stoop house. The perspectives show the differences in the front elevations. In the first place, the costly and illogical high stoop is dispensed with. In its cheap form it was always a monstrosity, destroying balance and proportion in the architectural appearance of a house and giving it a lop sided aspect that was only toned down a little when the offense was repeated in long rows of the same style of houses, while the repetition only led to confusion of identity. The skill and ingenuity of the architect were taxed to the utmost to overcome these defects and the success achieved has been only partial, and has been attained only at a tremendous additional expense. The box stoop is the most artistic expression attainable of the high stoop, and it imparts a heaviness and disproportion to every small house that is as incongruous and displeasing as a pair of very large feet on a pretty little woman. Then, again, while it has its manifest purpose in providing a way to the main entrance of the house it bears no necessary organic relation to the main structure, and is inhospitable and forbidding in its aspect. A comparison with the artistic, symmetrical and hospitable front elevations of the American Basement House clearly reveals these defects.

By the improved interior arrangement of the American Basement House a scientific division of space is secured by which every room is given its clearly defined purpose in the domestic economy. In the modern high stoop house the front basement room is superfluous and the parlor is a deformity. Originally the front basement was the family dining room, but modern ideas of hygiene have lifted the dining-room out of this gloom to the parlor level and in all houses of modern construction it occupies the rear space of the parlor floor. In the high stoop house the parlor has to divide the honors of front location with the main hall and as a consequence both suffer. When ground room was plentiful and houses could be given 25 feet frontage on the street the results were not so ridiculous as they appear in the 17 and 18 feet front houses which builders are now compelled to supply. Then a hall 6 feet wide left room for a parlor nearly 18 feet wide; but when it becomes necessary to take 6 feet for a hall in a 17-foot house, there remains for the parlor less than 11 feet of width.

But in the plan of the American Basement House, not only is the parlor given the full width of the house, with all the street frontage for window openings, but opportunity is presented for a much more ceremonious and artistic hall arrangement. And this is accomplished without any necessary addition to the number of steps from the street level to the parlor level. There is the direct entrance from the street, or at the most two or three steps up to the vestibule; then the reception-room, with its low ceiling, its artistic wood finish, hospitable open fireplace, inviting settees. If the call is informal or of a business nature, madam will see the callers and attend to their missions in this room; if of a social or ceremonious nature her representative will receive them here, and after the disposal of their outer wraps, attend them to the foyer hall and parlor, on the floor above. The staircase from the reception hall to the foyer hall is susceptible of the highest artistic treatment, and, taking the place of the high stoop, converts the whole ceremony of entering the family circle from one of chilly formality to one of hospitable welcome. Then, the main entrance is on the service level of the house, and a quicker answer to the visitor's ring is assured, than where the maid has to effect a countermarch through one hall, up a flight of stairs and through another hall before she can reach the door. Again, the improved arrangement of the American Basement House shifts the main hall from the front to the middle of the house, where the space is less necessary for main rooms, leaving the parlor separated from direct connection with the street and free from the intrusion of casual callers. That this arrangement offers the best opportunities for an artistic disposition of furniture and household decorations every woman who has inhabited the American Basement House is ready to testify. Finally, the new style house offers larger and lighter living rooms on the same sized lot than does the high stoop house, and it can be built for less money. That the American Basement House is an artistic improvement upon the high stoop house, in its street aspect, every one will admit. They have already raised the tone of the West End above all the rest of the West Side, and they promise to effect a radical improvement upon, if they do not altogether supersede, the long prevailing fashion of town house construction in this city.

But there is still room for improvement in these houses. While in their front aspects and interior arrangements they carry out the ideas suggested by an article on "High-Stoop and Back-Yard Architecture," published in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of January 14 last, they have left the rear elevation and back yard untouched. In these respects they are open to the same criticism that attaches to the high stoop house. It has been said that the ideas of THE RECORD AND GUIDE in respect to the rear elevation and back-yard improvement are in advance of the times, but evidence is not lacking that it is not THE RECORD AND GUIDE that is in advance of popular demand, but rather the speculative builder who is behind the times and behind the popular demand. The suggested front and rear elevations of a row of town houses are illustrated in accompanying drawings, one of which is reproduced from THE RECORD AND GUIDE of January 14, and it is desired to again declare that these are only suggestions. They are rather more elaborate in pretension than anything we can reasonably expect in this city until a far different spirit shall prevail throughout the community, but the idea is vital, that the home feeling can be extended over the despised back yard by an artistic and comparatively inexpensive finish of the rear of the building in harmony with its front elevation, and the projection of a porch or verandah from the dining-room level, with a short flight of steps to the back yard. That the public would welcome such an improvement is demonstrated by the fact that many house buyers have at their own expense had similar improvements made to new houses. The idea does not require community of use and improvement of the back yards. It can be carried out in a different style for every house. It will be as attractive in a 15x30 rear yard inclosed by a brick wall as it would be in a common park without line fences. The suggestion now meets with opposition from the builders just as, until recently, our suggestion for reform in the architecture of the fronts and interiors was opposed; but, just as in the latter instance, the opposition has been overcome, so in respect to the suggested improvements in the rear elevations and back yards will the opposition disappear. The first builder to act upon this suggestion will find quite as certain public approval as have the pioneer builders of the American Basement House.

What has been above written is intended to apply in general only to the work of the speculative builder. Where the architect has had the owner and prospective occupant to deal with directly, and in some special instances of more pretentious houses, the main features of the American Basement House plan have been used, but even in these instances the houses have been wide, and in most of them there has been a frontage on two streets.

Facts and Opinions.

In former days a very slow-setting cement was supposed to be so because it contained a very large percentage of lime. This is true only so far that a cement containing a large percentage of lime will probably be slow-setting, but the slow-setting nature of a cement may be due to many other causes, and the most marked of these is the degree of calcination to which it has been subjected. Given any combination of lime, silica and alumina, which falls within the limits of an ordinary Portland cement compound, the degree to which it is calcined will make it, within limits, dependent on its composition, either a quick or a slow-setting cement. The percentage of alumina and iron again will affect the setting of a cement to a great extent.

* * * *

Independently, however, of the chemical composition and calcination of a cement there are other matters, of a purely mechanical nature, which affect the setting powers of a cement. The age of a cement is perhaps the most important, and there are one or two peculiarities in this; a cement when first ground may generally be gauged very easily with a comparatively small quantity of water, but when that cement has been in the warehouse for twenty-four hours it may be almost impossible to gauge it, as it sets or commences to set almost directly the water is added. After this period, however, the cement gradually becomes slower setting, and even a very quick-setting cement will in a few months become quite slow enough for all ordinary purposes, provided, of course, that during that period it has been kept in a dry and cool warehouse and has not been affected by damp or wet or otherwise damaged.

* * * *

The tensile strength of a cement is the test which is generally considered to most accurately define its value for constructive purposes. Needless to say, the strength of a cement will be dependent on its composition and calcination in a similar manner to the peculiarities of setting which have already been referred to. A quick-setting cement naturally attains greater strength in a shorter period than a slower-setting one, but a slow-setting cement has probably the greater ultimate strength.

In a thoroughly fire proof building (says Mr. P. B. Wight), it is not alone necessary that the materials of construction shall be incombustible and covered with burned clay. (1) The clay used in the manufacture of the fire-proofing material must be of a certain kind. (2) The forms of the pieces and the method of putting it together and securing it in place must be based on scientific principles and the experience of those who have studied the subject. The clay must be of the refractory kind. That is, it must be either a plastic fireclay, a semi-fireclay, or a fireclay mixed with a plastic clay or shale. The best fireclays are too "short" for this purpose and too brittle if highly burned. In the manufacture of porous terra cotta very few clays have been found that are both practicable for making a good article and reliable to resist fire when in use. So far as I know they have only been found in three places—Brazil, Indiana; Chaska, Minnesota, near Minneapolis, St. Paul; and in some parts of eastern New Jersey. For the manufacture of hard fireclay material proper clay can be found in many localities. The best I know of are in Utica and Ottawa, Illinois; St. Louis, Missouri; and the eastern clay belt of Ohio, where they exist in the greatest quantities. They are all white and buff clays—the buff clays being preferable on account of their toughness. No clay that burns red or salmon color is fit for a fire-proof building material. Of this I am positive. The greatest errors of American architects have been in the acceptance of so-called fire-proof materials made of inferior clays.

The method of converting a bed of sand into firm materials adapted for foundations, which Mr. Neukirch described before the American Congress of Engineers, is ingenious, but whether it is generally applicable remains to be seen. He converts the sand into a sort of concrete by forcing into it cement in powder through a pipe by means of air pressure. The pipe has an internal diameter of about 1½ inches, and is drawn to a point at the lower end, in which there are three or more holes of about ⅝ inch diameter. The upper end is connected by a bend and rubber tubing with the air-pressure supply pipe in such a manner that the pipe can be raised, lowered and moved while the air-pressure is acting through it. In the air-pressure supply pipe provision is made, by means of suitable branches and stopcocks, for connecting an apparatus which by means of an injector device enables any desired quantity of cement powder to be fed into the air current. The air pressure, together with the cement powder, issues through the small openings at the lower end of the lance pipe, and is driven with considerable pressure into the sand foundation. This is very mobile where it is entirely under water, and consequently the blowing in of the cement produces a motion in the foundation pit similar to that in a vessel of boiling water, steam bubbles instead of air bubbles being formed. The cement carried by the air is retained by the wet sand and forms sand concrete. By the boiling motion an intimate mixture of the wet sand with the cement is effected. After the injection of air has ceased, the grains of sand in subsiding adhere very firmly together, and experiments have shown that a natural bed of sand, after having one fifth of its volume of cement injected into it, will, after the operation, occupy a smaller space than before; this was shown by the fact that the surface of the sand concrete lay deeper than that of the surrounding natural sand-bed. The introduction of the lance tube into the sand-bed is effected by first blowing air through it, so that the air issuing from the lower end forces back the sand and in setting it in motion renders the sinking of the tube to considerable depths, such as 16 to 19 feet, readily possible in a comparatively short space of time; this operation is rather more difficult when the bed is not purely sand, but contains large stones, wood, etc. In this case it may be necessary to raise the tube up again and to insert it at a different place so as to avoid the obstructions. In order to insure a uniform mixture the foundation pit is divided into small fields of from 8 to 12 inches square, and into each of these the required quantity of cement, which is ascertained by dividing the cubic contents of the field by the required proportion of the admixture, is blown. The lance tube is first sunk in each field down to the solid substratum by means of air pressure alone; when it has attained this depth, cement is supplied to the air current, and during the continued introduction of the cement powder the tube is slowly drawn upward until the required quantity of cement has been introduced.

In a recently finished hall the woodwork is in a greenish toned oak and the walls are hung with a paper of green blue tone. The design is the acanthus, treated in Romanesque style, with boldly flowing, continuous scroll work arranged perpendicularly, rising from wainscot to frieze. The various forms of the scrolls are picked out delicately by slender lines of gold and copper, which serve only to heighten the effect of the tone color. The frieze consists of a series of fillets or bands of blending shades of blue and green, outlined by threads of copper and bronze, capped by a continuous scroll of blue green acanthus twisted horizontally, as often seen in sculptured ornaments, and touched with suggestions of yellow, copper and gold. The picture rail dividing the frieze from the small screen is an ornate molding, enriched with reliefs of billet and dot moldings, inclosing a band of overlaid rings in diagonal panels in colored bronzes on a blue bronze ground. The ceiling field of the hall is in pale blue green, bordered by an acanthus design, frescoed in tone colors of the wall and frieze and traced with gold. A massive cornice of oak, enriched by carved details from the acanthus motif, supports the ceiling and divides it from the frieze and the wall screen with fine effect.—Decorator and Furnisher.

A NEW MEMORIAL WINDOW.

A memorial window has recently been placed in St. Stephen's P. E. Church, West 46th street, for August C. Grimm. The subject is St. Stephen distributing alms to the Grecian widows. The three figures are executed in drapery glass, the flesh being the only portion painted. The distant city and hills are realistically produced in opalescent glass and the entire effect is a charming example of ecclesiastic art.

A VALUABLE TRADE PAPER.

The August number of Ornamental Iron (the third number of the first volume) exceeds in the interesting nature of its matter and in the artistic character of its illustrations even the high standard set in the first number. It contains, besides other interesting matter, an instructive and interesting article on the galvano-plastic method of reproduction, with many illustrations from the extensive collection of matrices of the publishers, including examples of relief work from the antique and of the State Seals of Great Britain. There is also a descriptive article on "A New Fire-proof Construction," with drawings and photographic illustrations, an illustrated article on the Pabst building (Milwaukee, thirteen stories, 235 feet high), with details of the iron work in this and other notable buildings. The editorial department is vigorous and well abreast with the spirit of the times. Ornamental Iron is published in Chicago, monthly, by the Winslow Bros. Co., ornamental iron workers and constructors, and is devoted to industrial art. It is a good example of what an enterprising concern can do to further the development of organic art in its peculiar line. Architects and builders will find in its pages much to deeply interest them.

BILLIARD AND POOL TABLES.

In nearly all the houses that have been built in New York in recent years room has been provided for a billiard or pool table. People who haven't tried it don't know what an additional charm is given to every home by the possession of one of these tables. A good place to get one is of James Walker, a manufacturer, at No. 76 Bowery, who has been in the business over forty years.

REMARKABLE DECREASE IN BUILDING OPERATIONS.

In the following tables there is set forth a comparative statement of the number of building permits issued from the Building Departments of this city and Brooklyn in the two periods designated, in 1892 and 1893. It will be seen that in Brooklyn there has been a falling off of about 60 per cent in the number and nearly 70 per cent in the estimated cost of the buildings undertaken this year from the figures for the same period of 1892. In New York the falling off has not been so startling, although it is clearly significant of the general business and financial depression. The decrease in the number of buildings amounts to about 38 per cent, and in the estimated cost to about 24 per cent.

The many gabled roof of the Dakota apartment hotel is to be removed and a flat roof constructed in its place, flush with the side walls, this in order to secure more room.

* * * *

The seven large four story dwelling houses which Livingston & Dunn are rapidly bringing to completion in 88th street, near Riverside Drive, are among the finest examples of town-house construction which architectural and constructive skill have yet produced in this city. Gen. Egbert L. Viele, whose mansion is on the adjoining corner on Riverside Drive, said of them, that in an inspection of the residences in forty seven European cities last year he saw nothing so handsome.

James Livingston is about to begin the construction of the two houses which Architect Henry F. Cook will build in 76th street, near Central Park West. The houses will have fronts of granite with trimmings of Long Meadow stone.

* * * *

The four three-story houses being built by J. B. Gillie, on 88th street, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues, are approaching completion. This block was some time ago restricted, and there are only two or three vacant parcels remaining between these avenues.

* * * *

J. Livingston & Son's flats, on the northwest corner of Columbus avenue and 88th street, will be ready in a few months. They are of light buff brick and stone, and present a pleasing appearance.

* * * *

Messrs. Gibbons & Son have been awarded the contract for the erection and completion of a factory building on Irving street, near Van Brunt street, Brooklyn, for Messrs. Hill's Bros. & Co. G. P. Chappell, architect. The cost of the construction over foundation will be over $18,000, or about $25,000 including piling and concrete footings. Steel beams and hollow arch brick will be introduced in the several sections requiring fire-proof construction, and every improvement with a view to stability, security and convenience will be carefully attended to. The total cost, including the different apparatus, machinery, etc., will be in the neighborhood of $60,000.

Out Among the Builders.

John G. Williamson, the 3d avenue dry-goods merchant, will build a three-story dry-goods store covering the lots, on the two vacant lots on Columbus avenue, west side, between 82d and 83d streets. The cost has not yet been estimated.

Thomas Brennan (not the ex-Commissioner) is reported as about to build an eight story fire-proof apartment house or hotel on the 100x102.2 plot on the southwest corner of Amsterdam avenue and 80th street.

Out of Town.

CRANFORD, N. J.—Kenyon Parsons will erect an old Colonial residence, on plot 150x about 150, on Willow street.

WURTSBORO, N. Y.—Dehli & Chamberlin, of New York, are the architects for about a dozen cottages to be built at once on the grounds of the Sullivan County Club, near this village. Eight cottages built by stockholders are now completed, and one or two of them occupied, exclusive of the club-house, a very attractive structure, which was opened with due ceremony on Saturday last, about 175 members and their friends from New York and elsewhere being present. Alex. P. W. Kinnan, the treasurer, states that over thirty cottages will be completed by next spring.

Increasing Incomes at Small Cost.

HOW AN EXPENDITURE OF ABOUT $20,000 INCREASED A RENT ROLL $ 8,000 PER ANNUM—POINTS TO OWNERS OF OLD BUILDINGS.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Everyone in the real estate market is not acquainted with the facts about the alterations and additions to a well-known office building down town, which, by an expenditure of about $300,000, is said to have raised a rent roll of about $50,000 per annum up to $120,000, an increase of 23 per cent per annum on the cost of the improvements.

Of course, this was an extraordinary exception. But there are other cases where a largely increased income has resulted from a wise expenditure made on old or dilapidated buildings, or on structures that have been used for many years for a particular purpose, and which, by the clever alterations for other purposes by an architect, have brought their owners a vastly increased income at a comparatively small expenditure.

There are to day hundreds of buildings—it would be no exaggeration to say thousands—which are capable of just such treatment as the building referred to at the beginning of this letter.

This remark calls for an explanation, which can be given in a very few sentences.

There exist in New York to day several classes of property owned by men or women who are ignorant of the possibilities of increased incomes from such properties by judicious handling. Foremost among these are many office and other buildings in all parts of the city, built in an age when elevators were almost unknown, and when the modern accessories of steam heat, high-class plumbing, hardwood trim, mosaic flooring, marble tiling, etc., were rarely to be seen. The owners of these buildings have been contented to receive their rents, year by year, without setting their brains to think as to whether some improvements would not increase their rentals and secure permanent tenants. The result is that scores of old buildings, without elevators and other improvements, frequently have vacant offices and produce very low rents. These buildings, besides being elevatorless, are made additionally unattractive by unclean walls and ceilings, creaking stairs, wretched sanitary arrangements, and so on. If owners of such buildings would have the wisdom to call in a practical architect and obtain drawings and suggestions from him for their improvement, a large increase in rents would ensue for a small outlay in improvements. The method adopted by the architect would probably be to suggest the placing of an elevator in the building, to tear up the dirty floorings and replace them by clean wood, to make the entrance attractive by the use of mosaic or tile flooring and marble wainscoting, to decorate the walls with some attractive fire-proof or incombustible material, and to rip out the reeking old lead pipes and replace them with sanitary plumbing. Where the walls and foundations would permit of it, he would probably suggest the addition of an extra story or two, with numerous small offices. He would also rearrange the interior plan of each floor so as to produce offices of such a size as the market demand justified. And he would do this, in nine cases out of ten, without any serious loss of rents from a disturbance of the tenants. And when the changes were completed there would be little difficulty in filling the new, clean building with tenants, and the property would be appreciated in value accordingly.

Another class of owners are those who own private residences in localities where business is overtaking a residence centre—particularly in the case of corner buildings on prominent avenues. The illustration given herewith is one of the most remarkable instances of the recent alterations of this character made to the advantage of the possessor. The possessor in this case is no less a person than the ex Vice-President of the United States, Levi P. Morton, who is no doubt wondering why he allowed an able real estate agent to do what he could have done himself. The accompanying illustration shows the erstwhile Hotel Hamilton, on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 42d street, altered into the present Hotel Meurice, with stores and offices. The building has been owned for many years by Mr. Morton, who obtained a rental from it of $24,000 per annum. Mr. Morton made it known to Charles A. Seymour, the same broker who negotiated the $2,400,000 sale of the St. Luke's property, that he would be willing to spend $20,000 for alterations to the building when the old lease expired, and grant a lease at an extra sum of $1,000 per annum on the amount then obtained by him, which was practically charging 5 per cent extra per annum on the cost of the alterations. Mr. Seymour looked around for a lessee, but one day, having put on his best thinking-cap, he figured out that he himself could do just as well as any lessee with the property. A search was made for a competent architect to examine the building thoroughly with a view to its possibilities, and the architect selected was Geo. Palliser, of No. 489 5th avenue, a man of some thirty-four years of experience in practical building and architecture in this and other cities. After careful and laborious surveys and estimates he recommended that the first floor and basement of the hotel be so altered as to provide six large stores and offices on the basement and four on the first floor, and that the upper part of the building be retained as a hotel, with certain renovations and alterations—alterations of such a character that, some day in the future, the entire building might be utilized for office purposes.

Mr. Seymour then leased the building from Mr. Morton for twenty-one years, at an annual rent of $25,000, with the privilege of two renewals of twenty-one years each. He then turned around and leased the hotel part of the building and rented the stores and offices, besides retaining an office in the building for himself, and now, thanks to the architect's alterations, costing $30,000, the building rents for over $42,000, where it had previously rented for but $24,000, Mr. Seymour making a profit out of the transaction of about $18,000 per annum.

Another instance of recent occurrence, in the same direction, was a private house on 21st street, near 5th avenue, altered from plans by the same architect, by the way, the rent of which, by changing the first floor and basement for business and the floors above for bachelors' rooms and studios, was increased from $3,500 to $6,500, at an outlay of only $1,500, an increased rent of 200 per cent per annum on the outlay.

Here are points for reflection on the part of owners of properties capable of improvement. They will no doubt be read and taken to heart by many who are struggling along with buildings that, after continual repairs, taxes, insurance, and other incidental expenses are deducted, yield them a scanty 3 or 4 per cent on their money, when, by calling in the advising architect, they might easily secure a considerably increased income.

OBSERVER.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

There has been an encouraging increase this week in the number of sales of real property, and brokers generally are speaking hopefully about the prospects for fall business. It is significant, however, of the depressed condition of the market, that the selling is so largely confined to dwelling house property, and the prices actually obtained are so low. Owners have had to make concessions in order to effect the sales reported, and where this spirit has been shown brokers have had no great difficulty in effecting sales. Most of the regular West Side builders, however, declare that they are able to carry their holdings through the present depression, and will make no concessions. They have one important fact in their favor, viz.: that the market is not over well supplied with desirable houses, and before building is extensively resumed there is likely to be a very brisk demand for what are left. Investment properties are as firmly held and as inactive as they have been all summer.

A BIG AUCTION SALE OF TWENTY-THIRD WARD LOTS.

Auctioneer James L. Wells will, on Saturday next, September 23d, sell, at public auction, 138 lots included in the Vyse estate, in the 23d Ward. The property is situated in a rapidly improving district, and the sale offers good opportunities for small investors who want to be sure of an increase in the value of their purchases, with the growth of the city. The lots front on the Southern Boulevard and 167th street, two blocks only from the present terminus of the Westchester avenue electric railroad. The sale will take place at 1 o'clock, on the premises. Every auction sale of lots in this ward has resulted in profit to the purchasers. Send to Mr. Wells, at 59 Liberty street, for maps of the property.

PRICES OF LONDON REALTY.

As an evidence of the value at which the better class of investment realty is held in London, the following reported sale of Cornhill property will be of interest. Four old buildings, forming a block between the two entrances to Change alley, and covering a total of 2,500 square feet of ground, were sold at auction for £113,500, a sum equivalent to $552,347.75 in our money. The buildings have been removed, preparatory to the reimprovement of the property; consequently they cut no figure in the price which was paid for the lots. The rate per square foot was a little over $220.

INCREASE IN FORECLOSURE SUITS.

Real estate operators who go by the record have commented frequently of late upon the fact that the court records show a startling increase in the number of foreclosure suits that have been begun this season over the number for the same period of last year, and some of them are arguing from the fact that prices of realty must come down. The records show that between August 1st and September 15th last year 136 foreclosure suits were instituted, and that for the same period this year the number is 251. This shows an increase of about 90 per cent in the number of suits instituted. But the fact is not necessarily an occasion for alarm. Some of the suits instituted this year have already been settled and more of them are likely to be, so that there will probably not be a proportionate increase in the number of foreclosure sales. And furthermore, many of the pending suits are for the foreclosure of second mortgages, and others for the foreclosure of first mortgages where the sum loaned was so large that the lender or mortgagee fully expected to have to take the property, and in many instances fully intended to obtain the property if opportunity should ever furnish. This was the observation of so good a judge as Mr. Peter F. Meyer, when the facts regarding the large increase in the number of suits were called to his attention. Mr. Meyer said he did not expect any significant increase in the number of foreclosure suits until after New Years, when, if the financial conditions have not vastly improved, he believed there would be a general liquidation of real estate debts.

ANOTHER CROP OF NEW THEATRE RUMORS

On the authority of one D. C. Willoughby, who occupies an office in the Vanderbilt building, one of the daily newspapers yesterday published a "story" in which it was stated that "a new and beautiful theatre—the handsomest in America, I am told—is to be built in 5th avenue by Augustin Daly." The same gentleman gave it out that "a 5th avenue corner, not more than a stone's-throw from 46th street, was offered and promptly accepted by Mr. Daly, and now nothing remains to be done but to sign the contract for the property." He was the authority for the statement that a son of Director Quintard, of the Bowery Savings Bank, had been commissioned by Mr. Daly to buy him a theatre site, and out of these preliminaries grew the tale. Diligent inquiry yesterday failed to elicit anything to confirm this story. People who profess to know something about Augustin Daly's affairs said he would not be likely to undertake any such scheme—not just now.

Another theatre rumor was located by the same paper in David Belasco's mind. Mr. Belasco was said to have aspirations after managerial honors, and, after much persuasion, to have finally given his consent to a syndicate of wealthy friends who have been yearning to build a theatre for him for years. Mr. Belasco is reported as saying: "This will be no financial venture of my own. The syndicate will build a theatre and make me sole manager with full authority for a number of years. Who these backers are I am not at present prepared to say, but they are all well-known men and very wealthy and the capital they are ready to invest is $500,000." * * * "A site will be procured at once and the building of the new playhouse will be proceeded with without delay." If this "syndicate" or young Mr. Quintard should encounter any difficulty in finding eligible sites for their prospective playhouses we would be glad to have them communicate with us. We think we know of some parties that have such sites for sale—to any one who has money wherewith to buy.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The market for Common Hards is running along in just about the same old rut, although in some instances receivers appeared to be talking somewhat more cheerfully than one week ago Their claim was for a rather broader demand, an increased amount of stock being wanted in a few localities for immediate consumption and some purchases being made for piling out Buyers for the latter purpose evidently feel that cost can hardly go below the present general range of $4@5 and that probably they can get at least cost and carrying charges out of anything they may put away, because the selection made now would naturally be of first class quality. It is not, however, very difficult to pick out desirable parcels, as the bricks continue to run unusually good and even on the fancy market it is difficult to obtain the ordinary premiums. The quantity offering has been somewhat smaller, it is said, though buyers have at no time failed to secure prompt service with whatever they called for. Hales were not particularly plenty, but demand for them amounted to almost nothing even with probability that quick buyers could get very easy figures. At points of production much the same state of affairs prevails as of late advised. Some manufacturers in consequence of having made new labor contracts at reduced cost are making more brick than they intended a short time ago, and others as they complete the quantity called for in leases are shutting down and the shadow of the end of the season can be seen. It is not unlikely that if the condition of the market fails to improve that general production will cease earlier than usual this year.

CEMENT.—As a rejoinder to the statement given last week a letter, of which the following is a copy, has been sent to Washington by one of our local importers:

Chairman, Ways and Means Committee, Washington:

SIR—Mr. R. W. Lesley, one of the selling agents for American cement, is represented as giving before you his reason for the retention of present duty on imported cement, viz., eight (8) cents per 100 pounds in barrels and bags on Portland, Roman and other hydraulic cement. I respectfully submit for your consideration the true facts

Mr. Lesley states that cement comes in practically as ballast, the rate of freight being as low as 10 to 15 cents per barrel, as against 30 to 40 cents to the same points from American works.

New York city is the chief point for importation. The rate of freight by steamers from London to New York by the different steamship lines is uniform and established for the season annually to the months of March and April. For the year 1889 it was 10s per ton, 43 38 100c. per bbl; for the year 1890 it was 8s 6d per ton, 36 90 100c per bb; for the year 1891 it was 8s 6d per ton, 36 90-100c per bbl; for the year 1892 it was 6s 6d per ton, 28 15-100c per bbl; for the year 1893 it is 5s per ton, 21 76-100c per bbl.

The importation by sailing vessels from London is insignificant. From Continental ports the freight by steamer is a little higher than from London, but a considerable quantity is imported by sailing vessels, so that the average freight is a little less than from London, but the additional insurance for sailing vessels brings it to about the same.

I take it that as Mr. Lesley refers to the price of English cement, he makes it the basis of comparison.

Mr. Lesley's statement that cement comes in practically as ballast freight is, therefore, refuted. The statement that it costs 30 to 40 cents per barrel to bring cement from American works to New York is possibly correct.

I would point out that imported cement is sold at places where the freight from Atlantic ports is much higher than from American cement works, and buyers assert that the reason for paying the increased cost for imported cement is because of its superior quality and greater suitability.

Mr. Lesley states that cement is essentially a labor product and labor to the extent of 90 to 95 per cent of the selling price entered into that price.

In order to refute this fiction, I would state that in Europe cement is sold by the ton and delivered to the buyer in the package and of the weight desired. For the United States and other markets it is packed in barrels as most easily handled, and the average weight per barrel is 4 0 pounds. Importation of cement in bulk is not feasible, and if packed in sacks it is liable to damage from dampness and loss of contents through injury. The cost of the barrel is 1s 6d to 2s, say 36 to 40 cents, according to quality. The cost of making by hand or machinery is inconsiderable, the wooden staves and heads, iron and wood hoops are the largest item of expense. Labor, therefore, does not enter into the cost of making the package to the extent of 90 to 95 per cent. Cement in England is made from chalk and clay. Manufacturers have to make large investments in land to obtain the raw products, or if they buy from venders it costs 1s 6d to 2s 6d per ton coke for the burning. Fuel for engines and replacement or repair of grinding and other machinery cannot be classed as labor.

I assert that the actual item of labor does not exceed 40 per cent of the selling price. The increased and increasing importation of cement is due to its larger employment and the price to the consumer has been lowered through the lessened cost of manufacture, whilst quality has been bettered by improved methods. The aggregate margin of profit to manufacturers and importers being greater on the larger scale, though the profit on each barrel may be less than when a smaller business was done. I submit for your consideration:

(1) Ocean freight, insurance and import expenses increase the cost of cement f. o. b. London 20 to 25 per cent, according to port of importation, which is protection to an American manufacturer.

(2) That a specific duty of 4 cents per 100 lbs be assessed on all cement, which would furnish a large revenue to the Government.

(3) That section No. 3024 of Revised Statutes, in as far as it effects cement, be repealed.

This section inflicts on buyers of cement out side the United States a penalty of 3 cents per 100 pounds, or 12 cents per barrel, for the privilege of buying cement in bond in the United States, and is a restriction to foreign trade; its enforcement has been a loss of freight to vessels trading between United States ports and West Indies, South America and Mexico, and of wages for labor connected with shipping and warehousing. Yours respectfully,

FLEMING CEMENT AND BRICK COMPANY,
HOWARD FLEMING, President.

LATH.—It has been a slow and uninteresting market, with no quotable change in cost. Whether expected or not, some arrivals have taken place, and while most of them were sold there seemed to be just about as much stock as the market really required, and the latest cargo deal was at $2, to go to neighboring city. That price is all that could be made among the local line of custom as demand now stands, but a few dealers simultaneously calling for stock would make considerable difference probably, especially should they happen to be in any great hurry, as there is nothing just now available and limited offerings afloat. Manufacturers send word that they cannot afford to ship at ruling rates.

LIME.—Since the advance noted in our last, nothing further of importance has developed. Of course, under the direction of the Eastern Association, all agents here are compelled to work in harmony and support the price, but they cannot control the demand, and that has been limited and indifferent. Dealers called for only enough to give them a fair working supply and of several cargoes coming to hand, quite a portion remains unsold. The State production is finding natural proportionate attention.

LUMBER.—Not much of a market can be expected where neither buyers or sellers make any special effort to urge business. The actual consumer at the moment is a most decidedly indifferent customer, and furnishes trade of simply a routine sort of character by calling for small odd lots, such as may from time to time be required for some momentary special wants, and cut no great figure in reducing yard stocks. Manufacturers are making up only enough supply in the line of their various specialties to give them a working assortment. Builders want scarcely a foot beyond what may be due on old engagements, and the call for parcels to be shipped to other localities is for the time being about suspended. Dealers in consequence still find themselves without an incentive to manifest other than a passive interest regarding supplies for renewals, and canvassing this market in search of trade for bulk parcels does not bring with it many satisfactory results. Indeed, on a simple random offering of almost any description of stock the seller remains at a serious disadvantage, and even where negotiations can be opened for special cuts and assortments, such as numerous dealers are pretty sure to feel the necessity for engaging, there is a drag and a measure of close figuring, standing in strong contrast to what is ordinarily looked for at this season of the year. Values remain upon a very uncertain basis, so much so that quotations must again be applied for on account of their exceedingly nominal character.

The improvement in the situation, financial and commercial, as a matter of course is a relief to the entire business community, but many lumbermen seem to think it will only benefit them just now in straightening out old difficulties and perfecting delayed settlements, an idea based upon the assumption that the season is too far gone for the development of animation in their particular branch of trade. Fair consumption of staple goods and more or less buying for supplies it is reasonable to expect before the close of navigation, but a greater number of customers seem likely to risk the winter with small stocks than ever before, taking the chances of winter transportations and freight charges should the necessity for investment present itself. There is nothing at the moment to clearly show just how that disposition will be met. Current offerings of most grades of stock are comparatively small, and it is in the interest of sellers to say they will order no increase while the market is in its unpropitious state, yet occasionally certain movements lend color to the suggestion that mill men must have money for settlements falling due, and the most natural way of getting it would be to sell some of their supplies. There are exceptions to the rule, of course, for those who can afford to carry stocks and await better times and will do so, but it is a question whether their influence is sufficiently potent to act as a sustaining factor for the entire market.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES

STATE.

The Albany Argus as follow :

The feeling is improved, although trade is yet dull, and there is not much activity in the district. With the improvement in financial matters and renewed activity in other lines of trade, the lumber business will take a fresh start. It is too late, however, for dealers to hope for much demand from the building trades this year. Receipts of pine lumber are ample, and when purchasers come, they will find good assortments here. Prices are fairly steady, there being little tendency to shade old figures. Spruce and hemlock moves fairly, some good orders arriving recently.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The battered condition of finances has begun to tell favorably on the lumber trade. This is especially noticeable along the great lakes and in the wholesale markets. It is also observable at Minneapolis and other Mississippi river points. In this city the wholesale trade has taken a fresh start. Orders and shipments have increased, and inquiries point to a greatly enlarged trade in the near future. The cargo business is also showing signs of revival. The local monetary stringency has so far relaxed that dealers can now procure funds of the banks with which to purchase lumber. The banks are beginning to discount good paper. This improved tone is beginning to be felt at mill points. The movement of lumber eastward from Green bay and Lake Superior mills is also increasing. At Menominee and Marinette some of the mills have already begun to run night shifts, and it is stated that within a short time all the mills at the mouth of the Menominee will be running nights as well as days. Though the season will probably be shorter than usual, there is likely to be a lively run until the final closure, and there is a possibility that the season will finally be well rounded out.

At Manistee inquiry and actual demand are increasing, and the prospect is that the residue of the season will be characterized by a fair outward movement of mill product.

At Saginaw valley points business has taken a sudden and pronounced start toward a better state of things. Shipments in one week increased over shipments of the previous week to the amount of 1,800,000 feet. Yard shipments are also increasing, with good prospects for the remainder of the season.

At Chicago there is some improvement in market conditions, but not so much in actual sales as in inquiry and prospects. The demand is strongest on piece stuff, and the price for that class of stock is rather firmer than a short time ago. The commission men are asking $9 a thousand as the bottom price and less is heard of lumber selling at $8.50 than before this week. It is probable that bedrock has been reached for the season in respect to cargo prices of piece stuff.

While there has not been any particular increase in the demand for poplar during the past week, a few more inquiries are noted from some sections and the prospects generally are improved. Factories that ordinarily use large quantities of poplar, but which have been shut down for a month or more, are either starting up or getting ready to do so, and as none of them have large supplies of lumber on hand, it means a rapid increase in the demand as soon as they are fairly under way.

With the number of mills that are shut down in the producing sections shipments are even now about equal to the production, and dry stock is no more plentiful than it was before the present stringency began. Logs are scarce at all the mills and the crop this winter is certain to be light. All these things considered the prices for poplar lumber are more likely to advance than to decline.

CANADA.

The Monetary Times says:

The financial stringency in the United States has had a very deadening effect upon transactions in Canadian lumber for the past six weeks or two months. American merchants either would not buy, or those who had given orders delayed or cancelled them. Hence, there has been an exceptional condition of the lumber market here. Foreign demand being checked, there has been greater pressure to sell to home dealers, but without resulting in any great volume of business. The cloud in the United States is lifting however, and some disposition to trade with us is shown this week. Stocks of Canadian pine lumber are light, we are told, both at Ottawa and along the line of the Northern. It is further likely that the American operators who have purchased timber limits in Canada will, for obvious reasons, make but a light cut of logs next winter. These considerations should go far to correct any present feeling of weakness in the market arising from the present lack of American demand.

ENGLAND.

The Timber Trades' Journal says that the London market shows renewed signs of weakness, for which it is difficult to account except on the ground of scarcity or dearness of money. The figures made at auction this week are anything but satisfactory, and must, in the majority of cases, have left a loss on import prices. We hear the reason ascribed to the absence of many of the smaller buyers, who, although anxious to purchase, are unable in many cases to find cash down in exchange for transfer, for which they would almost certainly be asked. The absence of this competition leaves the field open to stronger buyers, who often succeed in turning over their purchases, shortly after the sale, at a fair profit on credit terms to firms who, in the ordinary way, would be their rivals. Whatever the cause, the weakness of London prices as compared with what is doing in the country is sufficiently remarkable, and at present there appears no immediate prospect of that rally in values which is so confidently predicted in various quarters. Satisfactory prices are said to be paid by small retail buyers, and contractors are taking good quantities of prime goods. Importers are open for best, but common stuff is difficult of sale, except in 3x1 yellow, for which the inquiry is still active.

METALS.—Copper Ingot has made quite a decided gain in tone since our last report. Further considerable demand from foreign customers increased the engagements for export to quite a large amount, and gave a hint to home consumers upon which they acted freely and with some hustle, but with quiet method. Present offerings are to consequence comparatively limited, and holders' ideas quite firm at advanced cost. On the average range of valuation we quote at 9¾@10c. for Lake and 9½@9¾c. for casting brands. Manufactured copper finds no unusual attention from any quarter, but the demand has in some degree increased to expand a trifle, which in connection with the advance in crude material induces a firmer tone, and suggestion of rate cutting are less frequent. We quote as follows: Sheet, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 28c.; do, under 8 oz. 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz. and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 33c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz.; 1c. 14 to 16 oz.; 1c. 12 to 14 oz. 1c. for 10 to 12 oz., and 12c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 24c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 26c. do 12 to 14 oz, 28c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 32c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz.; 25@c. for 16 to 32 oz, 27@29c., for 14 to 16 oz. and 29@34c. for 12 to 14 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz. 24c.; 14 oz, 26c.; 12 oz 27c.; and 10 oz, 29c. Bolt copper, 4g inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, segments and pattern sheets, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 4c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 5c. do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottoms, 26@32c. per lb. IRON—American Pig has been shaded in cost on the leading brands, and other manufacturers had to follow. There was no special stimulus given to business by the lower rate ruling, but the movement of small lots is commencing to pick up somewhat, as the necessities of dependent custom compel the handling of a working supply. Offerings are quite equal to all calls made. We quote at $14.00@14.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $13.00@13.50 for No. 2 X do. and $11.50@12.50 for Gray Forge. Old material has secured considerable attention since the opening of the month, and still finds demand. The supply available proved somewhat greater than anticipated, but fair rates could be obtained. We quote at $15.00@15.50 for old iron rails; $14.00@14.50 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $11.00@12.00

offers a complete protection against
DRY ROT, FUNGI, MILDEW, MOLD AND CRYPTOGAMS,
and is available for both Wood-work and Masonry.

This new substance is a product of the FARBEN-FABRIKEN vorm. FRIEDR. BAYER & CO., Elberfeld, Germany. It has been thoroughly examined and tested by Professors V. MILLER and HALZ, who have stated that

"ANTINONNIN IS A PEERLESS PREVENTATIVE OF MILDEW."

The Chief Inspector of Buildings at Munich, Herr STETTNER, and many architects and builders, have indorsed this view.

Antinonnin is odorless, non volatile, soluble in water, and makes eligible mixtures with Lime and other distemper applications.

Antinonnin penetrates wood and remains in it, forming a perfect protection against fungi, mildew, and continuous dampness.

Antinonnin is far superior to Tar Oils, Carbolineum and similar preparations on account of its freedom from odor, ease of application, its lasting properties, and its EXTRAORDINARY POWER AS A DESTROYER of all fungoid growths and all organisms which favor dampness and mildew.

ANTINONNIN

is the best application now known for the MASONRY and WOOD WORK OF CELLARS, STOVE HOLES, WINE VAULT, LAUNDRIES, STABLES, WATER-CLOSETS, all OUT HOUSES and all structures exposed to the influences of damp.

Antinonnin may be mixed with pure water, lime water or whitewash, and applied with a brush or sponge for cast scrap, 13.5 @14 for old car wheels, and $7.00 @10.50 for borings, stove plate, etc. Manufactured iron remains dull. A previous prevailing demand for architectural work, repairs, etc., has in a great measure subsided, and it is now quite a difficult matter to secure any respectable sized order. General valuations, however, remain about as before. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary size, at 1.80@1.90c. from store, and refined at 1.90@2.20c; Rods round and square, 2.10@2.20c.; Bands, 2.20@2.30c.; Norway Nail Rods, 3¾@4c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 3.00@—c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1.10c. less on large lots from car. Steel rails have received scarcely any attention, and it is reported that some of the orders on books have been cancelled. There is no official announcement of change in value but orders are solicited in a manner to indicate that quick buyers would get some advantages. We quote standard sections $29 per ton at mill, with usual advances for delivery at tide water. Pig lead meets with a somewhat irregular and not particularly extensive demand, buyers acting as though controlled by somewhat unusual custom. Yet the market has of late shown quite a decided undertone of strength, based upon and supported by the small spot supply, moderate additional offerings and firmness displayed at primal markets. We quote at 3.90 @4c. per lb. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 6¼c. for Pipe, 7c. for Sheet, 15c. for Tin-lined Pipe, and 37½c. for Block Tin Pipe. Pig tin has met with a better demand from actual consumers this month than for a long while previous, a natural strengthening influence upon values following and bracing up the position against occasional attacks from the bearish speculative element. We quote at about 20½@20.15c. for round lots, and 20¼@20.30c for jobbing parcels. Tin plate finds demand somewhat erratic, but on the whole inclined to improve, and it has a healthy influence upon the general tone of the market, values in some instances showing greater strength. We quote as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment Melyn grade, $6.35@6.37½ each additional X add $1.50; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.60@5.65, each additional X add $1; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.35@7.40; M. F. grade, 20x28, 15@15.05; Worcester, 14x20, $5.70@5.75; Worcester, 20x28, $11.35@11.40; Dean grade, 14x20, $5.3 @5.37½; Dean grade, 20x28, $10.50@10.7?; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $5.10@5.15; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $10.10@10.15; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade 5.20@5.25; J. B. grade, 14x20, 5.30@5.35; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.60@—— basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.05@—— basis. Spelter has remained under control and holders offered supplies with some showing of indifference, while on values good strength was shown. The demand proved a little irregular. We quote 3.80@4c. for Common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—The market is spoken of somewhat more cheerfully. Local wants are small and unimportant, but out of town custom sends in a larger number of orders and a fair aggregate movement is reached Production is limited to a moderate compass compared with what is usual at this season and in pretty much all cases prices are held steadily. We quote Cut at $1.05@1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.35@1.40 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.35@1.40 for car lots, and $1.75@1.80 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—A great deal of the old cautious spirit is observed by pretty nearly all lines of custom, and buyers cannot be hurried in their movements. There is nevertheless a greater amount of business doing in the way of distributing goods to interior points where assortments are understood to be very low. That is due to the gradual exhaustion of reserve accumulations during the period when jobbers were afraid to risk stocking stock and the natural necessity for renewal arising with the progress of the season. Staple goods are most in favor, the business being of a thoroughly practical character. So far as known no quotable changes have taken place in prices, and rumors of cutting are less frequent, even on white lead. Corroders' rates stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 7¼c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6¾c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 6¾c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 6½c.; kegs. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c.; and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price Terms on lots on 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent. discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corroding point. Linseed Oil shows more or less irregularity on the poor grades and less popular brands, but first-class stock is well held, and offered only at steady valuation. We quote on general range at 37@40c. for Western, 42@45c. for City from domestic seed, and 61@62c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine does not meet with much demand beyond the natural and regular trade call, which together with somewhat fuller arrivals has a weakening effect upon the tone of market and rates are easier. We quote at 29½@30½c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand fluctuates somewhat, but as a rule is conducted on the method of taking only just so much stock as may be needed for actual wants. The offerings have been fair without proving excessive and former rates were generally accepted. We quote Tar at $1.90@1.95 in pine or Wilmington bbls., $2.00@2.05 in pork bbls., and $3.70@3.75 in oil bbls., Pitch $1.50@1.70.

LUMBER.
Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors and, altogether, it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable in character.

VOL. LII. SEPTEMBER 23 1893. No. 1,338

IF the Street, meaning the professional element in the stock market, was consulted, there would be a rapid and large decline in the price of stocks. But, as it happens, brokers are carrying comparatively few stocks, the non-professional element has them and shows a strong disinclination to part with them at current figures. This explains why, after so many announcements of an imminent fall in prices, spread over the last twenty-one days and coming from men who are regarded as leaders by the Street, prices have not declined at all. The Senate has helped the bears all it can and partisan newspapers, which are pledged to the support of the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman Act, have also assisted them by greeting recent movements in the House as a menace to the cause of repeal. But the holders of stocks have clung to their properties, taking the common sense view that it is not probable that a large majority of the Senate will allow it to become a principle of our parliamentary procedure that any strong-lunged minority, however small, can effectually stop legislation it disapproves. If prices were high for the commercial circumstances of the times and money scarce there would be no difficulty in depressing them, but being as they are there is no apparent reason why long stock should be forced out, and without an accompanying shedding of long stock short sales are apt to involve the seller in considerable loss. Much stress is being laid by people desiring lower prices on the rise in the rate of exchange, though nothing can be more natural than that European funds, which were attracted here by the high rates for money and the premium on currency, should now return that money is cheap and the premium for currency has disappeared. Investments of the first class having gone back to their normal basis of small returns the low prices of investments of inferior class show where there will be employment for not only European but home capital also as soon as buyers can be made confident on the currency question. There are several reorganizations, too, only awaiting this to be perfected and many other things that can soon find use for the money now piling up in the banks. It remains to be seen whether the persistence of the bearish element can meet with success. Of the general business condition the large daily retirements of clearing house certificates and the growth of the volume of clearances are favorable indications.

THE course which the "Silver" Senators are following is not only very unpatriotic, but exceedingly unwise. The business people of this country are not likely to be very favorably impressed as to the righteousness or rationality of an issue that has to be kept on its parliamentary legs by filibustering and avowed obstructionary tactics.

THE effort making in certain quarters to divide the fight against the Sherman Act by calling attention to the attempt to repeal the Federal Elections law is very reprehensible "politics." The extra session of Congress was called primarily for action upon the monetary situation. The House has already done its duty and is free to consider other legislation, but the Senate is in no such position. Its first duty is a plain and direct one and cannot be shirked or involved in other issues.

THE civilized portion of the United States remains unpleasantly dumb concerning the recent barbaric orgies at Roanoke. Do we sympathize with the butchery, or are we satisfied with merely characterizing these exhibitions of utterly ferocious inhuman African brutality as "sectional affairs?" Not alone the South, the entire nation is concerned. The reputation of the United States among the civilized people of the world stands as a whole, it cannot be divided into parts so that the vices and excesses of one section may be regarded as nullified by the virtues or temperances of some other section. Who will declare that any nation that permits anywhere within its borders the burning of certain of its criminals upon popular suspicion without trial, without opportunity for legal defence, is civilized? It is ridiculous to ask this question anywhere, save in Africa and of the "gentlemen of the South." Surely it is time that the Nation, the American people, took cognizance of these outrages and demanded that respect be shown to its good name and the common requirements of humanity. The black spot is growing. Outrage is following outrage with increasing rapidity; the sentiment in the South regarding these brutalities is hardening, and these dastardly "crimes of the community" are becoming more and more atrocious.

IF not now, then at what precise point will the country intervene to stop these barbarities? They will progress in iniquity as surely as human nature is as it is, until some day— who cares to imagine a direr deed to follow that recent hideous event when amid the delighted cries of a community that calls itself Christian and American a woman set fire to a living human being saturated with petroleum! The punishment of crime, the severe punishment of heinous offenses can not be confounded with or used as an excuse for these stupendous crimes against humanity. Moreover, don't let any one imagine that the "sectional affair" interpretation puts these matters securely at arm's distance from him. In immorality, "sections" are mobile in outline and tend to overlap. Only last week, be it remembered, the long unpunished train robberies in the West began to bear fruit within a few hours' ride of New York City.

Architectural Results of the Fair.—II.

IN a previous article the chief architectural result of the World's Fair as affecting the general public—the awakening of a new interest in the possibilities of architecture—was briefly touched upon. Its interests to the architect is almost as great. Yet a word of limitation is needed, for apart from the buildings there is not nearly so much for the architect as should have been expected nor as is warranted by the great size and broad scope of the exhibition. The architectural display, save in the way of drawings, is meagre and utterly unworthy of the occasion and the resources of current American architecture. There is a surprising paucity of architectural exhibits. Building materials, both stones and clays, have, indeed, their place in the Mines and Mining Building, but while many of the collections shown are full and complete—that of the State of New York being particularly so—there are no guides to tell one of the individual qualities of the stones, nothing, in fact, save their names and localities. This naturally leaves much to be desired and it is difficult to see how these displays are to help producers save in their own states or immediately adjacent neighborhoods, where their specific qualities are already known and appreciated. Had these objects been arranged with a view to architectural possibilities, had some steps been taken to enable architects to familiarize themselves with their properties, and thus determine the real building quality of similar stones from different quarries, a really valuable and useful exhibit would have been made.

Nor is the collection of building devices, methods of construction and the various appliances and apparatus used in building, all of which have been carried to a very high degree of development in this country, much better. In fact it is distinctly worse, since while the aggregate of the materials exhibits is not inconsiderable, there is very little to be seen in the way of artificial products, and scarcely anything at all illustrative of methods of construction. It is the same with the sanitary exhibits, since, apart from a well-assorted line of water-closets, the collections under this head are few, and, considering their importance and what might have been shown, wholly unrepresentative. It is impossible not to regret such a showing in departments of the highest value, nor to censure too severely those responsible for this state of affairs, whether it be the exposition authorities or the indifference of the manufacturers. The foreign collections in these groups are very much slighter than the American, as might be expected, but there is no shadow of excuse for important sections of what may be called practical architecture being almost unrepresented.

The architect at the Fair, therefore, in search of new ideas, new methods, new materials, new systems of construction, new applications of old devices and new devices themselves, will find himself disappointed; there is scarcely anything to interest or instruct him in these particulars. And this is especially to be regretted since, with a little well-directed effort, a little energy on the part of the architects, a magnificent series of exhibits might have been shown. As it is, apart from the drawings in the Fine Arts Palace, both the architect and the public must fall back upon the buildings as the chief feature of the architectural display.

But four countries, England, France, Germany and America, make any considerable display of architectural drawings. America comes first in the list, so far as numbers go, England and Germany next, and France last of all, a really astonishing condition, since the French are the most active architectural students in the world and are universally recognized as the leaders in this great art.

There is no hint of this in the collection at Chicago, since, with scarce an exception, the French drawings are devoid of interest save as examples of draughtsmanship. In this particular they will well repay study, especially in the art of making an architectural drawing architectural and not picturesque, as is the vogue in America. Some compensation is afforded in the French section by a magnificent collection of casts of French architecture from the Trocadero at Paris, and which, fortunately for Chicago, are to remain in that city.

The German collection is absolutely valueless in point of design, though the models of some new Berlin churches in the German Romanesque are interesting studies. The drawings are remarkable for their immense size, exceeding, in many instances, the large French drawings. English architecture stands somewhat nearer American, though here also there are many fundamental differences in design and treatment, and the absence of the high building from English architectural practice renders the few business structures shown of little value to the American architect. But in draughtsmanship many of these may be most profitably studied. The size of the drawings is usually much too small for properly representing architectural subjects; but some of the pen and ink work is of an astonishing fineness of execution and will amply repay extended study. It should be added that many of the English drawings are old and should not under any circumstances have been sent to Chicago.

As for the American drawings the architect will find nothing new in them, since they simply represent recent work, and have thus been seen in other exhibitions. Though almost wholly wanting in illustrations of construction and detail, the collection is an interesting and fairly representative one, and may be profitably studied in a comparative fashion with the architectural drawings of other countries. But neither in these nor in the other architectural exhibits will the architect or the public find what might have been expected, and which should, both by reason of its own importance and the progress America has made in them, have been shown. The greatest architectural international exhibition the world has seen is the most deficient in architectural exhibits, and its architectural results, save in the matter of monumental design, is likely to be small.

THE Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company is surely doing all that could reasonably be expected of it to promote the project of municipal construction and ownership of an underground rapid transit railroad. By diminishing the number of trains to the lowest indispensable number, by packing the trains far beyond their seating capacity during these hot days when elbow-room and breathing space are necessary not only for comfort but for health as well, and by making long waits necessary on the seatless station platforms, the company is fast alienating the few friends it has left, and is giving an illustration to all sane people of the hopelessness of expecting real rapid transit from any corporation operated for profit. The Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company's management from the railroad man's and the stockholder's point of view is the nearest approach to perfection this country has ever known. This means that the passengers are being "handled" with the least possible number of trains and operatives in order to keep expenses at a minimum. But from the rapid transit point of view the road is doing worse even than in the busy seasons. Let it be remembered that this is the Corporation into whose hands some people would place the permanent solution of the Rapid Transit problem!

A FAIRLY satisfactory degree of activity has been shown in residence property this week, the business consummated being pretty well distributed over the upper part of the city. The sale of a 5th avenue house and lot, between 54th and 55th streets, is the leading transaction of the week, and the figure at which it was sold fairly well sustains the range of values to which 5th avenue property has within the last eighteen months advanced. While our records show little or nothing being done in investment and down-town business property, inquiries that have been made lead us to believe that the fall season has begun, and that a moderate amount of trading in all lines of property is in early prospect. In the meantime nothing would be more injudicious than to attempt by artificial means to give an unreal semblance of life and activity to a market that is just beginning to feel the stimulus of stronger financial conditions.

THE retention of the Tweed Court House as part of the scheme for the new Municipal Building is certain to receive rather more opposition than is perhaps yet expected in official quarters. There is not an architect of repute in this city to-day who does not regard the preservation of the Court House as most ill-advised, and as positively preclusive of the attainment of the highest artistic success with the new building. Every architect who has submitted plans in the competition will admit that the retention of the Tweed monstrosity on Chambers street has been an obstacle which he has not been able to surmount to his own satisfaction; and we understand the professional advisers of the Commission having charge of the new building are and from the first have been opposed to the present plan. Later on, when the competitive plans are exhibited, the public will take this matter into consideration, and the result will be the loss of much time and labor.

"Consistency is a Jewel."

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

While opinions differ in both Houses of Congress as to the desirability of repealing the Sherman Act, it seems to be almost unanimously conceded that before adjournment measures of some kind must be taken to expand the volume of currency, so as to give the people a larger supply of money. The means of doing so are various. Amongst them are: 1st, authorizing National banks to issue currency up to the par value of their bonds deposited; 2d, for the government to put out legal tenders on its own credit; and 3d, to authorize State banks to issue currency based on securities to be approved by the general government. In addition to these there are other measures of more or less value and practicability, but all are directed to the same end. Now every intelligent man will concede without argument, that any kind of currency which may be issued, must be kept at a par with gold; as otherwise we should have two sorts of money of different and changeable values, and our whole monetary system would thus fall into chaos and contempt. There is but one perfect way of preserving this parity, and that is, to place the control of the system under which the currency may be issued in the hands of the government, as any other control would not be of universal application, and consequently would be defective and ineffectual.

It follows from this that the United States becomes, as a mere matter of necessity, the ultimate guarantor of every dollar issued under any practicable and honest system, which is precisely the position which a great nation should occupy towards its circulating medium. Neither is there any danger in its doing so, provided only that its credit is good and that it keeps on hand a sufficient reserve in gold to inspire confidence and redeem on demand such part of the notes as may be presented for payment. And this is exactly what is done by every first-class nation in Europe, what the United States has done in the past thirty years, and the only possible thing for it to do in the future.

But here comes in a remarkable paradox, and I confess that I am unable either to understand or to solve it. If more currency, redeemable in gold, is to be put in circulation without increasing the gold reserve back of it; why is it less dangerous to put it out on simple credit alone, than it is to put it out against silver purchased and held as collateral? Why is it that the very legislators who are pale with fear at the thought of issuing more silver certificates, are at the same time clamoring for more money, based on nothing at all but credit, the guarantor and the reserve being the same in both cases? Or, if it is right and safe to inflate the currency and to increase the gold reserve held for its redemption; why, then, is it wrong, and how, then, is it unsafe to issue more silver certificates, if only the gold reserve is also increased to protect them?

Is there some subtle and deadly venom in a redeemable silver certificate which does not lurk in any other form of redeemable paper currency, or is it because the silver itself is back of the guarantors' liability, thus becoming a source of danger instead of, as ordinarily supposed, a measure of additional security? If this latter supposition is true, we can escape the whole difficulty by pitching the collateral into the sea and changing the name of the certificates, and then we should be in accord with President, Cabinet, legislators and journals, and thus escape the dire calamities in store for us, while we keep the silver bullion in vaults and call the money issued silver certificates. I have never believed in the Sherman Act simply because I don't see any sense in buying up and storing silver, which we refuse to use as money, but as to its being in reality a menace to our credit, or a source of danger, there is no more danger in it than there is in any other kind of inflation, as in either case all that is necessary is to provide and keep up a gold reserve sufficient for their redemption. In a subsequent letter I propose, with your permission, to show that the present circulating medium is not sufficient for the wants of our people, but meantime I should like to be informed, why the Sherman Act, irrespective of its other features, is a bad or dangerous form of adding a gradual increase to the money of the people.

ROBERT A. CHESEBROUGH.

A Modified Underground Rapid Transit Route.

Among the many projects that are pending before the Rapid Transit Commission is a new one in which some people profess to see greater promise of success than in any that have preceded it. It is a proposition said to have been made by Ryan & McDonald and other representatives of the men who built the new Croton Aqueduct, to construct the underground road substantially along the route and upon the plans originally prepared by the Rapid Transit Commission, with this important variation: that below Union square to City Hall Park, the road shall follow the line of the proposed new Elm street. That is, instead of coming down Broadway the road shall diverge from Broadway at Union square and run down 4th avenue to 9th street, and thence through Lafayette place and the widened and extended Elm street to City Hall Park. The object and advantage of this plan lies in the fact that the construction of the road could go on simultaneously with the improvement of the street, and could be done by open cut. By this plan, also, the cable railroad shive-pit at Houston street, would be avoided and the objections of abutting property-owners overcome. The construction of the road between the Battery and 14th street on the Broadway line has always been considered the most difficult and expensive, and the almost unanimous objection to open cut work has rendered it all but impossible. If, however, the route should be shifted to Elm street, which parallels Broadway, the mechanical work of construction would be cheapened by two thirds at least, and would be a comparatively easy task. If, also, the work could be done at the same time with the street improvement a great deal of the attendant obstruction to traffic would be overcome and both works could be done at less cost than they could be done separately. From City Hall Park the road would continue on down to the Battery, either through Park row and Broadway or under the Park to Broadway. Whenever this plan has been mentioned the criticisms have been of a favorable character. Of course the scheme is to have the Municipality build and own the road.

NEWS OF THE BUILDING TRADE.

NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO BUILD.

The conditions now existing in the building trades are exceedingly favorable for building operations. It is a long time since the labor market has been so well supplied with first-class workmen, or so free from strikes and demagogical agitation. Any work that is begun this fall is likely to meet with no obstruction from the labor unions. Then again material men are so short of orders that any reasonable call upon them could be quickly supplied and at lower prices than have ever before prevailed. Another inducement might be found in the fact that, although the total value of projected buildings for the first six months of this year was slightly larger than for the same period of 1892, there has actually been a great decrease in the number of houses and flats built this year—the aggregate figures having been so largely made up of the cost of new office buildings. This would indicate that, with only a fairly active fall market, the supply of dwelling houses will run down before the spring season begins, below the normal supply. All things considered, persons having building operations in contemplation, will hardly again find the conditions so propitious as they are just now.

A NOVELTY IN BATH-TUBS.

In one of the new West Side houses there was seen last week the first example in this city of a bath-tub constructed upon the plan in general use in first-class hotels and public baths in Europe. With so many mechanics in the building trades in this city who are of European nativity and education it is surprising that the plan has been so long in gaining a trial. It consists in depressing the bath-tub to a level with the bath-room floor. In the principal hotels of Germany, where this type of tub may be seen at its finest, the construction is first, of a hardwood tank suspended from the floor beams and fitted with all the plumbing. Then this tank is given a thick cement lining, finished with encaustic blue and white tiles on bottom and sides. The most sumptuous of these bathing pools are built from 2½ to 3 feet deep inside, from 6 to 7 feet long and 3½ to 4 feet wide. Two steps of marble at one end lead down to the bed of the pool, and the floor of the bath-room and its walls wainscot high are finished either in marble slabs laid in cement or in encaustic tiles. The finish would not be deemed complete without a shower fixture, suspended over the pool. The New York example of this bathing pool, which doubtless was an adaptation from the ancient and still more sumptuous Roman domestic aquarium, suggests the original only in being depressed to the level of the bath room floor. A porcelain lined iron tub of the prevailing style is used, and the floor of the bath-room is finished with tiles, while its walls are wainscoted with marble. But this is a step in the direction of an improvement in bath-room construction which doubtless will not be the last.

AN ORDER FOR AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL ART WORKS FROM THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT.

The Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company, of this city, have a largo force of their most skilled artizans engaged in executing an order which they have received from the German Government through Prof. Dr. Julius Lessing, Director of the Royal Art Museum of Berlin. It is for examples of a variety of their products, including stained glass, electroliers, mosaics, fixtures, inlays, decorations and wire and glass screen work. The company hope to have the entire work finished within a few weeks. It is to be exhibited at the Royal Art Museum in Berlin as representative examples of Nineteenth Century American industrial art.

As some of the specimens that have been selected and ordered by Prof. Dr. Lessing, as being unique and desirable for the educational purposes of this Museum, are simply original designs in form and construction of articles which have long been made and imported by America from Germany, Germany pays a high compliment in acknowledging American advance in industrial art matters and the talent of our American artists.

At the Tiffany "Chapel," at the World's Fair, 70,981 visitors had registered up to the date of last report.

Robert Wallace is putting the finishing touches on eight fine four-story and basement brownstone houses on the south side of 81st street, near Columbus avenue. Between the avenue fronts this block is nearly solidly built up with fine private dwellings and the only unimproved lots are restricted to private houses.

Among the not too many new houses now in course of construction and likely to be finished in time for the fall market are four neat and cosy three-story and basement brownstone houses which Edelmeyer & Morgan are building on 83d street, south side, between West End avenue and Riverside Drive. They are likely to prove quick sellers.

West End avenue, west side, just north of 96th street, is the location of six three-story and basement houses in varied designs, of Pompeian brick and brownstone, and which are rapidly nearing completion.

One of the peculiarities of Portland cement is that if its components are improperly proportioned, or its manufacture has not been properly carried out, it may have a tendency after being gauged and mixed with water to crack, expand or disintegrate and fall into powder. This peculiarity is known under the cognomen of "blowing," and when a cement is said to "blow" or to be a "blowey cement," it means that after the cement has been used it expands, cracks or disintegrates, destroying the work in which it has been used. The cracks, however, which are seen in concrete work are not always due to the use of a "blowey cement," but may be due to constructional causes or to the expansion and contraction of the structure, due to variations in temperature, or to the natural contraction of the mass; and a simple crack in a piece of concrete would hardly be indicative of a "blowey cement" unless accompanied by other indications such as friability or absolute disintegration.

SOME BIG MARBLE AND MOSAIC CONTRACTS.

One of the most progressive and successful firms engaged in high class structural work is Nichols & Shipway, the marble importers and workers of 128th and 129th streets, near Park avenue. They have recently been awarded the contracts for all the marble and mosaic work in the thirteen story banking and office building now going up in Pine street for Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and of which De Lemos & Cordes are the architects; for the elaborate marble work, wainscoting, columns, counters and ornamental work in Maillard's newly-furnished confectionery store in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and of which Pottier & Stymus were the designers. Rouge Royale is the name of the striking style of marble used in this work. Nichols & Shipway also have the marble work for the new Trinity School in 91st street, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues, of which Chas. C. Haight is the architect, and the marble and mosaic work—all of an elaborate kind—in the new residence that is being built at Erie, Pa., for Mrs. Strong, the daughter of James Scott, the millionaire of the oil regions, and which is to cost $225,000.

The matters that are uppermost in every man's mind just now—the financial pinch, the monetary legislation, the silver question, the business outlook, the tariff prospects, the Home Rule for Ireland reform, the Behring-Sea-International-Arbitration decision, the French attack on Siam, and many other subjects, most of them of current thought and discussion, are treated in the scientific and authoritative style peculiar to this magazine. The Review of Reviews is constantly becoming more and more indispensable to the man who wants to keep abreast of the times.

Out Among the Builders.

John C. Burne, architect, is preparing drawings and specifications for two first-class apartment houses, five stories high, to be built on northeast corner 5th avenue and 115th street, for Capt. Thomas McManus. The corner house will have stores 25.5x100, and the inside house will be 25 0x 90, all hardwood trim, all improvements to date; cost, exclusive of price of lots, about $66,000. The work will be commenced on 1st prox.

A canvass made this week of most of the architects' offices shows, what was pretty clearly indicated in the statistics of building published last week, that there has been a practical cessation of new building operations in this city. This is doubtless only a natural result of the monetary stringency that fell upon the city at a time when plans for fall building operations usually begin to take definite form and substance, for if there is any business in which ready money is a sine qua non, it is the building business. The indications are not encouraging for a revival of building before spring, although the very favorable conditions, insuring cheap materials and an undisturbed labor market, may induce some to anticipate their intended spring operations. But if the outlook in New York is not encouraging, it is no better in any other of the large cities of the country. Advices received from Chicago show that in such offices as Burnham & Co., Adler & Sullivan and Holabird & Roche the boards have been absolutely cleared of work.

Rumors were about this week that the American Surety Co. were about to begin building operations on the Broadway and Pine street L, bought by them at $1,050,000 from the Continental Life Insurance Company on December 1 last. President Trenholm said, in answer to our inquiry about the matter, that they could not well begin building until the leases of the present tenants shall have expired, and that would not be until May 1 next. The matter had not even been considered as yet by the board of directors. But he thought the times were propitious for building and it was not improbable that the board might soon take the matter up. Some architects had already been heard from, and two or three suggested designs, including Bruce Price's for a Sun building, now adorn the President's office mantel.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

THE ELM STREET IMPROVEMENT.

On Friday of last week the Board of Street Opening and Improvement formally adopted the surveys for the new street, as presented by Engineer Webster, of the Department of Public Works, and directed Corporation Counsel Clark to take the necessary legal steps to acquire title to the property necessary to be taken. The Board also resolved to assess half the cost of the improvement on property benefited, and half on the city at large. The new street, which is to be 80 feet wide, begins at Reade and Centre streets; it takes off the easterly end of the block between these streets and cuts diagonally through the next two blocks to a junction with the present Elm street at the corner of Worth street, just escaping the new building of the Edison General Illuminating Company. For the most part the widening of Elm street is effected by slicing off the blocks on the easterly side of the street, but there are some places where, to straighten out the present crooked lines, some of the slicing is done on the westerly side. At Spring street the new thoroughfare will run in a direct line into and through Marion street, and thence in a direct line through private property, crossing Jersey street, Houston, Bleecker, Bond and Great Jones streets, to a junction with Lafayette place. At its northern extension it will run into 4th aveuue at 9th street.

The Board also fixed the area upon which half the cost of the undertaking is to be assessed. It includes all the realty within the following boundary lines: Starting from Pearl and Whitehall streets, proceeding along a line 100 feet east of Pearl, Division and Allen streets and 1st avenue to 17th street; thence west on a line 100 feet north of 17th to a point 100 feet west of University place; thence south on a line 100 feet west of University place and Wooster street to a point 100 feet north of Canal street; thence on a line 100 feet north of Canal street to a point 100 feet east of Broadway, and thence down on a line 100 feet east of Broadway to the starting point. Broadway, south of Canal street, is exempted from assessment because it is assessed for the College place widening.

THE COLLEGE PLACE IMPROVEMENT.

This important street improvement was blocked at a decisive point when Judge Lawrence disapproved the report of the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment. The Judge found that the assessment had been unequally levied. There was hope for a time that he would be led to reconsider this decision, but counsel for the city evidently thought it would be useless to apply for a rehearing and concluded to undertake the difficult task of redistributing the assessment according to the Judge's ideas. Accordingly the report has been referred back to the Commissioners and they are engaged (leisurely) upon the redistribution of the assessment. It is said that some of the most disappointed at this turn of the affair can be found among the property owners, whose objections, made for effect only, were the real cause of the Judge's disappointing ruling.

The State Board of Equalization has modestly added only $67,879,338 to the assessed valuation of real estate in this county, for purposes of State taxation. Last year they added over $80,000,000 to the county figures. The Board found that real estate in this county was assessed at 63 per cent of its full value. According to this estimate the real estate of New York County, improved and unimproved, but not including that which is exempt from taxation (as parks, schools, churches, hospitals, cemeteries, etc.), is worth $2,480,289,513; but this will be deemed a very low estimate—from a quarter to a third too low.

PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES DRIVING CORPORATIONS OUT OF TOWN—A MENACE TO PROPERTY INTERESTS.

When the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments, in their zeal to effect a more equitable ratio of taxation of personal property, so largely increased the assessment on the property of corporations having their main or home offices outside of this city they indirectly and perhaps unwittingly struck a serious blow at the real interests of the city. The action of the Commissioners was contrary to the policy with which these foreign corporations have always hitherto been treated. It has resulted in giving New York taxpayers another and valuable object-lesson in the injurious effects of taxing personal property at all.

A prominent and highly esteemed property-owner called at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, on Monday, and made this statement of facts: "I had as one of my tenants a corporation whose home office is in New Jersey. They maintained an extensive office and salesroom in this city, and were paying me $2,500 a year rent. This year they were called upon to pay a large bill for taxes on their stock and fixtures. The new policy of the tax department in this respect aroused their anger, and they determined to abandon their New York salesroom and have moved the entire establishment back to Newark, only maintaining a desk in a corner of an office for their local representative. I am out the $2,500 a year they were paying me. A friend told me this morning of a similar experience, where the corporation was paying him $3,000 a year. I have made certain by diligent inquiry that the taxing of their stocks of goods and office property was the sole reason that moved these people to withdraw from our city.

"Now it must be clear from the facts that I have stated that these attacks on the personal property of foreign corporations will work our city great injury. The additional revenue derived from them will be more than offset by the reductions they will effect in the rental value of real estate. Our policy hitherto has fostered investments in real estate; by levying only light taxes on personal property we have made real estate bear the real burden of supporting the government. This measure of liberality towards the foreign corporations has induced many of them to come here and use our property and do their principal business in our city. We have profited by the money they have spent with us in every direction, but especially the city has profited by the increased taxable values they have imparted to our property. Now this new policy of taxing everything that is in sight is driving these corporations out of our city and throwing our property back on our hands without tenants The value of these properties is dependent on their income producing capacity, and in striking thus at their income producing capacity the tax commissioners are reducing the taxable value of our real estate and thus threatening the city's largest and surest and most reliable source of income. If I could have my way I would publish to the world that New York City levies no tax on personal property. Within a few years the city would attract to its financial and commercial markets the wealthiest and best corporations and business concerns in the country, and real estate would so advance in value that the city would gain a greater revenue than it could ever hope to obtain from taxing personal property."

THE RIVERSIDE PARK WATER FRONT HEARING.

On Thursday next, September 28, the Sinking Fund Commission will give a public hearing upon the question what to do with the Riverside Park water front on the North River.¶ The question will come up on Comptroller Theo. W. Myers' report recommending that the property be transferred to the Park Department for improvement and use as park property. The Dock Department have opposed this proposition, having in mind an extensive improvement of the water front, with bulkheads and piers, for business uses. West Side property-owners in general, and those represented in the West End Association in particular, are firmly and actively opposed to the schemes of the Dock Department and will attend the meeting in force to uphold Comptroller Myers' report.

CLAIMS OF PROPERTY-OWNERS.

Claims to the amount of $1,064,000 have been filed in the Comptroller' office by property-owners in the annexed district, who say that their property was injured by the changes of grade made necessary by the depression of the railroad tracks. The claims will be considered by a special commission appointed under Chapter 537 of the laws of 1893. No limit of expenditures is fixed by law, but it is likely that about $2,000,000 will be paid out by the city to satisfy all the claimants.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

Blakely & Dodd and another have sold to James Everard, the four story, high stoop, brown-stone mansion and lot, 25x100, No. 697 5th avenue, for the estate of Eliza V. Osgood, for $142,500, all cash. The purchaser will use the property as a residence. This sale has a deal of significance, in view of the fact that the property is between 54th and 55th streets, on the opposite side of the avenue from the St. Luke's Hospital property, which sold early in the summer at the rate of $130,000 per lot for the inside lots. Considering terms and the prevailing conditions regarding money, the sale indicates that values in 5th avenue property are being pretty well sustained.

Woods' system of underground conduits for the conveyance of electric power, thus dispensing with the overhead trolley system. The demonstration was a success, the car running forward and back equally well, whether the conduit was choked with mud and water or when it was clear.

The State Board of Equalization met on Tuesday last at Albany and adopted the equalization table for 1893 submitted by the State Assessors. The report of the Assessors showed that they have examined and compared the values of about 5,000 different parcels of property throughout the counties. In 1891 the assessed value of the real estate in this State was $3,526,645,818. In 1892 it was $3,626,645,093, an increase of $99,999,275. In 1891 the assessment of personal property amounted to $405,095,684; in 1892, $411,413,856, an increase of $6,318,172. On behalf of the Kings County Board of Supervisors, James W. Glendenning said that the County of Kings has comparatively no personal property capable of being taxed and in consequence of this the entire burden of taxation for both local and State purposes is thrown on real estate. He said Kings County had the highest rate of valuation of any county in the State. The Assessors said Kings County would have a reduction this year of $18,000,000.

In order to accommodate the increased travel on the Long Island Railroad between Long Island City and East New York the company have placed several additional trains on their new time table and reduced the fare to 5 cents between the above-named stations. MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—There is nothing in the situation of affairs on market for Hards calculated to give the seller any additional advantage as yet, and rates remain at the same general range as last week. Arrivals have, to be sure, been smaller and the large surplus previously of such ordinary occurrence at the depot, no longer shows itself yet with the shrinkage of supply there seems to have come a corresponding falling away of demand and one feature balances the other. There is no complaint about quality that amounts to anything, the offering sustaining the high standard of condition shown pretty much the entire season. It prevents the choice brands from commanding a premium and compels the selling at very low figures of anything that may happen to show up poor. Manufacturers' previous claims of an intention to ship moderately have been verified by the reduced number of arrivals and there is no special reason to expect an increase in offering unless the market really needs it. Production is gradually becoming curtailed all along the River and it is calculated that many yards will wind up the season this week, and also assumed that there will be some yards at work up to the appearance of frost and its effect.

HARDWARE.—It has been a dull, stupid market until the commencement of the present month and now matters commence to look up a little, with chances for further increase in most staple goods. Operators, however, do not appear to have an idea there will be much done in builders' hardware this fall, as scarcely any new work of importance is projected, and jobbers and even large builders have some supply of stuff in hand. Prices show irregularity, and shadings from lists are of common occurrence, though increased business will probably bring greater steadiness.

HAIR.—In common with all other articles of structural material, plasterers' hair has found very slow sale, bringing the market of late to a point of almost complete stagnation. The dull trading has had a slightly softening influence upon values, but as desirable stocks of goods are small holders did not find occasion to urge the market to any serious extent. Cattle hair is particularly scarce, and short goat is being used in place of it.

LATH.—No general arrival of stock has come upon the market, and the position was to a certain extent nominal, though no lower rate accepted than last week, and some of the principal receivers suggesting the possibility of an advance. The idea is based upon an assumption that certain portions of the local trade commence to feel the necessity for additions to stock, and will be ready to negotiate as soon as they find a new offering within reach. There are also two or three points outside that want a moderate supply. There is, however, nothing to boom the market upon.

LIME.—Demand has been slow and indifferent and without change in price, as the latter important point of the market is fixed and controlled by manufacturers. It is claimed at the close, however, that everything of late arrival here is sold out, leaving first hands bare of accumulation There has been some St. John lime ordered forward, and the State product is selling fairly, rather better of late, at old figures, a feature that attracted some custom refusing to pay the recent advance on Eastern.

LUMBER.—A dull condition of affairs prevails throughout the entire market, and it is difficult to obtain any information that can be called really encouraging. At the yards the trading is to a large extent confined to the furnishing of supplies on contract, with many of those running out, and nothing to replace them, as the new trade is simply of a routine character, covering little lots for immediate special necessity. With such a poor backing, dealers are quite naturally still unwilling to commit themselves to negotiations for fresh supplies, and considering the rapid progress of the season with the adverse possibilities in matters of transportation facilities and the cost thereof, the indifferent character of the demand seems to indorse the theory that chances for improvement in the lumber trade before spring are very slim. There has in one way or another been an increased offering of supplies from many quarters, and in some instances a straight out intimation that a modification of cost will be made to desirable custom, but that is no special attraction this season to the class of buyers most sought after. It looks very much as though there would be considerable curtailment of work in the woods this winter on account of the unsold supply of logs still on hand.

Eastern Spruce, off and on, during the past two or three weeks, has arrived with moderate freedom, but a very large proportion was on contract and the offerings on open market were small. When cargoes did come upon sale their disposition was largely a matter of chance, and while luck in finding a customer who might happen to want the offering would permit realizing a pretty good figure, a hunt for a buyer would almost surely compel a big shading to attain success. Eastern advices speak of small production on account of lack of orders, and fear to cut random with large quantities of unsold logs accumulating. The demand for piling at this market is slow, and rates generally weak.

Hemlock is generally dull and heavy. Offerings from Pennsylvania are not openly plentiful, but a greater quantity could be reached if called for, and for joist upon pretty easy terms, but a showing of steadiness is made on boards. Northern hemlock and spruce are unsettled, and buyers with ready cash are understood to have picked up some very cheap lots from boatmen who brought stuff down as a personal venture.

White Pine is by no means anxiously sought after. The upper grades are scarcely wanted at all, and the lower sorts of shippers and box are scarcely meeting with the demand that might be expected, even allowing for generally dull trade. A great deal of stock has yet to come forward on orders placed early in the year and deliveries postponed from time to time at request of buyers and there is also some increase of the fresh offering from both Canada and the West.

Yellow Pine is getting merely an odd call now and then to place some special bill, and the market retains a dull, unsatisfactory tone. Prices are of a more or less doubtful character, with a general pitch in buyer's favor and some very low figures have of late been accepted under pressure to realize.

Carolina Pine is a little demoralized. Average demand is no better than for a long time past, but manufacturers have become anxious to secure custom, and while official list rates remain as before methods for shading have been found through which the buyer gets some liberal advantages on both rough and dressed. The local mills do a fair business in small lots.

Hardwoods secure only indifferent attention and are under the common influence of dull trade. Possibly on some of the very fancy grades prices might be held firmly, but for average run of stock there is constant cutting off of such stuff as poplar and oak, although the latter is not much in favor and rather plentiful. Of no description, however, is there a serious surplus, and the moderation of production by shutting down of a great many mills is a saving clause in the general situation. Some few export orders are occasionally filled, principally in the way of oak and walnut.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

The trade that has recently manifested a degree of life and activity is the result of this ordinary fall consumption. That it is not, as yet, very vigorous, or at all overwhelming in volume cannot be denied It is perceptibly growing, but not at such a rate as to indicate a powerful influence behind it. It is also noticeable that the orders being received at wholesale points are mostly of a mixed character, indicating bills for special and immediate use. No large orders are being received for stocking yards in advance of requirement. This indicates that retail dealers have not, as yet, recovered sufficient confidence to venture on future probabilities, though prices are low, and the recent tendency of the bulk stock market is toward an advance, especially at upper lake mill points.

Now that the fall trade is on and the mill operators have been obliged to carry their product all summer, they seem to have arrived at the determination to hold on until they shall realize something more in price than the results of scattering sales during the period of financial stringency. This is a new feature that has lately been thrust in between the holders of bulk stock and the yard dealers who assort, grade and distribute it.

There will doubtless be some friction between buyers and sellers for months, and a new basis of values will be established.

At Chicago receipts are still light. Shippers evidently think that the market is working all right, that the yard men are getting some appetite that a little later may develop into positive hunger, and that there is no need of cloying the appetite before it gets strong and vigorous enough to absorb larger consignments. Besides, the mill operators are dissatisfied with even present prices, though an advance of 50 cents has been scored on piece stuff. They are holding for $10, and some of them even want $11. One commission dealer says that the disposition of the Green bay mill men is to insist on not less than $10 or no sale. The piece stuff that is being sold goes for $9 to $9.50. Several loads of Lake Superior product have been sold to arrive at $9.50. But it should be explained that a different condition this year prevails from that in former seasons. Little discrimination is now being made between short and long lengths. When a price on a cargo is reported, it means that the short and long have gone in together at the price named. In other recent seasons there has been $1 to $3 difference in prices, as between strictly short and that over 2? feet in length. The range at the present time of $9 to $9 50 means that there is a large percentage of long in the cargo that sells for the last named price, or the tally runs well to something especially desirable in length and size.

There is a decided lack of features in the poplar market these days and a sameness to the reports from different sections that makes the unity of a market report a very unsatisfactory piece of work. As compared with a month ago there is probably an increase in demand, especially in the eastern markets, but the movement is still unusually light for the season. Were it not for the exceedingly short supply of dry stock it would be next to impossible to maintain prices with the present demand, but as more lumber is being shipped than is manufactured, the larger manufacturers, at least, are able to maintain the association list.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trades Journal as follows:

In the pitch pine trade the new season's contracts are beginning to make a little stir; several have recently been closed on the basis of about 49s. and 50s. for 85 feet average, according to the size and position of the vessel and the time of shipment. Chartering is proceeding, but dy-sized ships being procurable at 92s. 6d. to 95s. Mobile to U. K., and for larger ones, 1,200 and upwards, 90s. The rage for prompt steamers, which carried rates up to 117s. 6d., has now subsided, and the absence of coal freights is pressing more sailing ships on the market. The pitch pine stocks in London are fairly moderate, the quantity now ponded at the Surrey Commercial Docks being 14,000 loads against 13,000 last year. The stock of deals, if we include those on the quays, is about half what was in the docks this time twelvemonth, and the tendency of the market is firmer. The stocks of pine and spruce are also moderate, and we do not hear of any disposition to force goods on this market by shippers on the other side of the Atlantic. By all accounts, very few cargoes are now on their way, though of course it is early yet to say anything about the back-end shipments

And referring to the fact that tuff recently con sumed by fire at Liverpool has been credited to "consumption," and likely eventually to be mistaken as a record of business, says the action will become a matter of tradition, and the so-called "consumption" will be read as one of "demand." In this connection the most important articles which will suffer from this comparison are pine goods, such as deals, boards, sidings, and similar products from Canada. The production of these goods, available for the Liverpool market, is generally well within the grasp of the firms who make this branch of the trade a special portion of their business, and as the total destruction of something like 1,200 to 1,400 standards has lightened the market to this extent, there should be a brighter future for the pine market in this district. It should also be borne in mind that in September we are not only coming near to the close of the St. Lawrence season, but that the winter rates of insurance are about to be asked for.

NAILS.—The movement in a general way is fair with a tendency to increase. The broadening of demand has been principally for wire nails, though of cut the sales are growing larger and the influence upon values is of a more or less strengthening character. Supplies have proven ample for the outlet but not excessive, owing to the recent curtailment of production. We quote Cut at $1.05@1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.35@1.40 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.35@1 40 for car lots, and $1.75@1.80 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The general distributive movement continues very fair, somewhat on the increase if anything, so far as staple goods are concerned, but is conducted upon the old safe and cautious lines. During the summer stagnation of business at the wholesale end of the market the supplies in hands of jobbers and retailers were pretty well used up and they are now compelled to get something for a working stock and in few cases commence upon accumulations for winter use. There is no sign of speculative interest, however, and sellers' main advantage is in steadying the position against further decline. There was some idea that the decline in oil might be reflected on white lead, but a full balance was found in the higher cost of metal and neither the association or outside workers have shaded. Corroders' rates stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 7¼c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6¾c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 6⅝c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 6½c.; kegs. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c.; and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots on 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent. discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corroding point. Linseed Oil continues irregular under the competition among manufacturers from domestic seed and the business only fair, the recent cuts in price failing to attract increased attention from buyers. We quote on general range at 37@40c. for Western, 42@45c. for City from domestic seed, and 61@62c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine has a fair routine trade demand, but in general the market lacks animation and values show a rather slack sort of tone. We quote at 28@28½c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—The market is without much change. Buyers, as a rule, confine their calls to merely such parcels as may be required for the wants of the moment, and that makes an irregular development of demand with no important volume reached. Prices do not vary much, however, and the general tone can be called about steady. We quote Tar at $1.90@1.95 in pine or Wilmington bbls, $2.00@2.05 in pork bbls., and $3.70@3.75 in oil bbls., Pitch $1 50 @1.70.

BUILDING MATERIAL PRICES.

LUMBER.
Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors and, altogether, it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable n character.

VOL. LII. SEPTEMBER 30 1893. No. 1,333

THE stock market has been lately, and still is, dominated by the news from Washington. The selling on a prospect of a deadlock between repealers and non-repealers, though it has enabled the bears to put down quotations considerably, has not enabled them to dislodge much long stock, for the reasons we have stated before, and as a consequence later news has caused a considerable amount of covering and left those short who have not yet bought in to protect their transactions in a condition of extreme nervousness. They know the price they will have to pay and the risk they are running if repeal becomes a certainty, and the public starts a new buying movement with money so plentiful and cheap as it is now. General business, like the particular business of the stock market. has also improved somewhat under the renewed prospect for repeal of the silver purchasing clause of the Sherman law. These facts ought to convince everyone of the relation between the Senate delays and the hesitation in business,and have their proper effect in the Senate itself. Seeing what the condition of business was this summer, how it improved on the vote in the House of Representatives, and how it hesitated and began retrograding when the position of the silverite Senators was revealed, and how it looks up again as that position is proving to be untenable, it is a sure thing that trade will improve measurably as soon as repeal is secured. The state of things for the past three months means depleted supplies everywhere, and in the renewal of stocks manufacturers, jobbers and carriers will benefit. The restoration of confidence with money available and cheap must produce better prices for securities of almost all classes.

THAT trade conditions throughout the country have been mending of late there can be no question. Day after day the newspapers record the cheerful fact that factories closed down during the worst of the financial stress are opening and operatives are returning to work. This process, too, we have no doubt will continue. But people who read newspapers do not always get the whole truth; that is why so many who hear of this factory and that resuming work are at a loss to understand why business as a whole does not pick up quicker than it does. They have no adequate idea of the extent to which the industry of the country was disturbed by the recent financial stringency. Factories indeed are resuming work everywhere, but we are yet a considerable distance from complete restoration of the conditions prevailing at the beginning of the year. Evidence of this is furnished by the census of the "unemployed" taken the other day by the authorities in Chicago. A careful canvass was made which dealt with only the skilled trades, and it revealed the fact that 75,000 artisans in that city are out of work. All lines of industry seem to be equally affected. There can be very little doubt that if a similar inquiry were made in all the great manufacturing centres in this country a state of affairs not very dissimilar to that prevailing in the Western Metropolis would be disclosed. All this goes to show what has been said from the very first in these columns—the country cannot jump back again to prosperity in a day. The restoration of business to a normal basis will necessarily be a matter of time. It is this consideration that makes the idiotic filibustering in Congress nothing short of criminal. The work of restoration cannot go on, or at any rate cannot be hastened while the Sherman Law is not repealed. The Senate's dilatory tactics means a prolongation of the enforced idleness of thousands of workers who depend upon steady employment for the comforts if not the necessities of life.

THE intelligent judgment of this city will support Comptroller Myers in the effort he made yesterday at the meeting of the Sinking Fund Commissioners to get the horse before the cart, in the expenditure of the city's monies. As our readers know, there are at the present moment a number of very costly improvements under consideration which involve the expenditure of certainly nearly $50,000,000. Most of them are necessary, and far from desiring their postponement THE RECORD AND GUIDE believes that the metropolis has hitherto followed a far too niggardly and halting policy in the matter of improvements. Our Dock system is woefully in need of judicious improvements and extensions; the erection of a new City Hall is an undertaking dictated not only by civic pride but by economy; and the speedway is an enterprise which, though not strictly necessary, is not out of keeping with New York's metropolitan pretensions. So much may be readily granted. But, the question which Comptroller Myers raised yesterday is one which the officials of this city have so far quite lost sight of amid their schemes for improvements. It is this: Should any of these schemes be undertaken until some decision has been reached as to rapid transit? The city officials have hitherto paid far more attention to speedways and the municipal building than they have to rapid transit. Indeed, to judge by the little that has been done or said, one might imagine it was quite a secondary matter. It is only lately that Comptroller Myers and Mr. Purroy have shown a disposition to risk an opinion as to what is likely to be the outcome of the long effort that has been made to obtain for New York the very service that of all others is most vital to its prosperity and development. They have recognized that the hard logic of facts is driving the rapid transit problem more and more into the hands of the municipality itself, and that, whatever the outcome may be, the city's officials must sooner or later pay serious attention to the question whether the municipality must not construct whatever rapid transit lines New York is to have. To vote away millions at the present moment for speedways, costly buildings, etc., is to put the city in such a position that when the time for action arrives it will be impossible for it, without very great difficulty, to come to its own assistance. Comptroller Myers is entitled to the thanks of the community for the stand he took yesterday. Let us put the horse before the cart. Rapid transit is the first need of New York, and not a dollar of the public funds or credit should be voted away until either a private corporation has been found to undertake the construction and operation of a new rapid transit service, or the City itself decides to undertake it.

WHEN the silver question is finally out of the way, Congress has to deal with another monetary question, viz.: that of repealing the 10 per cent tax on State bank note issues. The proposition to repeal the State bank tax, and in effect pave the way for a great menace in State bank issues, has been uneasily received in business quarters and is but little understood by people generally. It must be determined soon what shall succeed the national bank note as now provided for, if bank notes are to be a part of the circulating medium of the United States hereafter. The national banking system was established during the war to provide a market for the government bonds. The issue of notes at 90 per cent of the face value of the bonds purchased and hypothecated is necessarily about to vanish with the extinguishment of the public debt. The basis of the National Bank Act was the banking laws of the State of New York. One objection to note issues by State banks is the opportunity for counterfeiting arising from the lack of uniformity in the kinds and descriptions of paper money issued under the separate authorization of different States. Another objection is that there is no uniformity of sentiment throughout the States regarding what constitutes the best of currency. At present only sixteen out of the forty-four States in the Union provide explicitly for the issue of circulating notes. The constitutions in several of the States expressly forbid the issue of circulating notes by the banks or bankers of the State, and in a few of the States circulating notes are prohibited by statute. The people have become used to paper money and will not give it up. There is room for an enormous addition to the silver in circulation in the way of small coins of 50 cents and lower denominations, but the people prefer paper notes to either gold or silver in dollar denominations and they will not readily acquiesce in any proposal to prohibit the issue of notes in any lower denominations than $50, or even $10, however much the advocates of silver may urge such a plan.

THERE is a popular impression that because national bank notes are of government origin and are supervised by a central power under a law uniform throughout the whole country, greater safety is thereby insured than could possibly be the case with State supervision. It is possible to provide equal security and uniformity in both cases, and Superintendent Preston, of the Banking Department of this State, in his last annual report, made a series of valuable suggestions to this end. He would have the national banking act so amended as to continue the Bureau of the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington, simply for the purpose of issuing circulating notes to any bank upon proper evidence of such bank having deposited with the State Comptroller bonds of the United States, or bonds of any State in the Union which has not defaulted in the payment of its obligations within ten years, or the bonds of any American city which has not defaulted in ten years, having 50,000 inhabitants or over, and whose indebtedness does not exceed 7 per cent of its assessed valuation. The investment in the bonds of any one city or State would be limited to a certain percentage of the capital stock of the bank. Notes would be issued to the par value of these bonds and, of course, would have the same uniform appearance as the present national bank notes. The present tax of 10 per cent could be continued on State banks not willing to come under a combined National and State supervision, but probably no bank would be unwilling to come in. A small tax on circulation, less even than the national banks now pay, would provide a safety fund to redeem the notes issued to any bank in case such bank failed and it turned out that the bonds deposited were not equal in value to the amount of the notes issued thereon. Notes issued under such a banking system would be secure and as acceptable as the present national bank notes. If wise legislation prevail the Democratic programme of repeal of the State bank tax need have no terrors.

The Expediency of Being Candid.

A FEW years ago no one would have accused the religious press of being candid. They seemed almost without exception to be thoroughly partisanized by allegiance to the several sects, and frequently political partisanship was added to sectarian. Yet, when at the International Press Congress in Chicago Mr. Mabie, of the Christian Union, a name since changed to The Outlook, declared that telling the truth with all the fearlessness of the Hebrew prophets was a function which the religious press was more likely to discharge than any other organ of public expression, the assertion did not seem so ridiculous as it might once have done. There has come to the great religious weeklies of late years a capacity for seeing things clearly and presenting them fairly, which is very gratifying. This applies especially of course to their treatment of political, economic and social questions—matters in which they are in nowise under bonds to take one side more than another. To treat such questions fairly requires not only candor but ability, and this also they have given to the work.

Next to the religious papers, those that have shown the most determination in getting at and presenting the facts of current problems have been the trade journals. They may be biased, each by some special interest, about certain things, but outside of these special lines they make an effort to be fair that is of great value. Besides, the patrons of a trade journal usually look to it for facts—it is of no use to them except as it presents these—and the habit of being candid once acquired is not readily laid aside by one who has any manhood about him.

It was to the daily press that we should have looked for the most help in this matter of getting at the truth regarding current problems, but we all know how grievously the daily papers have disappointed us in this matter. We are not especially discouraged by those establishments where a venal counting-room buys its editors in the cheapest market and sells them in the dearest, but rather by the inveterate partisanship of the daily papers. The formal claim of being "independent" signifies nohting even as far as political attachments are concerned. Some of the papers that claim to be independent lack the necessary honesty, some the necessary brains, and most of them the necessary training in or capacity for open-mindedness. Many of them conscientiously believe themselves to be fair—but they are mistaken.

"The public edits the editor," and we have a dim hope that the growing candor of the religious and trade press indicates an incipient demand for capable editorial honesty that will eventually school one or more of the great dailies in the art of being candid. A young man was hesitating about accepting a call to a new university for fear his lectures on railroad problems would not be acceptable to the man from whom the institution expected an endowment. He consulted on the point with an experienced professor in a State university whose honest utterances on the tariff had brought down on him the severe censure of the partisan press. The latter advised as follows: "I should not give a moment's thought to the matter. There are sixty-five millions of people in this country and a good many of them want to know the truth. Any subject can be treated scientifically and if a man treats it that way and is interfered with for so doing the interference will do him more good than harm." It is a hopeful sign that such advice can be given by one qualified to speak intelligently.

Beside the growing taste for truth, which we think is indicated, another factor will help to make it expedient for one or more of the great dailies to become regenerate and candid. With the increased massing of population and increased speed in long-distance transportation an enormously increased number of people can be reached from each newspaper centre. With a fixed proportion of "people who want to know the truth" to the whole population a single paper can now reach a much larger number of this class than formerly and the likelihood of its receiving adequate support is therefore greater.

We know of one miserable, sensational Sunday paper published at the West which stuck to the truth entirely from motives of self-interest. It was filled with accounts of murders and scandals, and most of its articles were just a shade less indecent than would lead to its exclusion from the mails. And yet it was said, on apparently good authority, that the blackguard editor of this sheet was inflexible in having his scavenger reporters get facts, and only facts, and exact facts. On the one side he was afraid of the law against criminal libel, and on the other he had noticed that papers of the class he was editing had usually lost their hold upon the public to which they catered, because they accepted money as the price of silence or as the price of perverting the truth. Even the degenerate wretches who bought his paper felt that reliability gave an inimitable flavor to scandal. When an equally effective demand for reliability is developed among a large number of the readers of the daily press, there will be some much-needed editorial conversions to the gospel of candor.

THE very explicit statement made the other day by George Gould practically eliminates the Manhattan Co. as even a possible factor from the rapid transit problem. Almost word for word Mr. Gould reiterated what has frequently been said in these columns, viz., that the present state of affairs was the most profitable that could possibly be for the Manhattan Co. and that extensions, particularly any made northward beyond the present termini, could not be built and operated by the company as pure "business." Such improvements could be undertaken only as concessions to public convenience and, of course, as Mr. Gould implied, the benefactors ought not to be saddled with onerous conditions and heavy payments to the city treasury. So it turns out that the "valuable franchise" which the municipality has been hawking about for a year is of so little value that the company to which one would think it would be of more account than to anybody else withdraws from the market completely, merely saying (in effect) that if the city is ready at any time to regard the franchise (as it does) as an opportunity for public benefaction the Manhattan Co. might reconsider the matter. This is surely putting our schemes to the test of "business," and we must be ridiculously blind if after that test with both our underground and our elevated plans we persist in looking to private capital for the construction of the system the city needs. Choice lies now between one of two things: either the municipality must build the road or the city must get along with "rapid transit" on a much smaller scale than has been outlined hitherto.

City Officials Go On Record.

MAYOR GILROY AND COMPTROLLER MYERS EXPRESS THEIR VIEWS ON THE QUESTION OF CITY CONSTRUCTION OF A RAPID TRANSIT RAILROAD SYSTEM.

If New York is to begin work on an adequate transit system within the ensuing year the law must be so amended at the forthcoming session of the Legislature as to provide for the construction of the Broadway-Boulevard Underground Railroad as a municipal work. Believing that this is the only way by which the needs of New York City in this respect can possibly be supplied, THE RECORD AND GUIDE has sought to ascertain what support, if any, the principal city officials would give to a bill to effect that object.

Mayor Gilroy said he would not give his consent to any such measure until he was convinced that private capital would not undertake the enterprise. "Before we embark upon such a vast undertaking as this we must consider well what we are about. The friends of this project of city construction ought to thoroughly consider the financial features of the plan in all of its bearings. In the first place they ought to consider whether the city has the constitutional or moral right to add $50,000,000 to its already large bonded debt. For the redemption of the present bonded indebtedness certain incomes of the city—and its faith—are pledged. Ought we to do anything that might be construed into an impairment of those obligations? The city's credit is as good as it is because of the large margin between its actual indebtedness and the constitutional limit of that indebtedness. Now if we add so large a sum to our bonded debt we will be sure to impair our credit and the market value of our securities will fall." To the suggestion that it was not the business of the city to maintain the market quotations upon its bonds, that its duty was fulfilled when it promptly met the payments of principal and interest, the Mayor replied: "Yes, it is our business to maintain the market quotations. And, undoubtedly, in the present condition of finance, it would be difficult, if not impossible, for the city to float $50,000,000 of bonds." It was suggested that they need not be floated now nor all at once, and that before any considerable part of them would be needed the condition of the money market would doubtless have reached a normal level. Mr. Gilroy answered that if the proposed road was to be constructed within three years (as the Rapid Transit Commission had intimated it could be) that would require an issue at the rate of over $13,000,000 a year, and that would be a sum difficult to raise.

"Then, again," he said, "you ought to consider whether or not this great undertaking would not put a stop to all other important improvements. We are about to undertake the construction of a new municipal building, and the construction of several new bridges, and a speedway, and the opening of College place and Elm street. Then there are school-houses to build and streets to be repaired and parks to be improved and extensive water fronts to be improved—how far would the addition of $50,000,000 to the city's debt interfere with these important projects? These are questions that I would like to see satisfactorily answered before I give my consent to the city undertaking so vast and expensive a project as the construction of a railroad. I am not so foolish as to say that the thing cannot be done or that, failing other means, the city should lie back supinely and acknowledge itself defeated in its efforts to secure relief from the present condition of things. But the difficulties that I have indicated to you should be carefully weighed and provided against before I shall be willing to sanction the scheme of city construction."

Comptroller Theo. W. Myers is the financial officer of the city government and a man of extremely conservative temperament. He is also a Democrat of the strictest sect and holds tenaciously to the old Democratic doctrine of non interference by the government with private enterprises. In his construction of this rule he until recently held that it was no part of the province of government to "build railroads."

And so he still holds, but with this important qualification: that where either by reason of the field being partially pre-empted by a private corporation which cannot or will not satisfy public needs, and which misuses its monopolistic privileges to prevent others from engaging in competition, or where circumstances exist which make it highly improbable that private capital can be induced to furnish an adequate system of transportation, the construction of such a road being of paramount importance should be forthwith undertaken by the municipality.

"Even now," he said, "if a responsible private corporation were to come forward and offer to undertake the enterprise, I should feel delighted that the city and its officers had been relieved of so weighty a responsibility. But in the condition that now confronts us there can be no greater sin than that of omission, and to remain longer inactive means to deliberately jeopardize the supremacy of the metropolis, and to become particips criminis in its degradation to the rank of a second-class city. Every year, every month, every day Brooklyn and the suburban towns of New Jersey are profiting by what is our loss, and that loss has already reached a fabulous number of millions in the valuation of our real estate.

"We have waited many years for some one of several excellent plans to materialize, and none of them has got beyond the stage of paper prospectuses. The city is suffering a slow and tedious and insecure development when it ought to grow with greater rapidity than ever. Its growth is retarded for lack of an adequate transit system.

"The question is, shall the city continue to look to private persons or corporations for rapid transit, or shall it undertake to supply its own needs? Now, we have learned a few things from experience in these last twenty years. We have learned from the history of the elevated railroads that a rapid transit system will create its own traffic. The elevated railroads did not get into full operation until 1878. The next year they carried 46,000,000 passengers, the next 60,000,000, the next 75,000,000, the next 86,000,000; in 1883, they carried 92,000,000; that was ten years ago; last year they carried over 200,000,000. From 1880 to 1890 the population increased less than 42 per cent and the travel over 93 per cent. Thus it will be seen that the travel increases over twice as fast as the population. There is nothing like facts and figures for proving a case, and an investigation I have made recently into building statistics has shown some marvelous results. Let us see how the construction of rapid transit lines has promoted the construction of houses and the influx of new population. When the West Side elevated railroads were built there was but a scattered settlement of the district north of 59th street. In 1881, after the elevated railroad had been running two years, 139 houses were built in the district north of 59th and south of 125th street, and west of 8th avenue, at a cost of $2,035,400. In 1891 there were 639 houses constructed at a cost of $14,581,470. And in the eleven years from 1881 to 1891 inclusive, there were 6,099 such houses built in the district specified, at an investment of $122,092,844. In the meantime the travel on the elevated railroads had increased from 75,000,000 to 196,000,000, and its income from $3,750,000 to $9,800,000. The resulting increase in the taxable values of real estate has added hundreds of millions to the city's productive capital. Now if such results follow the construction and operation of a transit system such as the present elevated railroads, what may we not reasonably expect from the construction of a railroad that will transport passengers in less than half the time and with greater comfort? There is no reason to suppose that such a road would not within a few years build up a traffic out of the now unoccupied territory, quite as large or larger than that of the elevated railroads at present. It is not open to doubt in my mind that in a few years the road would be paying a handsome dividend annually into the city treasury.

"As to the financial ability of the city to undertake this work without the necessity of obtaining an amendment to the State Constitution, there is this to say: The total funded debt on the 31st of March was $156,823,489, from which there should be deducted $57,428,905, held by the sinking fund, leaving the net debt $99,394,584. The constitutional limit of indebtedness is $156,258,239. This shows that there is a margin of somewhat about $57,000,000 on which the city can depend now. The debt has been increasing somewhat in recent years, but so has the revenue from franchises and the sinking fund, while the tax rate has gradually fallen to the present low rate of 1.82 per cent. We can safely count upon an increase of $30,000,000 a year (this year it was $57,677,793) in the general assessment for purposes of taxation, and that, in three years (which would be a year or two before all the money for the construction of the rapid transit railroad would be required), would amount to $150,000,000, giving an increase of $15,000,000 to the maximum amount of bonded debt allowed under the constitution, making it about $171,000,000. So that the bond scheme, by years, supposing we were to start next year and only three years were required to complete the road, and its cost was $40,000,000, would be about like this: 1894, bonded debt, $99,000,000, plus $13,000,000 of rapid transit bonds, total $112,000,000; constitutional limit, $166,000,000; margin, $49,000,000: 1895, bonded debt, $112,000,000, plus $13,000,000 rapid transit bonds, total $125,000,000; constitutional limit, $161,000,000; margin, $41,000,000; 1896, bonded debt, $125,000,000 plus $14,000,000, total $139,000,000; constitutional limit, $171,000,000; margin, $32,000,000. But in point of fact, the increase in taxable values would be larger—very much larger; for with the first shovelfull of earth turned on the actual work of construction of a road by the city, there would be such a revival of building operations as this city has never seen, and the region served by the new road would rapidly advance in value by reason of these building operations. If the cost of the road were distributed over four or five years, as would probably be the case, the increase in the debt would be still more lightly felt.

"But after all, this rapid transit debt would be only a nominal debt, for if the road is at all advisable it will itself pay the interest on the bonds and provide a sinking fund for their ultimate redemption. The city will not need to make profits out of the operation of the road—it need only cover actual expenses—its profit will come from the increased revenue from taxation that would result. Since 1881 the increase in taxable values of all the city has been from $976,700,000 to $1,562,500,000, an increase of $585,800,000, and of this $379,388,470 has been in the five wards north of 40th street. Even more suggestive are the figures for the three wards north of 40th street on Manhattan Island, where the elevated roads have made the use of the property possible. In the 12th Ward the values have increased from $85,573,039 in 1881 to $255,081,575 in 1893; in the 19th Ward they have grown from $152,303,375 in 1881 to $238,198,950 this year, and in the 20th Ward from $74,686,475 in 1881 to $163,399,391 in 1893. The total increase in these three wards alone being, in these thirteen years, $344,117,027, and of this about $170,000,000 has been in the 12th Ward, which includes that portion of the island north of 86th street. At this year's rate of taxation the increased valuation in these three wards alone would bring the city an income of over $6,000,000 a year. So that the indirect profit to come from the construction of the road would be all the profit the city need look for. If, in addition, the road could be operated on a basis of 5-cent fares and provide a sinking fund which would pay off the bonds in, say, twenty-five years, after that the profits could be paid into the general fund in reduction of general taxation, or the fares might be reduced to 3 cents. The point is this—that as the value of the elevated railroads depends upon the public support, so the value of this road would depend on public support, and if the traffic paid operating expenses and maintenance and the interest on the bonds, then the road would never be a charge upon the city, and the debt would be a nominal one. In other words, the operation would be the same as with the Croton Water Fund, where the income from the water rents pays the interest on the bonds and maintains a sinking fund for their ultimate redemption.

"This matter, however, is of such supreme importance, and concerns so intimately the vital interests of every citizen that I believe the will of the people should certainly be heard directly upon it, and the issue being in every way worthy of referendum, the public should be called upon to register by vote their commands in answer to this all-important question: Shall the City build its own road?"

An Unpleasant Dilemma.

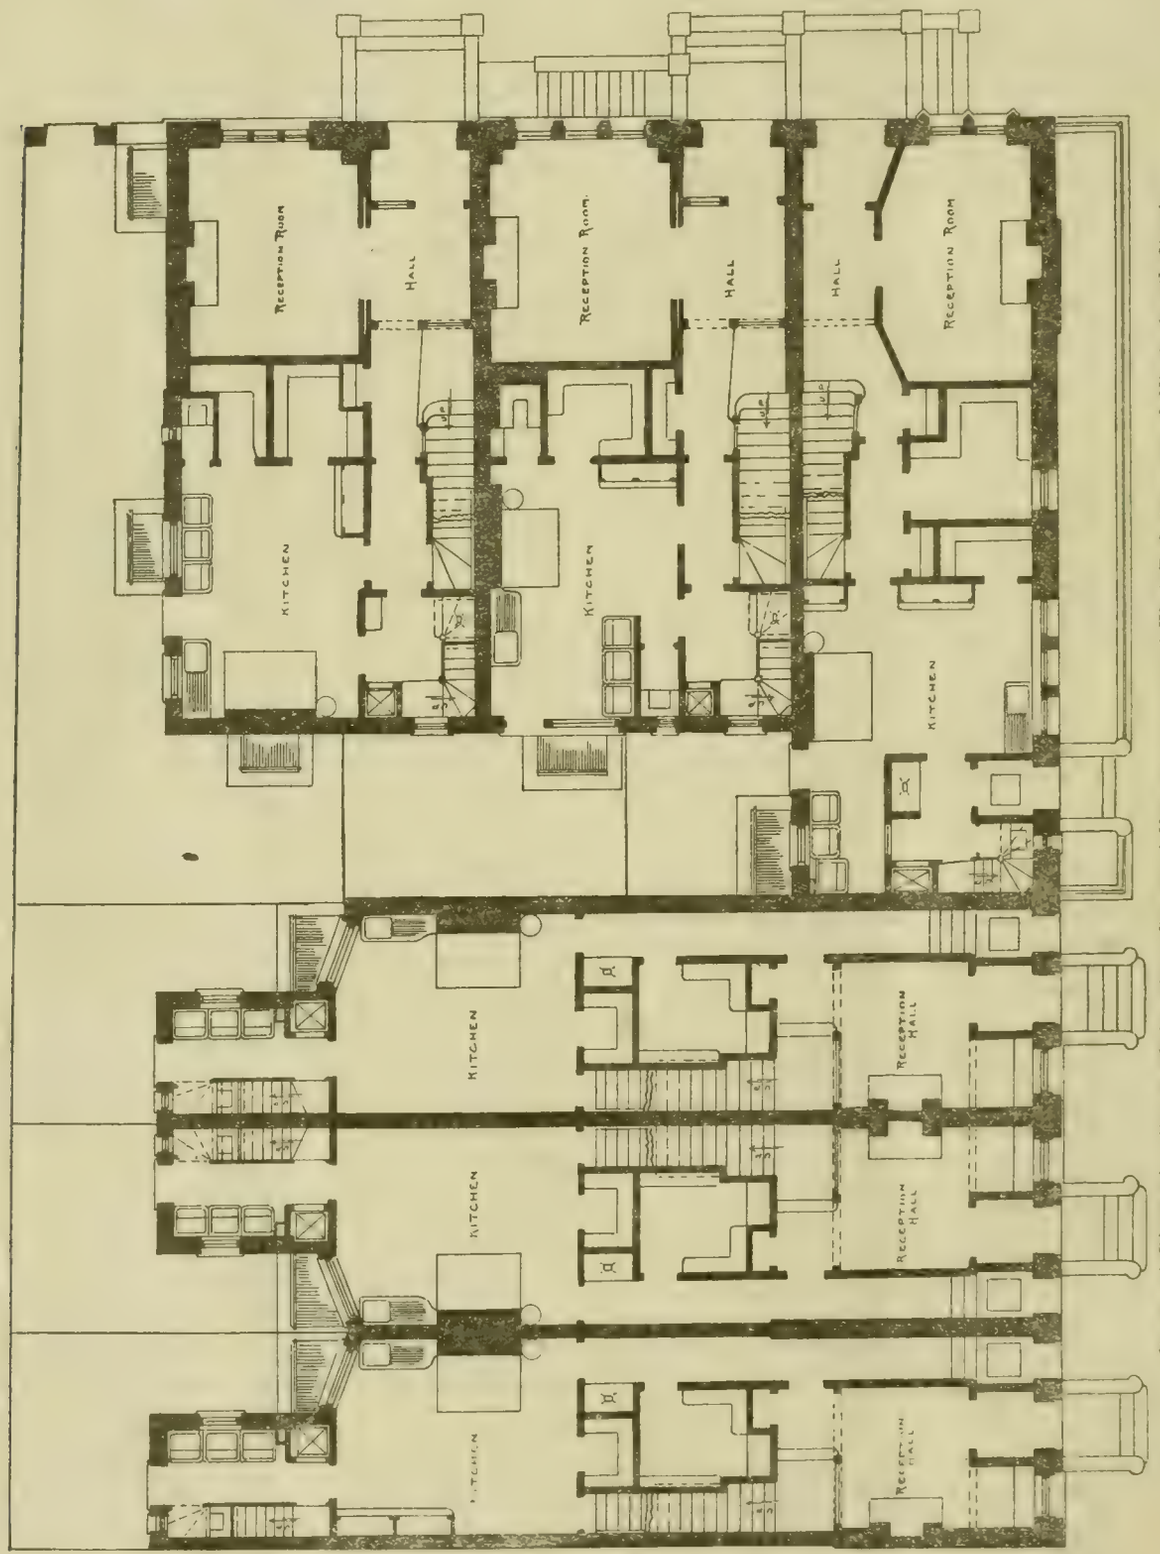
To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

SIR—I would like to have your opinion on the following:

A rents to B a piece of property for a term of years and in the lease stipulates that B shall pay the Croton water tax. B dies and C, his successor, asks A to assign the lease to him. This A declines to do, but gives C a new lease for the unexpired term, but in drawing up the new lease the lawyer through an oversight leaves out the Croton water clause. Now C refuses to pay the water tax.

Can A by notifying the Board of Public Works have the water shut off from the premises, or is he obliged to furnish water with the building? The building is used for business purposes only and is supplied with meters. A reply to the above will greatly oblige A SUBSCRIBER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19, 1893.



Answer.—No A is obliged to furnish water with the building or else bring a law suit, that is, a "suit in equity," to have the lease reformed, that is, amended, by adding to it the clause that tenant must pay the water tax on the ground of mutual mistake of the parties (A and C) in having accidentally omitted that clause from the document signed after they had agreed that C was to pay that tax, and intended that the lease should say so. But proper counsel fees to a lawyer who can handle such a suit successfully might cost as much as the Croton water, besides the risk that the Judge might conclude that A made a mistake, but that C did not.—LAW EDITOR.

NEWS OF THE BUILDING TRADES.

SOME MORE AMERICAN BASEMENT HOUSES.

The description of the "American Basement House," with illustrations, in the RECORD AND GUIDE, was received with greater general approval by builders than would have been expected. Its advantages where the lots are narrow, or where the prices are so high that the builder is required to build narrow houses in order to obtain any profit out of his undertaking, were manifest to everybody. Some features and some facts about them that were not available last week are given herewith. They show, with the accompanying illustrations, the hold which this type of house has already obtained upon advanced builders.

What may be called the pure type of the American Basement House is exemplified in the three houses on 94th street of the block of six houses on the northwest corner of West End avenue and 94th street, the basement plan of which is given herewith. In these houses the service entrance is on a level with the sidewalk and the main entrance is by a low platform stoop of few steps to the main vestibule and reception hall. Sometimes the sloping grade of the plot makes this plan of too difficult availability, and in such cases a modification of the type is used in which the service entrance is, as with the high-stoop plan, down under the stoop in the area.

Basement Plans of a Group of American Basement Houses, n r cor of West End Avenue and Ninety-fourth Street.

One of the best known builders in this city, Mr. Chas. A. Cowen, a Vice-President of the Building Trades' Club, and a man of long experience in house construction, is building a home for himself on the American Basement plan, on 104th street, south side, near West End avenue. The service entrance is on the street level to the east of the main entrance, which has an elevation of three steps from the sidewalk level. An independent hall leads back from the service entrance to the kitchen and the main entrance is to an ornamental vestibule and thence to the reception hall, from which the main staircase leads to the foyer hall on the parlor and dining room floor. The house is 18 feet wide outside, and by this plan the parlor occupies the full width of the house, and is a light, bright, symmetrical and roomy apartment nearly 17 feet wide, whereas, if it were a high-stoop house, and the main hall, 6 feet wide, had to be deducted from this width, it would leave for the parlor a width of less than 11 feet. Architect Ralph S. Townsend designed this house for Mr. Cowen.

Another American Basement House may be seen at No. 131 East 16th street. It was reconstructed from plans, by Architect Geo. Martin Huss, from an old style high stoop house. The owners were dissatisfied with the old house because of the dark and gloomy appearance of its basement, in the front of which the dining-room was located, and because of the narrowness of the parlor, in the rear of which the "back parlor" was located. In accordance with Mr. Huss' plans the front of the house was taken down and reconstructed in fine architectural style on the building line. Then the basement floor was raised to a level with the street and the parlor floor was raised in proportion. The dining-room was transferred to the back parlor, and between that and the new parlor a foyer hall was constructed. The front basement is now one of the most cheerful and inviting of rooms and the new parlor, occupying the full width of the house, is in reality what it was before only in imagination, a drawing-room. The American Basement House has evidently come to stay.

STEAM AND HOT WATER HEATING.

One of the busiest and most successful contractors for steam and hot water heating is Thomas K. Lemon, of No. 626 Columbus avenue, near 91st street. His selection by the following well-known builders to furnish heating apparatus for their new buildings is evidence of his ability, resources and workmanship, qualities earned by years of personal, practical supervision of work entrusted to him: J. Livingston & Son, five flats on northwest corner of Columbus avenue and 88th street; E. Kilpatrick, northwest corner of Columbus avenue and 68th street; A. J. Kerwin, 82d street, near Columbus avenue; Gordon Bros., northwest corner of Amsterdam avenue and 81st street; Pontiac Club; Smith & McMorrow, southwest corner of Madison avenue and 88th street. Mr. Lemon is also engaged in altering the heating apparatus in the block front on the west side of Columbus avenue, between 90th and 91st streets, for Mr O. C. Ferris. Crouter & Co., carpenters and builders, No. 155 West Broadway, capable and trustworthy, are ready to undertake repairs and alterations to buildings anywhere in the city, doing the whole work, or carpentry only.

They also undertake full charge, for owners and others, of the various mechanical work needed in buildings, such as carpenter work, mason work, plumbing, roofing, painting, etc. Such buildings given in their charge they regularly inspect, reporting promptly anything needed, with cost of making good, economically, doing nothing until owner is notified and consents. Owners and others having property in their charge can thus keep posted about the condition of their buildings, from time to time, and be able to keep their property always in good repair, without personal inspection. Owners should call on them and investigate their methods.

Out Among the Builders.

Architect S. D. Hatch has the plans under way for a twelve story fireproof office building which the New York Life Insurance Co. will build on the block between Broadway, Elm street, Leonard street and Catharine lane.

The Lawyers' Title Insurance Company will extend its new building, now in course of construction on Liberty street, running through to Maiden lane, to cover the lot No. 39 Liberty street, purchased by them yesterday from the city. This will give the new building an additional frontage of 22.6 feet and increase its total area about one-third.

Plumber Harold Reid will erect two five-story flats on the southwest corner of Perry and 4th streets, on a plot 61x72, from plans prepared by Architect James W. Cole.

T. S. Godwin is preparing plans for a six-story brick apartment house, 45.5x100 feet in size, to be erected on the northwest corner of 7th avenue and 26th street, for Albert Kellerhouse, to cost $80,000.

A. B. Ogden & Son have plans for six three-story and basement dwellings, 17x55, with extensions, to be constructed of brick, stone and terra cotta, at the northwest corner of Convent avenue and 148th street. Cost, $95,000.

Charles Rentz is the architect for a seven story and basement store and workshop building which Morris Levy will build at Nos. 47, 49 and 51 Pike street. The building will cover the plot, which is 63 10 front and 26 feet rear by 90 deep. Brick, stone and iron will be used in the front, the floors are to be concreted, and the main stairs are to be of iron with slate treads. The cost is estimated at $35,000.

John C. Burne is making the drawings for a one-story office building which will be built for Michael Regan at West Houston and West streets.

The following buildings were damaged by fire during the past week and will probably require reconstruction or redecoration: 1357 1st avenue, 31 Canal street, 248 Canal street, 719 and 721 Water street, 2217 2d avenue, 53 Manhattan street, owner Theodore Tarl; 143 to 149 West 19th street, 11 New Chambers street, 152 and 154 Grand street, 314 East 117th street, 12 Clinton place, 253 West 38th street, 128 Greenwich avenue, owner George Baldwin.

Out of Town.

LOWERRE STATION, N. Y.—George Palliser has plans on the boards for a two-story Colonial, gambrel roof dwelling, for B. S. Henning, C. E., of New York. The first story will be of boulders and the second frame, with gambrel roof. The cost is estimated at $5,000; and for Mrs. Buchanan a two-story Colonial frame dwelling, to cost $5,000.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y.—Architect George Palliser has the plans for the restoration of Builder Wm. H. Ramsey's house, on Broadway, recently badly damaged by fire. The repairs will cost about $3,000.

Personal.

Mr. John H. Shipway, of the firm of Nichols & Shipway, met with a painful injury during this week by being kicked by a fractious horse which he was driving. The lines had become tangled neath the horse's tail and in attempting to extricate them the animal kicked over the dashboard, striking Mr. Shipway upon the knee, causing a severe fracture of the knee pan. His many friends will earnestly hope for his speedy recovery and return to business.

Quick Renting.

T. J. Jenkins & Bro. are finishing six five-story flats on Manhattan and Morningside avenues. Three face on each avenue, and together they cover the south front on 115th street. There are sixty suites of apartments, each embracing seven rooms and bath. Although not yet finished forty-three of the sixty suites have been rented at from $32 to $48 per month. This rapid renting is certainly remarkable in times like these, but then it must be remembered the location is exceptionally good, and the builders have provided every known improvement for the convenience and comfort of the tenants.

There has recently been added to THE RECORD AND GUIDE newspaper plant a complete Book and Job outfit, and we are now prepared to estimate for and execute all orders. Commercial, Real Estate and Architectural Printing of a high order, promptly delivered, will be a feature of this department. A postal card addressed to THE RECORD AND GUIDE Press, No. 14 Barclay street, or Nos. 14 to 16 Vesey street, will insure the attendance of a competent representative to give estimates, etc. Orders by mail will receive the same attention as if given personally.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The quantity of business transacted this week and its distribution will be accepted by most observers of the course of the real estate market as indicative of a healthy activity. And, indeed, if there were not persons ready to buy it would have been impossible to present so encouraging a showing. The principal line of activity has been in residence properties, as is usual at this season of the year, but the highest class of suburban property has also figured prominently in the week's transactions and flat property has had some attention. All this is property which had been regularly in the market for sale. The large trades and purchases of two engine house properties from the city by different institutions, while they swell the total of the week's business, are out of the regular order of brokerage business and do not signify much. The fall season is drawing on towards its close and brokers are already looking forward and preparing their lines for spring business, without much expectation of further important dealings this fall. Real estate has held up very well through the financial depression and is generally held in such strong hands that it may be fairly well relied upon to hold its present strength until the revival of business in the spring. It would doubtless tone up the market some if a conclusion could be reached on the financial measure pending before the Senate, and the doubt about the final disposition of that measure has doubtless hindered some trades. This, at least, is the general feeling. But most brokers have about concluded in their own minds that nothing will be done by the Senate in time to effect any important improvement in the real estate market. In the auction market the sales are all of the peremptory kind—foreclosure sales almost exclusively, and the bidding is all but confined to the mortgagees and other plaintiffs. It offers large inducements to speculators, this auction market, in its present condition, but the speculators are still wary.

A BROKERS' AND OWNERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

A movement that merits all possible encouragement from owners and agents of real estate has just been inaugurated in Harlem. It is for the organization of owners and brokers into an association to combat the evil of free rents and to prepare and keep a record of dead-beat tenants. The association might find occupation in all parts of the city, but the abuse first mentioned has grown to its largest and most demoralizing proportions in the districts in which flat house construction has been most active during the last three or four years. It began about the lower section of Columbus avenue in a small way, several years ago, and followed the frontier of flat construction with growing strength until now it has reached alarming proportions. A certain class of builders in their anxiety to effect quick sales of their flats did not scruple to fill them with tenants who would agree to pay good-sized monthly rentals when they were given three or four months' rent free. There was in such instances what amounted to a conspiracy between the builder and the tenants to defraud the intending or prospective purchaser. In some cases the builder went so far as to furnish the tenants with receipted bills for the monthly rent for the free period, and to continue them on at a very low rate, receipting for the larger amount, after the free period had expired. The tenant performed his part of the fraudulent contract by exhibiting his receipted rent bills to the investigating buyer and assuring him that the rent was paid as made to appear, and by leading the property. This system soon bred a class of tenants who systematically evaded the payment of any rents whatever, and made prey of every new flat house into which they could secure a footing. Some owners there were who never yielded a particle to them, and who have thus escaped the spoliation of their property if they have not escaped occasional losses. But the abuse grew until otherwise honorable people, who would disdain asking a grocer to throw in a pound of sugar or a bar of soap with every purchase of a pound of tea, began to make their rental of a suite of rooms conditional upon "inducements" in the way of free rent, and those who were in the houses began to demand such "inducements" before they would renew their leases. Another phase of the abuse was that people of this degenerate class would take Scotch leave of their rooms at the beginning of summer, store their furniture in some one of the big storage warehouses to which this practice gave rise, and go to the country or the seashore for four or five months, leaving the landlord to whistle for his money, and enjoying themselves on the profits of their peculations.

Now it is the purpose of the intended association to combat all these evils; to organize and mutually agree to grant no concessions in the way of free rent; to prepare a list for the exclusive use of the association, of families who systematically beat their way through flat houses and of those who make a habit of taking their summer outings at the expense of their landlords. Once well started it would seem that no flat builder could afford to remain outside of such an association. The first question an intending purchaser would ask would be whether the property was represented in the association. Brokers would find it of service in saving them the trouble of long investigations of the records of applicant tenants, and the dead-beat class of tenants could thus be spotted and soon run out of the district.

Brokers Wood & Miller and Mainhart & Lowe, who have been working up the plan, have met only with favorable responses from the brokers whom they have consulted. Mr. Wood said that his idea was that it ought to include all the reputable brokers north of about 81st street on both sides of the city. Over twenty of them had signified their willingness to join and no one had yet refused to take part who was worth considering. The plan was still inchoate, but he thought the association ought to have offices and a managing clerk who would keep the records and be always present to answer inquiries. But the exact form and plan of association would be left for determination to a meeting which would probably be held within the next two weeks.

Richard V. Harnett & Co will, on Tuesday next, October 3d, sell at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, 59 to 65 Liberty street, the four-story, English basement, brownstone dwelling, No 215 East 13th street. It is 16.6x80, lot 103.8.

Richard V Harnett & Co. will, on Tuesday next, October 6th, sell at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, a handsome country residence property at Sharon Springs, New York. It consists of a two-story and cellar frame dwelling, 46x 9, with 18x25 extension and barn 19x4'. The residence plot is 12 x144, on the corner of Grove and Union streets, and a five-acre plot on the opposite side of the street goes with it.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

S. A. Horowitz has negotiated one of the largest trades of the season, the result of which is likely to be the improvement of part of the property traded at an expenditure of a quarter of a million dollars. Mr. Horowitz sold for Sender Jarmulowsky the premises known as the "Star Brewery," on the south side of 58th street, commencing 95 feet west of 3d avenue, embracing eight lots, together in size 200x100.5, for $180,000 to Builder Francis J. Schnugg. For Builder Schnugg Mr. Horowitz sold to Mr. Jarmulowsky the six new five story brick and stone flats, Nos 105, 111 and 113 East 96th street, and Nos. 134, 134 and 136 East 96th street, all between Park and Lexington avenues, three on the north side and three on the south side of the street, for a total of $185,000.

The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund yesterday sold the lot, 22.6x58.11 x22.8x60.10, No. 39 Liberty street, on which there was a fire engine house, to the Lawyers' Title Insurance Company for $110,000. The lot adjoins the plot purchased last year by the Lawyers' Title Insurance Co, running through to Maiden lane, and on which they are now building a twelve-story fire-proof office building. The plans for the new building will now be changed so as to extend the structure over the whole plot.

At the same meeting the Sinking Fund Commission sold to the New York Life Insurance Company the property, 23.7 front x79.5x23.8x80.10, on Leonard street, south side, about 60 feet west of Elm street, for $83,000. This purchase by the New York Life Company completes their title to the entire block between Broadway and Elm street, and Leonard street and Catharine lane. The Company has been only waiting to acquire this piece, which has been used for a fire-engine station, to proceed with the construction of a twelve-story building covering the entire block.

Terence Farley's Sons have sold to Clarence A. Watson the four-story brown stone dwelling, No. 56 West 72d street, size 20x75x100, for $56,000. This dwelling adjoins the Adrian flat, which accounts for the low price obtained.

Broker H. H. Bliss has sold for Daniel S. McElroy the three-story and basement brownstone, high stoop, private dwelling, No. 142 East 53d street, 16.6x50x100, for $15,000, to Emma L. King.

Ames & Co have sold, for the Dusenberry estate the three-story and basement brick dwelling, 17x55x100, No. 156 West 48th street, to E. Fuller, for $14 500.

The voluminous report in yesterday's Herald concerning the sale of the major part of the block bounded by Centre, Reade, Elm and Duane streets, for $500,000, would be the leading transaction of the week if it were true, but inquiry yesterday led to our being informed by good authority, including Judge Horace E. Russell, that there is not a word of truth in the report, and furthermore that no negotiations are pending. Another report of the sale of No. 566 5th avenue to M. P. Collins is over two months old appearing in our "Gossip" column on July 22d.

The buyer of No. 6 East 43d street, reported sold last week, is Henry D. Winans. We hear he refused an advance of $1,000 this week.

Corsault, of Buffalo, at about $151,000.—Louis Stern, of Stern Bros., has purchased the "Graystone" country seat from Mrs. Josiah Macy for $475,000. The property includes a tract of 100 acres besides the cut stone mansion and expensive outbuildings. It adjoins the "Lyndhurst" estate of the late Jay Gould on the north. Mrs. Macy paid $300,000 for the property about ten years ago. Mr. Stern's brother, Isaac, has a place of about 90 acres about half a mile south.

Out of Town.

John D. Rockefeller has purchased through Wm. H Hoyt & Co. about 450 acres of land at Tarrytown for a total of about $400,000. The several properties secured include the Wadsworth property comprising 15 acres; Geo. W. Parson's country seat, 17 acres; A. C. Stephens estate, 33 acres; J. H. Diggles, 85 acres; S. D. Law estate, 54 acres, and the Wilson property, 1 acre. Part of the 26 acres sold by Messrs. Blackwell & Scott had been laid out in building lots and sold to different buyers and had to be repurchased. Two houses built by Messrs. Blackwell & Scott recently will be removed to adjoining property owned by these gentlemen. They sold 291 lots and still hold 150 lots, which are nearly surrounded by Mr. Rockefeller's purchases. It is understood that Mr. Rockefeller will erect a grand mansion on the Wadsworth property, which is known as "Kaakout," the highest point of any of the land secured. Mr. Rockefeller's brother, William, owns an elegant estate of over 500 acres, known as "Rockwood," which lies on the river front, northwest of John D.'s purchase, but 300 feet below. Other property is still under negotiation, the details of which will be given later. The foregoing transactions were first announced in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of Sept. 2d.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Down to present writing there has been no radical change in the general characteristics of the market for Common Hards, but most leading operators seem to think affairs are shaping around into better form. Supply and demand have kept at a pretty good balance all the week, the limited shipments from points of production proving a fortunate development just at the juncture when consumption had run down to a very low point, and it has enabled receivers to keep the floating accumulations of unsold stock at two or three cargoes from day to day. Most of those, too, were poor, buyers picking the best qualities and possibly the upper grades are somewhat firmer in consequence, although without actual advance, and the figures used on quotations show the same general range as for a week or two past. It is reported that very few brick have been piled away by either contractors or dealers and that, of course, gives hope of a better demand before long even should consumption fail to improve, and might possibly act as a stimulant, but there are a great many barges loaded at primal points awaiting more favorable conditions, and on signal would no doubt come along freely. We are informed that a large percentage of workers in Haverstraw Bay have quit work, but that at other points along the river production is continued as though manufacturers had no idea that cold weather was close at hand and the natural end of the season in sight.

LATH.—About the only new feature on the market is some increase of arrivals, and these by fair management seem to have been disposed of without change in cost. There is an idea that dealers here and there would not object much to putting in a little stock but they are not hungry for it, and receivers act as though it was not deemed good policy to attempt raising cost, lest arrivals be attracted, for notwithstanding the talk of scant amounts at primal points, producers seem to have had a great many lath to send forward from time to time. There is nothing offering from the interior at ruling figures.

LIME.—There has been an increase in the arrivals since last report, bringing all the stock required and leaving some of it on hand unsold. There was for a while quite a little force to the demand for fluishing which has worked closer than common, although at the close matters were quiet for all qualities. No change has been ordered in prices by the combine. A cargo of nearly two thousand barrels came in from St. John and was sold at 85c. State lime continues fairly active and rules steady, with supply enough available for all the outlets at present provided.

LUMBER.—The local situation is still barren of features or information requiring any very extended remark. Indeed, were it not for the propriety of preserving the regular routine of record, it might be as well to omit reports for a while, as their only service can be for reference when better times come and it may be thought worth while to look back for reference. The suggestion of an improved condition of affairs at some future period, just made, of course implies a latent feeling of hope and it would truly be a deplorable state of affairs if such did not exist, but the trouble is to fix a time when realization may be expected. The building interest seems to have been particularly influenced by the financial strain and to have reached a point of unusual quietness so far as the balance of the calendar year is concerned at least, and most manufacturing industries also manifest the extreme of economy in production; even the box makers, who ordinarily contrive to make a respectable sort of showing, now finding operations much curtailed by the narrow condition of the dry goods trade and other lines of business to which they look for a consumption of their product. Some export trade takes place, but the political troubles of South American states tends to diminish the foreign outlet also Confronted by the uncertainties mentioned dealers are naturally still disposed to move with exceeding caution and keep their line of obligations well within the boundaries of positive safety, so that natural demand is very limited, and in many cases negotiations are refused even when bargains are presented. There are exceptions to the rule, houses with fat bank accounts or unimpeached credit, if they desire to use it, where more or less investment takes place, and upon which the advantages obtained now can hardly fail to bring a good profitable margin, even allowing for possible carrying expenses, but in many cases choice, and in others necessity are inducing dealers to struggle along as well as they can with such supplies as they may happen to have under control and await further developments. Moderation in the offerings has been a satisfactory feature of the summer months and undoubtedly proved a potent factor in preventing more or less serious demoralization, but with the progress of the season there are evidences of growing impatience among holders of bulk parcels and it results in quiet efforts to find custom by modification of cost, most marked thus far on the coarser grades of stock, but commencing to show on better qualities. Sellers can and do claim to be booking orders at old rates which is all very well so far as it goes, but they are not telling of the various little methods through which customers are given really liberal advantages increasing the proportions of high grade stuff far beyond the usual allowance being a particularly common practice. Reports from the West indicate some revival of business, but at the East and South complaints of an exceedingly dull tone continue.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES

STATE.

The only report the Albany Argus thinks the situation worthy of is embodied in the following:

The situation continues to improve slowly and the half dozen larger pine and spruce houses report a fair trade with a prospect that the fall business will be equal to 75 per cent of last year. Lumber freights are again at $1 75 per M. ft. from Tonawanda. Hemlock lath are temporarily out of market.

THE WEST.

Reviewing the general situation the Northwestern Lumberman says:

There is increased buying of cargo lumber on the part of wholesale dealers at this and other lake markets. Stocks having run low during the summer, they must be replenished before winter. In this market dealers are particularly anxious to add to their supply of joists and scantling before the close of navigation, and the market has recently been greatly stimulated on this account. Prices have advanced from $8.50 a thousand early in the month to $10 at the present time, with prospects that the price will go higher. Responsible dealers can now get any desired accommodations from the banks for the purpose of putting in lumber. This is a remarkable change from the condition a short time ago, and is an emphatic example of the passing of the panicy period.

It is also stated from Lake Superior points that buyers from the east and down the lakes begin to put in an appearance and inquire for lumber. This is another sign of an improving market. It shows that, now that confidence has been restored, dealers are getting ready for future trade. Stocks in wholesale and retail yards are light, too much so to venture into the winter in that condition. Some preparation must be made for the winter and spring demand, even if it is to be but ordinary. The movement of cargo lumber at the present time is not in expectation of fall trade, but for trade early next year.

It is a noteworthy feature of the current condition that, though the mills around the lakes are banked up with accumulated lumber the holders of it are not inclined to slaughter it at extremely low prices. The determination not to do so caused the deadlock on the cargo market in this city and in Saginaw and Bay City during the summer. A few cargoes were sold at low prices for cash in this market, and some slight concessions were made in eastern Michigan, but no large amount of lumber was sacrificed. Now that buyers begin to take hold again prices of dimension have sprung upward. Even at the advance the manufacturers are showing no disposition to sell liberally, but insist on a still further advance.

Events of the present season have had the general effect to render northern pine stumpage owners and manufacturers conservative in their intentions about pushing production in the near future. The purpose now seems to be to go into the woods for a restricted cut of logs the coming winter and thereby curtail the output of lumber next season. The conclusion has been generally reached that the demand for lumber for an indefinite period to come, and assuredly for the next year, is to be light compared to the requirement in recent years, and that the only way to maintain values of both stumpage and lumber is to keep product within the bounds of actual consumptive demand. This is a good rule to go by in any case, and probably the white pine operators now have as good an opportunity to make a practical test of it as they could experience in a lifetime.

There is another view to be taken of the prospective situation. Should the northern pine producers restrict their output in order to ease the market and prevent a collapse of values in stumpage and lumber, it would be the southern pine producers' opportunity. They would rush into the breach, their ardor stimulated by a long waiting for orders. They would sell at figures that would make northern competition tired. Thus getting a start, it would be hard for northern manufacturers to stem the tide of southern competition after the demand had again assumed normal proportions. It is quite probable that the safest way for northern operators is to go into the woods this fall for an ordinary input of logs, and thus be ready to meet any possible requirement

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman says:

Prices are not improved to any extent, being still pretty low. The fact that all the traveling men are out and hard at work does not tend to stiffen them at all, and the continuing of the sawing season so as to give those mills that were behind on stock a chance to fill up their yards, will not help the situation any. Everything points to an increased demand in a couple of weeks, although just now the market is holding its own and but little more, under encouraging prospects.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has not found very active demand of late owing in part to previous liberal engagements by principal lines of custom. The contracts entered into, however, makes a balance against a large proportion of the output, preventing an accumulation in first hands and keeping the situation free from pressure. On the average range of valuation we quote at 9¾@9⅝c. for Lake and 9¾@9⅝c for casting brands. Manufactured copper is a little more freely without becoming really animated. The demand comes mainly from regular sources, and seems fairly well satisfied with an ordinary assortment of stock. Prices generally are found to be about steady. We quote as follows: Sheet, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 23c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 24c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 25c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 28c.; do, under 8 oz, 30c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c. for 12@14 oz., 2c. for 10@12 oz, and 3c. for 8@10 oz. Sheets, not above 36x96 in., 16 oz and over, 22c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 24c.; do, 12 to 14 oz, 26c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 30c.; do, 8 to 10 oz, 33c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 22c. for over 32 oz, and add 1c. for 16 to 32 oz.; 1c. 14 to 16 oz.; 1c. 12 to 14 oz. 1c. for 10 to 12 oz., and 12c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets, not above 48x96 32 to 64 oz, 22c.; do, 16 to 32 oz, 24c.; do, 14 to 16 oz, 26c. do, 12 to 14 oz, 28c.; do, 10 to 12 oz, 32c Sheets wider than 48 in. and longer, 22@25c. for 32 to 64 oz.; 25@28c. for 16 to 32 oz, 27@29c. for 14 to 16 oz. and 29@34c. for 12 to 14 oz. All bath tub sheets, per lb., 16 oz. 24c.; 14 oz, 26c.; 12 oz, 27c.; and 10 oz, 29c. Bolt copper, ⅜ inch diameter and over, 22c. Circles, segments and pattern sheets, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do do, 4c. do; circles, 96 do and over, 5c. do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottoms, 26@32c. per lb IRON—American Pig has found rather more demand from a few quarters, foundry and mill grades both participating, but there is nothing like general demand, nor evidence that such a development can be expected for the present at least. Now and then a small lot of foreign is sold on special order. For domestic grades prices remain about steady. We quote at $14.00@14.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $13.00@13.50 for No. 2 X do. and $11.50@12.50 for Gray Forge. Old material has not of late been so active as early in the month, and orders overrun in the main to small lots. Against the call the offerings are ample, and sellers generally manage to give desirable custom pretty easy rates. We quote at $14.50 @15.00 for old iron rails; $11.50@13.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $10.00@11.50 for cast scrap; 12.5 @ 13.00 for old car wheels, and $7.00@10.50 for borings, stove plate etc Manufactured iron has found only a sort of routine demand and not of very large volume, and in many cases there is complaint over the absence of tenders for bids on parcels for future delivery. Prices a trifle unsettled, without pronounced change established. We quote: Beams up to 15-inch, 1.75@ 2c.; 20-inch, 2.10@2.25c., for round lots; Angles, 1.75 @1.90c.; Universal Mill Plates, 1.70@1.90c ; Tees, 2@ 2.15c.; Channels 1.8[illegible]@2c on dock. Steel plates are 1.65@1.90c. for Tank; 1.90@2.10c. for Shell; 2@2.15c for Flange, and 2.5 @2.80c. for Fire Box, on dock; Refined Bars are 1.6[illegible]@1.9c, on dock, and Common, 1.4[illegible]@1.6c Steel Rails have a dull sort of tone for all deliveries. Contract requirements are not extensive, and requests to postpone deliveries continue, while new orders are few and far between. Cost is named as before. We quote standard sections $29 per ton at mill, with usual advances for delivery at tide water. Pig lead is selling in single car lots to a moderate extent, but outside of that there appears to be no demand, and the market shows up rather slow as a rule. Prices are a trifle unsettled We quote at 3¾ @ 3¾c. per lb. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 6¼c. for Pipe, 7c. for Sheet, 15c. for Tin-lined Pipe, and 37½c. for Block Tin Pipe. Pig tin as the leading speculative metal undergoes constant fluctuation both of movement and value, reflecting in the main the changes abroad. Domestic demand for consumption, however, is slow and satisfied with small parcels. We quote at about 20.85@21c. for round lots, and 21⅛@ 21¼c for jobbing parcels. Tin plate sells somewhat irregularly. For bright charcoals and ternes orders are light and of a jobbing character, but quite a number of good sized lots of coke plates have of late been placed. Prices close fairly steady all around. We quote as follows: I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment Melyn grade, $6.35@6.37½ Charcoal Melyn grade crosses, $8.00; I. C. Charcoal, ½ cross assortment, Allaway grade, $5.60@5.65; Allaway grade crosses, $6.75; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.50@7.55; M. F. grade, 20x28, 15@15.05; Worcester, 14x20, $5.75@5.80; Worcester, 20x28, $11.35 @11.40; Dean grade, 14x20, $5.30@5.35; Dean grade, 20x28, $10.50@10.6 ; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $5.15@ 5.20; D. R. D. grade 20x28, $10. 0@10.15; I. C. Coke, Penlan grade, 5.20@5.25; J. B. grade, 14x20, 5.37½@ 5.40; I. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.60@ —— basis; I. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.67@ —— basis. Spelter has now and then secured a fair-sized order, but dealings were generally on a moderate scale and the value line secured no assistance. We quote 3.80@3.90c for Common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—There has been some lapse in trade again, attributed in part to the end of the month, when operators are likely to curtail negotiations even in the best of times. Manufacturers, however, now seem to have the production fairly well gauged to the outlet and accumulations do not run up rapidly, while on prices the line is held pretty steadily, wire nails showing best tone Moderate trade is doing on export account. We quote Cut at $1.05@1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.30@1.35 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.45@ 1.50 for car lots, and $1.60@1.70 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Business continues fair, probably on the whole quite as full as last week and there is reason to hope for a reasonably good trade during the coming month Expectations are based upon the assumption of limited stocks in hands of dependent custom, and the necessity for accumulating a working assortment of standard goods. Recent business has shown a slow movement of orange mineral of domestic make, but a fair demand for foreign brands. Quite a little business has been done in the cheaper grades of litharge adapted to wants of rubber and glass manufacturers, but finer qualities were handled somewhat indifferently. Dry and oil colors secured only routine attention and the general line of mixed paints sold slowly. Domestic Oxide Zinc has moved with greater freedom in meeting calls for parcels due on contract and also in common with foreign grades found a little increase in new demand Red lead dull, and white lead without unusual movement, the official line of valuation remaining as before. Corroders' rates stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 7¼c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6¾c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 6½c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 6⅛c.; kegs. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c.; and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots on 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent. discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corroding point. Linseed Oil has fair demand, but the market continues more or less unsettled in the matter of value consequent upon the apparent determination of a portion of the manufacturing interest to push trade at all hazards. At the close there appears to be a little better undertone We quote on general range at 40@43c. for Western, 43@45c. for City from domestic seed, and 61@62c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine does not find much general demand, and although receivers abstain from pressure the general tone of the market is rather easier under ample supplies. We quote at 27¾@28½c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Without reaching a point of animation business on the whole shows fairish volume and operators consider the market as doing just about as well as could be expected. Sellers, however, gain no advantage; indeed, have in some instances slightly modified extreme valuations and seem to have plenty of stock to offer. We quote Tar at $1.70@1.75 in pine or Wilmington bbls, $2.10@2.15 in pork bbls., and $3.00@3.25 in oil bbls.. Pitch $1.50 @1.70.

offers a complete protection against
DRY ROT, FUNGI, MILDEW,
MOLD AND CRYPTOGAMS,
and is available for both Wood-work and Masonry.

This new substance is a product of the FARBEN-FABRIKEN vorm. FRIEDR. BAYER & CO., Elberfeld, Germany. It has been thoroughly examined and tested by Professors V. MILLER and HARZ, who have stated that

"ANTINONNIN IS A PEERLESS PREVENTATIVE OF MILDEW."

The Chief Inspector of Buildings at Munich, Herr STETTNER, and many architects and builders, have indorsed this view.

Antinonnin is odorless, non-volatile, soluble in water, and makes eligible mixtures with Lime and other distemper applications.

Antinonnin penetrates wood and remains in it, forming a perfect protection against fungi, mildew, and continuous dampness.

Antinonnin is far superior to Tar Oils, Carbolineum and similar preparations on account of its freedom from odor, its ease of application, its lasting properties, and its EXTRAORDINARY POWER AS A DESTROYER of all fungoid growths and all organisms which favor dampness and mildew.

ANTINONNIN
is the best application now known for the MASONRY and WOOD-WORK of CELLARS, STORE-HOUSES, WINE-CLOSETS, LAUNDRIES, STABLES, WATER-CLOSETS, all OUT-HOUSES, and all structures exposed to the influences of damp.

BUILDING MATERIAL PRICES.

Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands. Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors and, altogether, it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable n character.

VOL. LII. OCTOBER 7, 1893. No. 1,334

THE universal dullness that affects all business is as may be expected very noticeable on the Stock Market where it has taken on proportions that threaten values. Indeed it is quite remarkable in view of the small volume of business that prices have been maintained as well as they have and this can only be attributed to the absence of liquidating sales. Should any large amount of long stock come on the market at such a time as this it could not fail to break prices, as has been seen to a moderate extent already in special instances. Luckily short sales do not get much encouragement, as seen in the case of Lackawanna. Of course all faces are turned towards Washington in the expectation of relief and with piteously small prospect of getting it with necessary promptness. Only a Carlyle could fittingly express the popular feeling on this head. That the business men of the country are aroused to the necessity of resenting the outrage that is being put upon them by the Senate in delaying to carry out the unmistakable wishes of the people is seen in the declaration of the Memphis Exchange, the deputation of Baltimore merchants who waited on Senator Gorman, the movement in the Union League Club of Philadelphia, and the petition of the New York business men that is now being so extensively signed. The anger and disgust of the community is not so much directed against the silver men, because it has not been expected that they would do other than what they have done, but it is the majority who are rightfully blamed for allowing themselves to be put into the ridiculous position they now stand in of being unable to carry out their own wishes and the wishes of the people they represent by a body of men inferior in numbers and backing. While the majority in the Senate are so negligent of their duties the loss the country is suffering is incalculable. The evil results of the Sherman law have already been pecuniarily enormous, and the present commercial prospect is best stated in the New York petition previously referred to: "The failure of the Senate to act promptly is exciting fresh apprehension, is seriously curtailing business, is keeping hundreds of thousands of workingmen out of employment, and is, in our opinion, depressing the price of everything that the farmer or planter has to sell. We believe that each day of uncertainty costs the merchants, farmers and workingmen of the United States an aggregate amount that must be reckoned by millions of dollars, that each month of delay means a loss of scores of millions of dollars to those who are dependent upon daily wages."

THE bill which the New York and New Jersey Bridge Company (the "Charlie" Swan scheme) has before the United States Senate this year contains further internal evidence of the speculative character of the scheme. For years it has been the pretension of the promoters that they would build a suspension bridge across the river with a span of at least 2,000 feet. In this year's bill that pretension is abandoned and instead there is published a drawing of a cantilever structure with two piers, one of which is located in the navigable channel, 810 feet out from the New Jersey pierhead line, and is 200 feet square at the base. The bill also provides that the New York approach shall be located anywhere a footing can be obtained, except south of 66th street, and that the plans for the approaches on the New York side shall be made subject to the approval of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund of New York City. A meeting of the Committee on National Legislation of the West End Association was held last week at the offices of Ormiston & Dorsett, No. 7 Nassau street, at which the bill was considered. While the bill in its present shape excites little or no alarm because of the generally accepted belief that the Senate will give it no countenance, still the Association determined to enter its protest against its passage, and accordingly resolved to request of the Senate Committee on Commerce the privilege of a hearing before final action should be taken. On inquiry among the members of the Association it is learned that if the bridge bill provided for the location of the New York end below 60th street, and the promoters were put under bonds to begin the work of construction within a definite, reasonable period, and to complete the structure within a given time, there would be no objection to it. But it is because the known promoters have demonstrated no financial ability to carry through so vast a scheme, and because of the universal belief that they are exploiting with the project only as a speculation, and that they have no real intention to undertake the construction of the bridge, that these property-owners are opposed to it. Neither would they feel specially justified in interfering with the plans of the "bridge people," if the project did not hang like a blight over all the property that is threatened by the approaches. While no reasonable person has any idea that the scheme is other than preposterous and impracticable and will never be built, there are many timid souls who will give the threatened district a wide berth as long as the bridge continues to "hang in the air."

THE Real Estate Auctioneers' Association, we understand, are drafting a bill which will be introduced into the next Legislature with the support of the Tax Commissioners, the aim of which is to render illegal the expression of false considerations in Conveyances. It is proposed that to every deed recorded there shall be attached an affidavit wherein the purchaser shall swear that the consideration stated in the instrument represents the actual consideration given by him to the seller. Penalties, of course, will be attached to false statements. It has been proposed that it might be well if it were enacted that the expression of fictitious considerations in deeds vitiate title to property. This, however, would be too radical a measure, as it would throw doubt upon all titles which it would be very difficult to clear away. The purpose of the measure is excellent, and it will certainly receive the support of all but the shady element in the real estate world. There is no doubt that of recent years the records necessitated by law have been much used by unscrupulous persons for sharp practices and to delude the unsuspecting. Any one wishing to keep his business to himself may do so by putting a nominal consideration in a conveyance, but in most cases where higher figures than the exact ones are used it is for the purpose of befooling some one. We sincerely hope that the Auctioneer Association will vigorously push this intended measure of theirs, the passage of which through the Legislature cannot but be most salutary.

WE spoke last week of the census of the unemployed in Chicago, which showed that 75,000 men in the skilled trades in the Western Metropolis are idle. A newspaper in Philadelphia has since made a similar count for its city, with results which show that some thirty thousand men are without work there. This latter enumeration, however, though it may be correct, will lack the authority, and, for the general public, the convincingness of the Chicago census, because the latter was taken by the city police in a systematic way. It seems to us that the officials of New York might with great advantage undertake, from time to time, similar enumerations. We saw how easily such work can be done when the municipality made its census to check or verify the federal count of New York's population. Statistics of this sort are not mere valueless figures. They give the business men of this country information as to the condition of industrial affairs which cannot be obtained in any other way, and which would be as valuable to manufacturers, merchants and artisans as clearing-house statements or reports of the condition of the Treasury at Washington. In times like the present they would be of special significance. Indeed we venture to say there are no figures that have appeared lately apropos of the industrial depression which have been of as much account as the Chicago figures of the unemployed and the similar figures concerning Philadelphia.

THE Ellison trial called forth a letter from David Dudley Field which ought not to be lost sight of. The matter which he touches upon is one which should be taken up by the Bar Association or by the Judges of this city, or by some one else in authority. Every one familiar with the practice of our courts is well aware that the cross-examination of witnesses has become a tyranny which tends rather to defeat than to assist in the administration of Justice. It is a species of blackguardism which undoubtedly deters many people from applying to the courts for the redress of wrongs and witnesses from testifying save under compulsion. The Ellison case is a very good example of the extent to which this abuse has been carried. Any one who has read reports of the trial must have remarked that the larger part of the evidence admitted, particularly that educed by cross-examination, shed very little light upon the matter at issue. Indeed it is difficult to discover from the reports that it was a question of fact as to a certain alleged assault that was the matter at issue and not the private character, social and financial standing of all the witnesses as well as the principals. The greater part of this stuff was elicited for the purpose of punishing and intimidating witnesses and befogging the jury. What we need in our Judicial practice is the adoption of something like the three following sections, which are part of a code of evidence the enactment of which Commissioners appointed by the State have long been advocating.

"SECTION 220.—A witness may be impeached by the party against whom he is called by evidence that his general reputation for truth is bad or that his moral character is such as to render him unworthy of belief, but not by evidence of particular wrongful acts, except that it may be shown by the examination of the witness, or a record of conviction, that he has been convicted of a crime or misdemeanor. The party producing a witness, when he is permitted to impeach him, may do so in the same manner.

"SEC. 227.—It is the duty of the Court to protect every witness from irrelevant, insulting or improper questions, from harsh or insulting treatment and from unnecessary inquiry into his private affairs. The Court must forbid any question which appears to be intended to insult or annoy a witness, or which, though proper in itself, appears to be needlessly offensive in form. A witness can be detained only so long as the interests of justice require.

"SEC. 228.—The Court may forbid any questions or inquiries which it regards as indecent or scandalous, although such questions or inquiries may have a bearing on the questions in dispute, unless they relate to facts in issue or to facts relevant to the issue."

IT has been clear for some time past that the Senate is not amenable to public opinion. A few obstructionists are determined to block the way of legislative action at any cost, and there is apparently no means available to bring them to terms, unless it be by a compromise. It is impossible to see the outcome of the controversy. The best instructed opinion of the country is decidedly adverse to compromise, which would result in maintaining the silver problem as a discordant factor, not only in politics where it can do little harm, but in the commercial situation where it certainly would be most injurious. By this step doubt and insecurity would be retained as, in a sense, a permanent part of the financial system of the country, and everybody must see that, putting theories for a moment on one side, this can have but a harmful effect. Suppose we admit that the position of the silver men is correct, still, what are we going to do if capital remains timid and refuses to move freely in the ordinary channels of business? Even if we admit the thing to be possible, at the very best it will take years of missionary work to convert European capitalists, our own bankers and monied men that a silver dollar is as good as a gold dollar. We must also remember that a very large part of our own people are opposed to Bimetallism, and others, who are "friendly to silver," regard it as impossible for the United States to rehabilitate the "white metal" by its own single and unaided effort.

THE unfortunate circumstance is that the country is in no position to deal intelligently with the situation or to handle it, without danger, as a practical question calling for immediate solution. It has been made a "popular question," and yet the bulk of the people who read and talk and write about it, and indeed those who have the matter immediately in their hands really know nothing about it. We are in the midst of a confusion of voices. Raw theories are being cried into the public ear at all corners, and a mass of crude, undigested facts are pouring in upon us as fast as printing press can turn them out. In the last number of the Review of Reviews may be found a good example of the stuff, amid which the public mind has to exercise itself. Edward B. Howell writes on the "Evils of an Appreciating Currency." He says the gold dollar has appreciated in value. The world-wide fall of prices shows it. Statistics show it. Then he presents a number of charts which show that the value of cereals, cotton, steel rails, etc., has greatly declined in value since 1873. We may admit all his facts; it is the interpretation he puts upon them that is open to question. The danger is that one-sided judgments of the kind give the sensation of conviction to the uninformed and shut them off from intelligent search for other and conflicting facts which are really necessary to adequate judgment. If these were presented to the "average person" he would be confounded, the problem seen on all sides is so complex. Mr. Howell may be right; the gold dollar may have appreciated in value but clearly the fall of prices which he speaks of need not be wholly or principally the result of such appreciation. Inventions, approved methods of production, increase in technical and manual skill, all have undoubtedly had an enormous influence in cheapening goods, and it would not be an easy task for anybody to say exactly how much the decline, say, in the price of clothing, is due to the appreciation of gold, and how much to improvements in methods of production and distribution. The former, we believe, has b en of small account. The public, however, is pelted with superficial notions like the foregoing and one-sided arguments, and the result is that their mental process hardens into some one idea which is banded about and makes confusion worse confounded. It is a great pity that these theoretical questions have to be interjected in a raw state into the practical affairs of the nation.

Our Exhibit of Administrative Awkwardness.

THE magazines are filled with accounts of the architectural and other triumphs achieved by the managers of the World's Columbian Exposition, and we have freely expressed our own high estimate of the great exhibition they have organized. But one thing that should not be left unnoticed is that the fair is so characteristically American that it bodies forth some of our national defects in heroic proportions and sets them on pedestals for the world to look at. Some one ought to write, for the education of the American people, a critical history of the administrative side of the fair. While describing the beautiful symmetry and the effectiveness of the exhibits that fill machinery hall, we should not forget to notice the portentous awkwardness and wastefulness of the administrative machine that was constructed to create and regulate the whole enterprise. Its elaborate system of checks and balances, its mixture of contradictory and contentious authorities is so like other governmental devices of ours that it may be studied as typical.

Something of the tangled condition of things has of course been given to the public through the newspapers. The constant quarrels between various boards, with resultant masculine profanity and feminine tears, have been partially described. Besides, the paralysis that has resulted from all this has been manifest to everyone and the shortcomings of the fair can be very directly traced to it.

Americans pride themselves especially on being on time, "up to date." And yet the fair is a year behind time to start on. Then the wretched unpreparedness that characterized the first two months of the exposition gave it a bad name all over the civilized world. One man who went there the second week in June vented his disgust somewhat in this way: "I am not a sightseer. To tramp around and look at things posing as curiosities makes me tired in both the literal and the slang sense of the term. But there was one department that I was interested in, and from the exhibit in which I expected to obtain material of definite use in my business. I therefore made at once for the anthropology building but found to my consternation that it was not finished and not open to the public. I lied to obtain admission, and then found that the exhibits in which I was interested, that of Charities and Correction, was still in the boxes, in so far as it had been received at all. It remained practically in this condition during the whole time that the International Congress of Charities, Correction and Philanthropy was in session in the city. Now, I happened to know that back of this chaotic condition of things there was a long series of gratuitous delays and administrative blunders resulting from divided authority and unfixed responsibility.

"But," continued the disgusted patron of the fair, "I concluded to make the best of it and see what was to be seen. I went to the Cave Dwellers and was held up for an additional admission fee. Then I wandered into the Agricultural building, which seemed to be only an exaggerated state fair; and finally at the end of the first day I was so tired and indignant that I thought of bringing suit against the management for getting money under false pretenses. It seemed to me that such a suit ought to be successful against those who had got me to Chicago to see an exhibit of Charities and Corrections, and then appeared to expect me to be satisfied with what was said to be the finest collection of manure-spreaders that the world had ever seen."

This particular specialist after the first day recovered from his disgust somewhat and found many things to interest him, but his commendation of the fair on returning home was inevitably colored by his disappointment.

Another thing which hurt the fair in its infancy was the exploitation of visitors on the opening day. Of course the fair management was not responsible for the glad assurance with which Chicago started out to skin people, but the extortion on the grounds, which is now admitted to have been practiced during the opening days, might have been and should have been guarded against. Certain Germans, who were there at the opening, went back to the Fatherland and stated positively and in good faith that one could not live in Chicago on less than twenty-five dollars per day, and the effect of such reports is known to have kept intending visitors at home. Then a standing aggravation of those who visit the fair is a feeling that as much is being made out of them as possible. One wishing to collect points against monopolies could speedily fill a note book on the World's Fair grounds. The management would have made more from admission fees if they had exploited less rigorously the concessionaires.

Back also of the fair is the city of Chicago itself, wonderfully commendable in some respects but badly administered, the most prominent feature to a stranger being its dirty and dangerous streets. A New Yorker cannot cast stones at a city for allowing its street transportation to be wretched, the cars to be crowded and the management recklessly wasteful of nerves and life. But one who rides on the Cottage Grove Cable in Chicago is inclined to swear at or maltreat the heedless and ill-mannered conductors until he remembers that they are only the overworked and underpaid employes of a corporation that "has no body to be kicked and no soul to be damned," that the long hours of strained attention which are required of them make it impossible for them to be good-mannered, and that back of the whole wretched, reckless system is the bungling, unthrifty city government of Chicago—typically American.

Nine Months of Real Estate.

CONSIDERING the financial condition of the country the figures which we give below are a noteworty indication of the stability of New York real estate. They show, despite a tightness of money unparalleled in the history of the country, that real estate has been about as active as it was in the same period a year ago. 10,511 conveyances were recorded this year, involving $183,274,189 against 10,798 conveyances, involving $180,742,683 in the first nine months of 1892, and 10,689 conveyances, involving $180,416,195 in 1891. But the figures for the current year do not quite reveal the whole of the situation. It was not at any rate until after June that the financial stringency was acutely felt, and we may see in the tables appended how rapidly transactions fell off after that time so that the totals for the nine months would have been considerably below that of 1892 had not the earlier part of the year been so active as it was. The next three months, if present indications hold, are not likely to witness as great activity as in the same period last year, and this will probably bring the yearly total for 1893 below that of 1892.

The tightness of the money market one would naturally think would be most clearly visible in the mortgages, but even here the falling off is not as great as might reasonably have been expected; also the proportion of loans made at 5 per cent and at less than 5 per cent compares favorably with conditions a year ago. Here, again, we must not forget that the full effects of the stringency are not yet visible in the statistics. In 1893, in the months of August and September, about $24,000 000 was loaned on real estate (excluding a special mortgage for $2,500,000), whereas this year during those two months something like $20,000,000 was loaned. The falling off will probably be more marked in the October and November figures, and the proportion at low rates of interest will be greatly decreased.

The foregoing remarks are also applicable to the figures of the number of buildings projected. One thousand one hundred and ninety-seven plans, entailing an estimated expenditure of $50,558,463 were filed this year against 1,450 and $49,974,601 last year, but the figures for 1893 include $5,000,000 (the stated cost of the new Episcopal Cathedral), which can hardly be regarded as actual work. Making this deduction the total still is remarkable considering the hard times. It is fully equivalent to the total for the same period of 1891. There has been, however, so marked a decline in building operations during August and September, and there is so little new work in sight at the present day, that we may safely anticipate a big falling off in the totals for the twelve months.

Henry D. Purroy on Rapid Transit.

AN OLD REPORT THAT READS LIKE A PROPHECY.—"THE CITY SHOULD BUILD AND OWN THE ROAD."

Comptroller Theo. W. Myers is not the only one among the leading citizens in official position who favor the construction of a road by the city as a public work. Mr. Henry D. Purroy has grown to his present influential position, as County Clerk, in so unobtrusive and modest a way that there are few who realize that he was in politics nearly twenty years ago. But so it is; he was a member of the Board of Aldermen in 1875 when Wm. H. Wickham was Mayor and when the city was trying to recover from the effects of the dominion of Tweed and his ring. He has been connected with the city and county administrations pretty nearly all the time since then and is consequently about as well versed in the history of the city and its needs as any man. He is the leader of the Tammany Democracy in the Annexed District, but has an independent way of expressing himself which would not be tolerated in a mere vassal.

A RECORD AND GUIDE reporter asked Mr. Purroy what he thought of the question of city construction of a rapid transit railroad. "Wait a minute and I'll tell you," he said. He sent out for a volume from the records of the Board of Aldermen in 1875, and when he had received it, said: "As a member of the Common Council in 1875 I was one of a special committee of five on rapid transit. I remember that there were two reports made by the committee, a majority report, which does not now concern us, and a minority report. It is a long time since I have referred to it and its details have gone from my memory. Ah, here it is—the majority report was made by Aldermen O. P. C. Billings, Henry E. Howland and Wm. L. Cole; the minority report is signed by myself and E. J. Shandley. Now let me read it over and see how well or how ill it would fit the present situation. Mr. Purroy then read the report in question, which was, in substance, as follows:

"'Recognizing the great importance of the subject committed to its charge, the Committee held numerous public sessions, which were attended by many prominent citizens, the exposition of whose views clearly demonstrate that they had given to the question of rapid transit long and careful study. The same diversity of opinion as to the mode of obtaining the desired result was exemplified before the Committee as has been shown in the various acts already introduced in the Legislature. But from the weight of argument produced before us, and from our individual judgments, based upon such arguments, as well as from what we believe to be the conviction of a majority of the people of this City, the undersigned have come to the conclusion that the best and only plan to secure the speedy attainment of rapid transit in this City is the construction of an East and West Side double track road, with intersecting lines of communication, to be built, owned and operated as a public work.

"'In our opinion, what this City needs is not merely rapid transit: it must be cheap as well as rapid—so that the poorer classes of this community, which we believe to be more deeply interested than any other in this matter, may be able to take advantage of the benefits of the road. It was the expressed opinion of many (we think of a majority) of those who appeared before your Committee, that this need could be supplied only by the City building the road; because, in that case, the rates of fare would be regulated, not by the insatiable greed of private capital, but by the cost and expense of the road, making, of course, allowance for a fair remuneration to the City Treasury.

"'In these opinions the undersigned fully and heartily concur.

"'But what has had most weight in bringing us to the conclusion above set forth, is that from all that we have heard and read, as members of this Committee, we are forced to the firm belief that cheap and rapid transit never will be accomplished unless it be as a City work. In support of this belief we point to the experience of the past, always the best guide for future action.

"'For more than twenty years the Legislature of this State has been earnestly entreated, session after session, to confer this boon, through private enterprise, upon our long-suffering people. Yet the sad fact is apparent that to-day we are as far as ever from the attainment of the end so much desired. Charters have been granted to private companies, each one of which, it was claimed by its supporters when presented, would surely cut this Gordian knot; but no sooner was it attempted to carry out the powers conferred therein than unforeseen obstacles arose on all sides, and dampers were thrown on the honest effort, such as to effectually extinguish the faint sparks of hope which had been temporarily enkindled in the breasts of our expectant people.

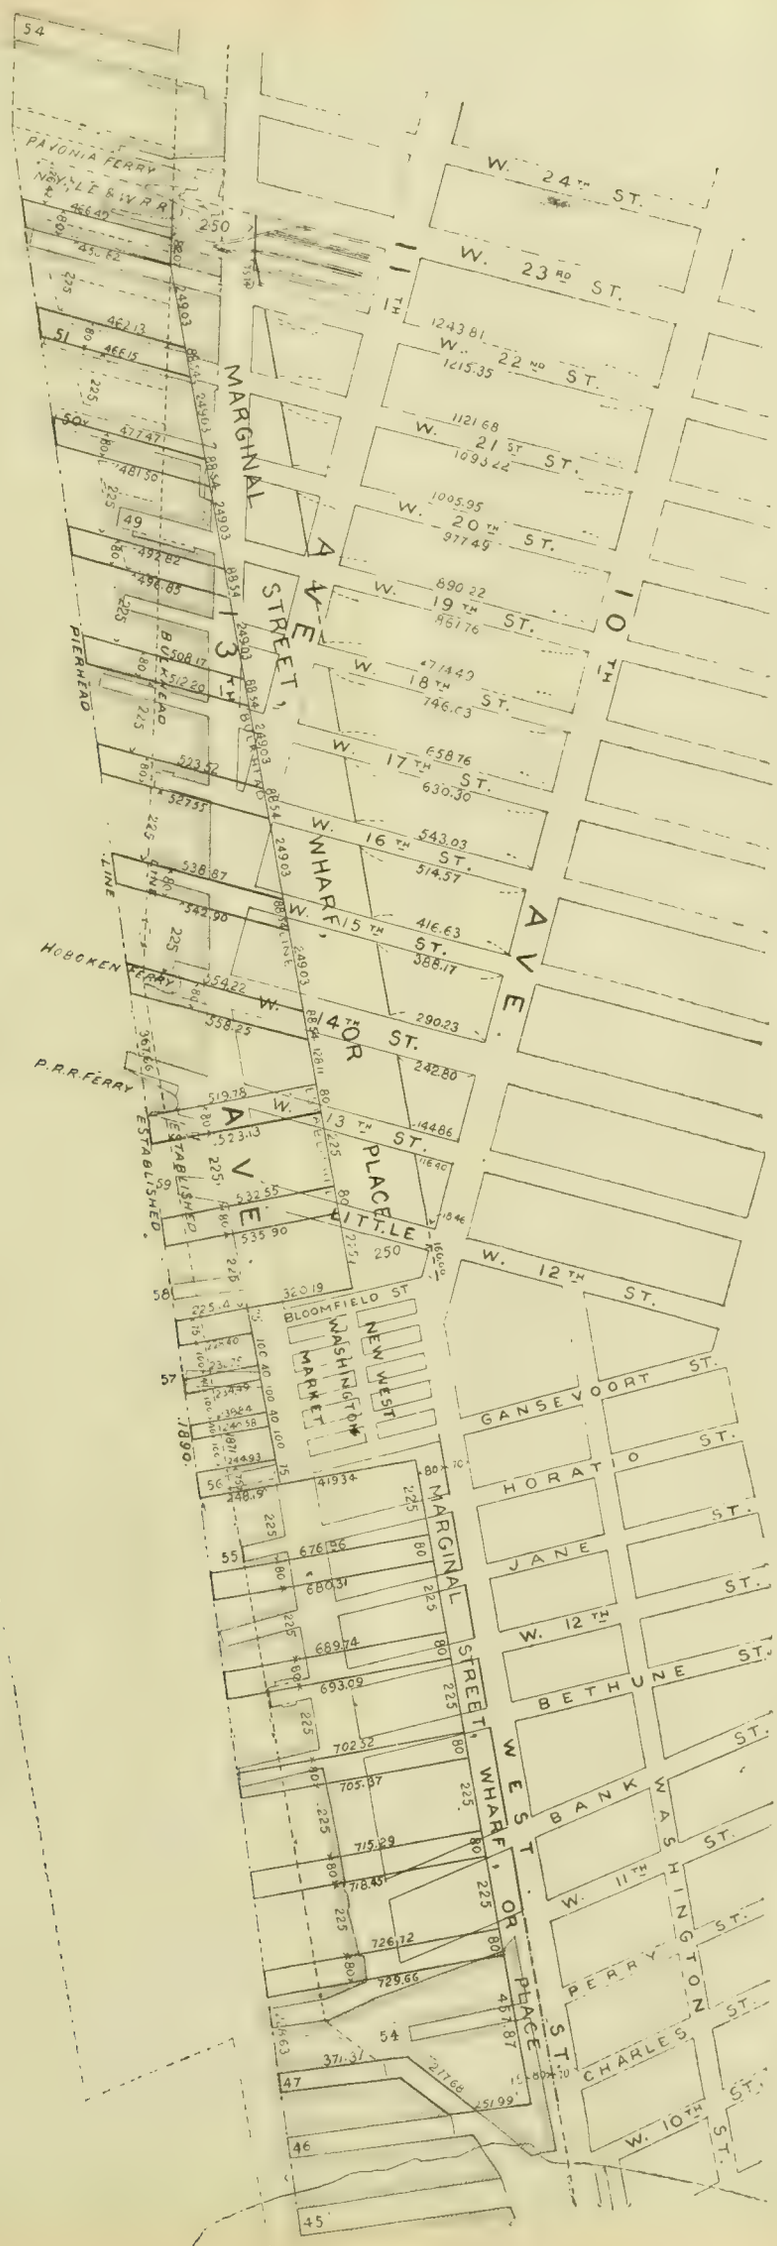
"'Not only was this the case, but in the opinion of the undersigned, charters for private companies have been sought for and obtained from the Legislature, the express purpose and result of which have been to prevent the accomplishment of what was pretended to be the very end and aim of such charters—rapid transit. While the Legislature has been thus sporting with the public interest of our city, it is a notorious fact that New York has suffered both in population and wealth an incalculable loss; while New Jersey, Long Island and Connecticut have gained at our expense, because, to reach points therein, distant more than fifty miles from the City Hall, has become easier, and, in a sense, cheaper, than to travel by our present means of transportation the short length of this city.

"'It has been stated that no charter has yet been granted under which private capital could hope to successfully build a road and remunerate itself. This may indeed be so; but the undersigned are at a loss to understand why there is any better reason for them to expect kinder treatment at the hands of the Legislature to-day (a vast majority of which reside far from New York City) than there was at any time during the last twenty years. We have been informed that on the Committee on Railroads of the present Senate there is not one member from our city. In short we have been forced to conclude that the only power which can successfully grapple with and overthrow the combined forces of the numerous wealthy corporations and individuals, who are a unit in opposition to the solution of this question, is the strong arm of our municipal government.

"'It has been argued that for the City to build the road it will be necessary to permanently increase our present heavy debt, and thus impose additional burthen upon an already oppressed people. To say nothing of the immeasurable benefits which would be sure to follow the outlay, we think that this argument must surely fall to the ground if it can be shown that the City, by engaging in this undertaking, will, instead of losing, be able, in a comparatively short period, not only to pay off all the cost of the road, but also to secure a large yearly revenue for the City Treasury. It has been heretofore a mooted question whether a rapid transit railroad would pay an adequate return upon the capital invested in its construction. A careful and exhaustive examination of this question has recently been made by the American Society of Civil Engineers, who, in their report of February 3, 1875, append a tabulated statement of the profits to be derived from rapid transit, calculated upon the basis of the business done by the present horse-car companies of this city. We beg leave to refer to that statement, beginning at page sixty-five of said report. We consider that it is there clearly demonstrated that rapid transit in this city would, after covering the original cost of the road, pay a handsome return upon the capital invested therein. * * * We have failed to learn why, if private capital can undertake this work and repay itself, the City is not much better situated for the accomplishment of the same result; on the contrary, we believe that the City enjoys very great advantages over private capital.

"'The statement has been also made (and this seems to be the great objection to the city undertaking this work) that it would be unsafe to intrust the expenditure of the necessary funds to the hands of any political body. While no doubt the public mind has not as yet recovered from the shock received from the disclosure of the Ring frauds, yet upon sober reflection it will be seen that these were in a great measure the result of circumstances never likely to occur again, as well as of the looseness of the then existing laws, and the lack of interest taken by the public in the management of the city's affairs.

"'Since then stringent laws have been enacted, under which every facility is afforded for the investigation of public affairs and public officials, and severe penalties prescribed for frauds upon the public treasury.'"



When he finished reading the report, as above printed, Mr. Purroy said: "I indorse every word of that report now. Take it, print it as my answer to your question. It is just as applicable to the present situation as it was to that of 1875. True, there were no elevated railroads in 1875, and the report was not favorably received. Since then the elevated railroads have been built, but have they solved the problem of rapid transit for this city—cheap, rapid—transit? If they have, why all this pressure for rapid transit now? Why is our present position so much like what it was in 1875? The truth is, as every reasonable man will admit, that the city failed to do the thing it should have done in 1875, but satisfied itself with what has proven an expedient, sufficient only for the time being. Now that is outgrown and the old problem presents itself: What are we to do to obtain rapid transit for our city? My answer is the same to-day that it was in 1875: The city must build and own the road. I do not mean to belittle the work of the elevated railroads; they have really performed a great service in the building-up of our city. But they are outgrown, and, I think the public will say, insufficient.

"Now suppose, however, that the city had built these roads instead of giving to a private corporation the monopoly of our main thoroughfares for them. See where the city would have been with them to-day! The control of the streets would still be in the hands of the city, to extend and develop the elevated railroad system or to replace it with something better. But while it existed the income of the road would go to the people, who have supported and paid for it, either in reduction of taxation, or in betterment and extensions that would make it more useful, or in reduction of fares, and then the road would be run to accommodate the public, and not merely to carry the passengers at the lowest possible expense. The system is clearly out of date. What this city wants is a viaduct or an underground system, with solid roadbed, upon which fast trains can be run, and which can be extended in every direction to meet the requirements of our growing population—and the city wants such a system of rapid transit more than it wants any other public work or improvement at this time. Not a dollar should be spent on any new undertaking, in my estimation, until the rapid transit question is fully settled by the construction of a sufficient road by the city as a public work."

North River Water Front Improvement.

THE PLANS OF THE DOCK DEPARTMENT DESCRIBED AND ILLUSTRATED.

The plan of the Dock Board for the improvement of the North River water front, from Pier 46, near the foot of Charles street, to the foot of West 23d street, is illustrated in the accompanying diagram. It will be observed that West street, from Charles to Gansevoort street, is to be widened from 80 feet, its present width, to 150 feet, and above West Washington Market is to be laid out through private property and across intervening streets, 250 feet wide to the junction with West 23d street. West Washington Market is not disturbed, but 13th avenue is completely wiped out. The plan for the new piers and bulkheads is magnificent, and would doubtless attract a larger commerce to this section and add very greatly to the value of the adjacent property. At present the appearance of the water front along this section is not creditable to the city, and although the local and domestic trade that now makes use of the piers and bulkheads is desirable and ought to be encouraged, it is not sufficient to outbalance the benefits that would ensue from such an improvement. But besides this, Commissioner J. Sergeant Cram declares that there will be no deprivation of pier and bulkhead facilities to those now using the piers and bulkheads, but rather an increase of them, until such time as the growing foreign commerce shall crowd the smaller boats and shippers farther north.

When this matter was before the Sinking Fund Commission on Friday of last week Comptroller Myers opposed the immediate confirmation of the plan because he felt that before launching upon so large an expenditure as it would entail there should be a more widespread public understanding of what was intended to be done. He asked to have the matter laid over for a week, but Mayor Gilroy forced a vote. The Comptroller alone voted "no," and his negative was held by the Mayor, as chairman of the board, to have defeated the plan. After the meeting, however, he made a more thorough investigation of the law regarding the necessity of the Comptroller's approval to pass such a measure and concluded that the Comptroller's negative did not defeat the motion—but, in order to proceed regularly, he referred the question to the Corporation Counsel for his opinion. The general opinion is that Mr. Clark's decision will uphold the Mayor's construction of the law, and that the plan will be deemed to have been approved. Comptroller Myers' opposition to the improvement is, he says, based upon the general objection to undertaking any more large schemes involving large additions to the bonded debt, until the city shall have provided amply for rapid transit. That, he said, was in his estimation more urgently needed than dock improvements, or new bridges, or speedways. He estimated the probable cost of the 450 lots that will have to be taken to carry out the plans of the Dock Board at $6,000 each—making a total of $2,700,000 for the land alone; but Engineer McLean thought $10,000 a lot would be nearer what the city would have to pay. Whatever it is, Commissioner Cram said it must be paid out of the $3,000,000 a year which the Dock Board is authorized by law to spend on the improvement of the city's water front.

Special Assessments.

Special assessments are levied in the City of New York for all public work connected with the opening and improvement of streets, except the laying of water mains and the erection of gas lamps. The acquisition of property for the opening of new streets and avenues and the widening and extension of existing streets and avenues and the opening of new parks are governed by a form of procedure different from that which regulates the physical work of street construction and improvement.

All proceedings to acquire property for this class of improvements, which generally have their end in an assessment covering a more or less extended area of property supposed to be benefited, have their origin in the Board of Street Openings and Improvements. Owners of property sometimes make request of the board to open streets or avenues, or widen and extend them, or to open new parks, but often the initiative is in the board. A resolution is offered by some member and it is referred to the Commissioner of Public Works, or the Park Board, or the Commissioner of Street Improvements for the 23d and 24th Wards, whichever seems the most appropriate for a report upon the area and approximate value of the property to be taken.

This is made in course of time and generally accompanied by a drawing. Then the board considers whether to order the work to be undertaken or not. If it be a specially important matter a formal notice is sometimes published of the fact that the board will consider it at some specified date, but generally the public or the parties in interest are confined to the desultory reports in the news columns of the daily papers for all of this class of information. If the board decides to undertake the work a resolution is adopted, calling upon the Corporation Counsel to take the necessary steps to obtain title of the property in the name of "the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New York," of the property specified.

This means that the Corporation Counsel is ordered to begin an action to condemn the property under the right of eminent domain. He has a search of the title made, and having secured the names of all the persons interested in the property, either as owners, mortgagees, lienors, lessees and tenants, or otherwise, he serves upon them copies of a complaint and notice that on a day specified he will apply to the Court for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment, to estimate the value of the property, and define the limits of the benefited area, and distribute over the same an assessment to cover the cost of the property and the condemnation proceedings. This appointment is generally unopposed. The Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment, once appointed, begin to take testimony of owners and experts as to the value of the property. The interests of the municipality are guarded by a representative of the Corporation Counsel's office, and those of the property-owners by the counsel they themselves retain.

The Commissioners come to a conclusion as to the value of the property, a liberal sentiment towards the owner generally prevailing, and this constitutes one part of their work. Having found the value of the property to be taken, they proceed to determine the boundaries of the area benefited by the proposed improvement and, having reached a decision on this point, they proceed to lay an assessment for the sum necessary to pay for the property and the costs of the condemnation proceeding, and to distribute it over the benefited area. This latter is a clerical and mathematical task, in which there is much opportunity for mistakes, and needs to be very carefully made and examined. Once it is finished, the Commission is ready to make its report to the court by which it was appointed. But first, a preliminary or provisional report is made and filed with the department of the city government which will ultimately be charged with the construction work and care of the property. The provisional report remains thus on file for a period of six weeks, generally, during which it is open for the inspection of interested parties.

During this period also anybody interested who feels himself aggrieved is privileged to file with the Commission his objections to the report. If any such objections are filed the Commission sets a time for the taking of testimony and the hearing of arguments upon them, and then it considers whether its provisional report shall stand or no. Sometimes it is amended by increasing an award, or increasing or reducing the area of assessment, or redistributing the assessment; but generally the provisional report remains unaltered and is presented to the court as its final report. A day is set, of which notice is given, when the Corporation Counsel will apply to the court for a confirmation of this final report. Occasionally there will be a hot contest made at this point by the aggrieved property-owners, but usually the case goes smoothly through, the report is confirmed and the awards are paid and the assessment collected.

After this comes the physical work of construction. If it is a street or avenue opening, or improvement on Manhattan Island, it is done under the supervision of the Department of Public Works; if it is a similar work in the 23d or 24th Ward, it is performed under the supervision of the Commissioner of Street Improvements of that district. Whoever it is, he sends a statement of the work needed to be done to the Board of Aldermen, which orders it to be done. Then the work is done, usually by contract, and is paid for by the Comptroller out of the proceeds of revenue bonds.

After it has been completed an assessment list is made out and sent to the Board of Assessors, with a diagram map of a suggested area of assessment. The Board of Assessors may enlarge this area or diminish it, if there is good reason for so doing, but generally the areas of assessment are pretty clearly established by statutory regulations, and there is little or no room for difference of opinion. The Board of Assessors obtains from the Comptroller an interest voucher, showing how much interest has accumulated upon the disbursements on the work up to the present time, and that is added to the assessment. When the assessment list is thus completed it is advertised for a month or so, during which time interested persons may inspect it, and if they feel aggrieved may file objections to it. If there are objections, as not infrequently occurs, they are referred, with the lists, to the Board of Revision and Correction of Assessments, which considers the whole matter and either confirms the assessment or sends it back to the Board of Assessors for amendment and a new report. Finally, however, it is confirmed and sent to the Comptroller, who enters it, and thereupon it becomes payable to the Collector of Assessments and Clerk of Arrears. Sometimes there are special proceedings conducted under special laws, but even then the practice will not vary greatly from the foregoing description of the origin and growth of assessments in this city.

NEWS OF THE BUILDING TRADES.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING ARCHITECTURAL PLANS.

Comptroller Theo. W. Myers has had the 128 plans submitted in the architectural competition for the new municipal building mounted on display racks in two large rooms in the Stewart Building, where they will receive inspection very soon by the non-competing Committee of Architects who have been appointed to select the six best plans. Mr. Myers said he was ready for these gentlemen now at any time and as soon as the Mayor returned from Saratoga he would consult with him about calling the Commission together at an early day. As soon as the six have been selected the envelopes will be opened and the names of the architects of all the plans will be ascertained. Then the Comptroller proposes to address a letter to each of them asking the privilege of placing the plans on public exhibition.

Mr. Myers was asked what his own impressions were of the collection. "Oh, they are simply beautiful. You ought to see them." The reporter expressed his perfect willingness, but then the Comptroller said: "Well, not yet; you know they are not to be seen by anybody until the selections have been made and not then unless their respective authors consent. But I have no doubt they will.

"The task of the Committee of Architects will not be an easy one. There seems to me to be none among the plans that is not worthy of the great undertaking, and while the critical and professional inspection by the Committee of Architects will probably result in a more easy choice than a layman could make, I believe they will find themselves embarrassed rather by the large number of worthy designs than otherwise. All the artists seem to have considered the scheme just as if the County Court House was not on the ground, and as if its site was ultimately to be incorporated in the building. There is, therefore, no reason why the Court House should be removed until the work of construction of the new building is completed. It will serve very well its present purposes for many years, and it will be time enough to consider the question of removing it when the municipal building shall be ready for occupancy. It has been no obstacle whatever, as far as I can judge from the plans, to the successful and highly artistic working out of the architectural problem of the new building. We are sure to have a building which will be an ornament and a credit to the city."

County Clerk Purroy had not yet seen the plans when THE RECORD AND GUIDE reporter called upon him, but he was quite as firm in the conviction expressed by him from the beginning, that the competition should not be proceeded with until the entire ground plan should have been amended by removing every building from the park, the County Court House included."

"It would be better now for the city to pay all the architects reasonable fees for their trouble and begin de novo, with the entire park cleared of buildings, than to proceed under the present conditions. But I have no idea that this will be done. The only hope for the city lies with the Committee of Architects. If they should report, what must be their professional judgment, that architectural justice could not be—had not been done to the site because of the existence of the County Court House, as an obstacle, then the Commission might be able to see its duty more clearly. The suggestion, understood to come from one of the competitors, that after the successful plan has been selected, the architect might, on consultation with the Commission, change his plans so as to complete the Chambers street front over the site of the Court House, is to my mind a more difficult way out of the trouble and would be unjust to the other competitors. They could say, and with much justice, that the building ultimately accepted was different in essential particulars from that which they had been called upon to present plans for." Mr. Purroy has not given up the contest for a clear park in which to construct the building.

Trade Notes.

ART IN SHOW WINDOWS.

There is nothing more valuable to a merchant in the retail trade than an artistic and well-arranged store front, one that will catch the attention of the passer by and hold it. Acting upon this idea Messrs. Ball & Co., of No. 25 East 42d street, who make it a point to keep abreast with the times, although their store was conceded to present one of the most inviting appearances, have made extensive changes in its front. The large plate glass window they have put out in greater prominence, forming a shallow bay, which is surmounted with a half dome or crown of amber tinted glass. Full length plate glass reflectors in the sides of the show window are designed to repeat the window display and give it the artistic quality of repetition. Added to this are rows of colored electric lights of colors selected to harmonize with the display. Another feature which this firm have been the first to bring into prominence is decorative gilding on glass. While names have been used in all sorts of lettering and arrangement, it remained for this firm to bring out the decorative features which are contained in ornamental designs in gold on glass. This feature, which is exceedingly attractive, will be continued on the doors. If the merchandise display in the show window does not draw the shopper's attention a window of the sort Ball & Co. are putting in their own store will be sure to do so. Ball & Co. say they have made arrangements for carrying to a greater extent the decorative features of interior remodeling and reconstruction, and to this end have engaged the services of a well known Boston decorative architect, who will act in association with the architect of the building in designing the mural decorations of houses, offices and stores.

A GOOD SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE.

The Institute for Artist-Artisans, No. 140 West 23d street, under the able superintendence of Prof. John Ward Stimson, began its fifth year last Monday. The Institute has among its many departments a Department of Architecture, which is conducted by Mr. H. S. Barnes. The lecture days in this department are Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 11 till 2, and Monday and Friday evenings, from 7.30 to 9. The Institute has achieved a very high reputation for its methods, and has brought forth fruits of which many a more pretentious educational institution might well feel proud. The spirit of its superintendent and founder is thoroughly democratic and patriotic and his effort has always been to inculcate in his students a strong national feeling for their art. His enthusiasm and personal interest in his students have been among the most valuable features of the school. The whole body of his students, now numbering over 500 are full of heartfelt commendation of his work. Many of the graduates occupy responsible and remunerative positions in the leading art industries of the country and others who have gone into business for themselves have taken first rank in their lines.

ENCOURAGING.

In these days of almost universal complaint of business depression, it is encouraging to hear that there is one branch of the building trades that has been as active and prosperous as ever. Ball & Co., of 25 West 42d street, say they have been particularly fortunate with their contracts, having in fact been busier than for a long time before. They have had a large force of men at work in the South and have now men at Newport, where they will be engaged for weeks yet, and besides have had several prominent town houses to decorate, two among the finest of which were those of ex-Judge Sidney Dillon, on Madison avenue, and Mr. Sturges on 5th avenue.

Out Among the Builders.

G. F. Pelham is the architect for a six-story and basement warehouse, 37.6x80, which Saml. Weil will build at Nos. 474 and 476 Greenwich street. Buff brick and stone trim and iron will be used in the front. The same architect has plans on the boards for two five-story and basement apartment houses to be built for M. Edwd. Duffy on 67th street, south side, 250 feet east of Amsterdam avenue. They are to be 26x87 each, will have brick fronts with stone trim, and will have all the improvements.

Fred'k Wandelt is the architect of a ten-story fire-proof office building which is to be built at once, at No. 52 West 19th street, for Mr. B Schaeffel. The building will be 25 feet front by 93 deep, and will be equipped with elevators, electric lights, steam heat, exposed sanitary plumbing and all the modern improvements.

John Stafford is about to build a six-story flat house, 25.10 feet front by 64 deep, at No. 45 8th avenue, from drawings prepared by Architect Fred'k Wandelt, of 52 West 19th street. The first story will be finished as a store for the occupancy of the owner. The building will be furnished with all the improvements, including steam heating, electric lighting and sanitary plumbing.

Jacobs Brothers, it is said, will build a seven-story brick piano factory, 75x85, on the south side of 39th street, between 10th and 11th avenues.

Out of Town.

GREENWICH, CONN.—Dehli & Chamberlin, of New York, have plans in preparation for a Colonial house to be built here for Linzee Prescott, at a cost of about $8,000. It is to be of two stories and attic, with stone cellar, and will have all the improvements.

GUTTENBERG, N. J.—Dehli & Chamberlin, of New York, have been appointed architects for the Woodcliff Land Improvement Company, which is developing a fine tract of Palisades property in the northern part of this village. Some extensive improvements have already been made and more are contemplated.

REAL ESTATE MARKET.

The activity that continues to characterize the real estate market is the best possible testimony to the stability of values and the well-founded confidence investors have placed in this species of property. The transactions of the week show several suggestive deals in investment property besides a large number of sales of dwellings. The Astor purchase in Elm street will be likely to direct the attention of others to property along that street, the approaching improvement of which will raise it to rank among the best of down-town thoroughfares. If rumors counted for anything the market would show even a greater activity, but unfortunately several prominent "stories" that have gained circulation, when run down have been found to have authority only in reportorial imagination. In building there are indications also of renewed activity.

The rumor that the sale of the St. Luke's Hospital property on 5th avenue, 54th and 55th streets, had fallen through, or would not be consummated, is emphatically denied by Mr. Chas. E. Schuyler, the broker who made the sale. The identity of the buyer or buyers has never been disclosed by Mr. Seymour, but he asserts positively that the deal will go through, all the payments stipulated having been promptly met, and none more being required for a long time to come. A plan of the property is being prepared by Architect George Palliser, by which the plot is subdivided into five blocks. Two 18-foot courts or lanes cross the property from 54th to 55th street, on 125 feet from 5th avenue, and the other near the existing administration building; and a 10 foot court divides the 5th avenue front in the middle. From the junction of this 10-foot court with the 18 foot lane, a 40-foot street divides the two street fronts. At the easterly end of this street there is a circle, with a fountain and electric light in the plan, and in the middle section of the street it widens on both sides so as to admit of an elleptical fountain with ornamental electric lights at both ends. The plan is to give the street lots double fronts, their main fronts being on the interior street, and their rear elevations on the main street. It is also a part of the plan to sub-divide only so as to insure detached houses, having light and air from all sides.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE MEETING.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange, on Tuesday, certain economies recommended by the Auction Room committee, amounting to about $4,000, were sanctioned by the Board.

The treasurer's account showed a cash balance on hand amounting to $12,481.59.

The appointment of a nomination committee was referred to the President with power to act.

A letter from the Chicago Real Estate Board was read, requesting the Exchange to nominate fifty representative real estate men to attend the Real Estate Congress was read and referred to the President with power.

The taxes of the Exchange, amounting to $6,998.55, were paid on Monday.

President Geo. R. Read has appointed as the Committee on Nominations Messrs. Horace S. Ely, Hall J. Howland H. H. Cammann.

THE RIVERSIDE PARK WATER FRONT IMPROVEMENT.

A notable representative body of real estate owners and operators presented themselves at the Mayor's Office last Friday in opposition to the scheme of improvement of the Riverside Park water front proposed by the Dock Board. President Cyrus Clark, of the West End Association, had considered it a fit occasion for calling the committee of the whole to the support of the plan recommended by Comptroller Myers, for transferring the property to the Park Department for incorporation and improvement with Riverside Park. As a consequence the Mayor's Office was fairly filled with representative property-owners. Among them were Cyrus Clark, Frank R. Houghton, J. V. D. Card, Col J. Hamilton Hunt, James A. Deering, S. B. Bayne, John Brower, Thomas Thorley, T. D. Ormiston, P. Callaghan, School Commissioner Robt. B. Maclay, L. J. Callanan, John Bryan and J. C. Coleman. When Dock Commissioner Phelan saw the opposition which the plan was likely to encounter he gracefully withdrew the proposition, intimating that it was the desire of the board to work in harmony with and not contrary to the real interests of the property-owners. The board had acquired title to the property for the city in pursuance of the expressed wishes of the property owners, and to prevent its use by adverse interests. The matter was referred to Comptroller Myers, who had a conference with President Clark and some other members of the association later in the day, in which he advised them regarding the proper steps to be taken to have the title to the property vested in the municipality for park purposes.

THE CITY'S REAL ESTATE WEALTH.

In an article on "The Wealth of New York," in the North American Review, Mayor Gilroy presents a tabulated statement of the real estate owned by the city, with estimates of its present value compared with an appraisement made of the city's possessions in 1871 by Anthony J. Bleecker, Courtlandt Palmer and Adrian H. Muller. In the meantime the lands owned by the municipality have not only increased in value but they have been considerably added to by purchases. The table is as follows:

Property owned by the City.	Estimates by the Commission.	Estimate by Mr. Gilroy.
Central Park	$110,000,000	$20,000,000
Other parks and places	33,000,000	50,000,000
Public markets	5,000,000	20,000,000
City lots not in public use	4,000,000	8,000,000
Water lots	1,500,000	3,000,000
Docks and piers	5,000,000	3,000,000
Croton Aqueduct	100,000,000	200,000,000
Fire Department	3,500,000	5,000,000
Police Stations	1,500,000	5,000,000
Courts, prisons, islands	7,500,000	20,000,000
School system	6,000,000	15,000,000
Armories	—	3,000,000
Totals	$377,000,000	$759,000,000

Central Park he figures as containing 11,000 building lots worth $20,000 each, as against $10,000 in 1871. The parks in 1871 numbered twenty, against fifty now. More than $12,000,000 has been paid for new parks, and more than $30,000,000 has been expended for constructing the new aqueduct. The aqueduct has three times the capacity of the old one, but its value is estimated as only twice as great as that of the old one.

West Washington Market has been added to the list of markets since 1871. The number of docks and piers has been increased from seventy in 1871 to 142. The estimates of the Fire Department in each instance, the Mayor explains, were made exclusively of machinery and appliances. The large increase in the estimate of the value of courts, prisons and islands, he thinks, is fair, owing to the addition since 1871 of the new Criminal Court Building, which cost $1,500,000; the Jefferson Market and Harlem court buildings and of Ward's and Riker's islands and the city's establishment on Riker's Island. The Mayor excludes the city's bridge property, which with New York's share in the Brooklyn Bridge and the new Washington Bridge he sets down at $40,000,000, as well as "uncounted millions of wealth invested in assets not properly convertible into cash."

According to the Mayor's estimate the city owns about $5.60 worth of real estate for every dollar of its actual bonded debt.

A BLOW AT FALSE AND NOMINAL CONSIDERATIONS.

There has been some lively, practical thinking among the real estate men of this city recently, and as a result there will be an attempt at the forthcoming meeting of the Legislature to enact an important amendment of the real estate law. It has been prompted by a desire to overcome the evil of false and nominal considerations in deeds of conveyance. The bill will be formulated and supported by the Real Estate Auctioneers' Association, of No. 111 Broadway.

President Peter F. Meyer said, with reference to the bill, that it was designed to correct an evil that was working constant injury to the real estate market and especially to the operators and brokers who were doing business on honor. It had become so common and widespread an evil that the quotations gleaned from the records of transfers no longer always afford a reliable basis of values. Of the persons who made habitual practice of misrepresenting the prices at which they bought and sold property Mr. Meyer said he would say nothing. "It is not necessary," he said. "Everybody interested in this reform knows all about the practice and the motives which inspire it. It is certainly not for the purpose of promoting frank and truthful dealing that it is done, nor has it a semblance even of honesty. There is no decent excuse that can be made for it."

The bill will provide that there must be attached to every deed of real estate an affidavit to be made by the purchaser, and which shall declare that the consideration named in the deed is the consideration actually given for the property. The bill has been considered by the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments and has received their approval, as tending to simplify their work in assessing property for taxation purposes, and as enabling them to effect an equitable and impartial assessment. It is believed that it will receive their support.

THE BROKERS' AND OWNERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of real estate men interested in the formation of a Brokers' and Owners' Protective Association was held on Wednesday evening at Nos. 123 and 125 West 125th street. The objects of the proposed association were fully set forth in last week's RECORD AND GUIDE. The meeting of Wednesday night was informally called, and for the purpose of ascertaining whether there was a sufficiently strong and agreed sentiment in favor of so organizing. About fifteen brokers, builders and operators were present and all of one mind about the desirability of so uniting. Among them were Wilson H. Blackwell, Joseph Bierhoff, Messrs. Wood & Miller, Messrs. Wilcox & Shelton, A. Ward Benedict, J. E. Briggs, James McGirr, Louis Stern, Messrs. Mainhart & Lowe, Jas. Cochrane, Mr. Shaw, Fred A. Phillips, Mr. Shannon and Mr. Runk.

Mr. Wood called the meeting to order and announced its purpose and nominated Mr. Lowe, of Mainhart & Lowe, for chairman and he was elected. Mr. Lowe set forth in a short address the evils which the association was intended to combat and the suggested form of the association, and invited others to counsel upon the steps most desirable to be taken. Mr. Wood thought that the organization ought to have an abiding place, keep records and have a managing clerk. He thought also that it ought to be held in the minds of the members as a nucleus of a social organization which should endeavor to unite the real estate men in bonds of fraternal fellowship.

Mr. Bierhoff felt that any effort to accentuate the social or club feature would be premature, if not absolutely inimical to the success of the scheme. The positive evils which it was desired to overcome were big enough game for their first forays.

A committee on organization was moved by Wilson H. Blackwell and it was so ordered. The chairman appointed Messrs. Blackwell, Shelton, Shaw, E. D. Farrell and McGirr, three brokers, an owner and a builder, on the committee. Another committee, to be known as the Advisory Committee, which will have as its duty to invite other owners, brokers and builders to join in the organization, was appointed Messrs. Benedict, Wood, Wilcox, Briggs, Stern, Shannon, Cochrane, Bierhoff, Runk and Mainbart compose this committee. The next meeting will be on Wednesday evening, October 18, when a plan of organization will be reported and acted upon and officers will be elected.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell at the Real Estate Exchange Auction Room, 59 to 65 Liberty street, on Tuesday next, October 10, the three-story and basement brick dwelling, No. 127 Bank street.

CONTINUATION SALE OF VAN NEST LOTS.

On Saturday, October 14, at noon, James L. Wells will hold on the grounds, at Van Nest, Westchester County, a continuation sale of 173 cheap lots on graded streets. The property is in a rapidly growing section, is easily accessible by steam and electric roads from Harlem Bridge, and the titles are guaranteed free of cost. The sale is by order of the Supreme Court to close the estate of Lott G. Hunt, deceased. Maps and further particulars may be had of Mr. Wells at his office, No. 59 Liberty street.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

The large four-story brick dwelling, No. 389 5th avenue, northeast corner of 36th street, has been sold by Pierre Lorillard to Charles E. Runk, of Fr. Beck & Co., for something less than $350,000. The plot has a frontage of 38.9 feet on 5th avenue, 147 feet on 36th street, x98.9 on east line, x thence west 47 x south 32 x east 25 x south 28 x west 125 feet, containing 7,816 square feet. In the absence of James J. Coogan from town, inquiry at his office resulted only in a statement that there had "been some talk about it." President Chauncey M. Depew was also out of town, but Col. Out of Town.

HACKENSACK MEADOWS, N. J.—Notwithstanding the contradiction from Chicago, the story is reiterated that the Pike estate tract of about 3,800 acres of meadow lands lying just south and west of the Bergen tunnel, along the Hackensack River, between Jersey City and Newark, has been sold to P. D. Armour, the Chicago pork packer, for a price variously quoted at $2,250,000 and $3,000,000. It is said that Mr. Armour intends to establish his packing houses on this site and will build up a company town similar to Pullman, Ill. John D. Goin, said to be a representative of the Pike estate, is quoted by the Mail and Express as follows: "This property has been sold; the price given for the property was not $2,500,000, but $3,000,000; it was not sold through a broker, but by myself. I get 10 per cent for selling this property." Mr. Goin would neither deny nor confirm the report that the purchaser was Mr. P. D. Armour, but said it was a very wealthy man who had bought the property. The title will not be passed for a month to six weeks and at the end of that time the purchaser's name will be given.
